Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Before my identification with Santa Ana as a citizen, Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock was preaching the inexhaustible riches of the scriptures to the membership of the First Congregational church. He has recently completed 23 years of continuous service with that organization; almost a quarter of a century in the distribution of pearls of great price, words of wisdom and encouragement, soothing the sorrowful and radiating hope and joy. Ministers are the ambassadors of good news. The anchor of faith is essential to our security, and its safest exponents are in the pulpit. It becomes stronger with the length of pastorate. I recall a church which, over a period of a quarter of a century, had pastors so often that the clerk's roster looked like a city directory. Felicitations, Perry, and it isn't necessary for me to tell you that the victory is at the end of the Road.

And then the fern friend, auburn this time, divides the authority with the traffic signals 60-50 and gets away with it. May be it was because she was inside of a swell Scotch jacket. Anyway, it was a close call.

Charley Neer has a sidecar which acts as a footrest, believe it or not. It's a new car-marking system. Charley is taken for a ride. Along the way he marks the cars. If the offending vehicle is there when the officer returns, the next place you will find the owner is in John Mitchell's court. It's a quick system of getting you the bad news.

After spending a lifetime in a newspaper office, "Ted" Tedford, mechanical superintendent for The Journal, gets his fingers "chewed" up in a proof press. And believe it or not, it ain't funny, McGee. "Ted" is not only personally cautious, but watchful for the safety of others. However, to all of us come those moments when we are caught off guard. It's an ugly wound the foreman will carry around for a long time.

It's calendar time. Bob Bland of the Union Pacific brought the near-demise of 1937 to my attention by posting a 1938 monthly time-table over my desk. It's a streamline production. However, I am sure the time will not better that of 1937.

Most of the people I met Thursday morning were looking for the fellow who detoured the rain. One came right up to our door and then moved away again. And in the face of favorable prophecies by the weather man, Rancher tells me not to give up. That he just finished irrigating his grove, and that is a sure sign rain follows. If it doesn't, I'll ask him to wash his car.

What is it? The flu, habit or amnesia? Every day I get two interrogations. Where did I leave my car? As if I should know. Yesterday two feds, and today a professional man. I offered the services of the classified column, but ventured the information that the patrolman would beat us to it. Most of the people who "mislay" their cars find them for $2.

And the procession is forming on the right at the postoffice. Holiday packages, marked "do not open until Christmas," are being "farley-ed" to all parts of these United States, and will bring joy and happy memories of the occasion, and bind the ties closer between loved ones. However, I will be grateful, if mine arrives on the old schedule of "better late than never."

My attention has been called to the wire-photos showing "when winter comes" to the east and midwest. And then an old-timer will tell me how he pushed his feet through snowdrifts back in Missouri and Wisconsin or New England states, and liked it then but not now. A few years in the sunny southland sort of gives the adopted sons the winter cure.

Night spots in Orange county have become the hot spots. Two of them so much so they became combustible.

Anyway, the Christmas carols bring everybody the season's greetings. If you don't get anything else you get the spirit of the occasion. I don't know of a time

LAGUNAN IN HUDDLE WITH ATTORNEYS

Must Appear in Quiz Wednesday

Supervisor N. E. West was called on today to repeat his charges against public officials—this time before the grand jury. West was subpoenaed as the jury met in an extra session, and must appear next Wednesday when the inquisitors gather for their next regular meeting. The diminutive Laguna Beach supervisor, who raised a record furore in county politics when he threatened to hale four county officials before the grand jury if they failed to turn in fees in compliance with the controversial salary ordinance, was in Los Angeles today.

There, rumor had it, he was in a huddle, double-checking with his Los Angeles attorneys on the salary ordinance, some sections of which District Attorney W. F. Menton has held invalid.

West's employment of outside lawyers led directly to the courthouse ruckus, since on their opinions he based charges that officials were "conspiring" to beat down a "valid" law.

He had threatened to go before the grand jury, asking removal of Sheriff Logan Jackson, Public Administrator Earl Abbey, Recorder Fred Stibbitt and Treasurer T. E. Stephenson if they failed to turn in fees by Dec. 5.

NEW 'MISSING LINK' FOUND

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A new "missing link" between man and the higher apes has just been discovered on the Island of Java, the Carnegie Institution of Washington said today.

Dr. G. H. R. Von Koenigswald, Dutch scientist of Bandung, Java, and a research associate of the institution, reported he had found part of a skull, the lower jaw and a number of teeth of this part ape, part human creature near the Solo river.

This ancient man, he added, "is the most primitive fossil man now known" and lived long before the original pithecanthropus erectus.

The first of this species was found in Java in 1890 and was believed until now to have been the earliest man on earth.

Dr. John C. Merriam, president of the institution, said the discovery "is one of the most important finds in many decades."

Suicide Leap Cheats Hangman

BOISE, Idaho, (AP)—Douglas Van Vlack, borrowed death today to cheat the gallows. He died a suicide at 12:35 a. m. (MST), at about the time he would have been hanged, fatally injuring himself four hours before his date with the executioner.

Van Vlack had just kissed his mother, who came from Tacoma, Wash., to bid him farewell, when suddenly he scaled the side of a cell. His father already had left the cell block. The convict leaped from the top of the three he had taken two years ago.

Dr. H. G. Wahle, prison physician, said: "Death was caused by a broken neck, probably a fractured skull, internal hemorrhages and other injuries. He did not regain consciousness."

650 Persons Periled On President Hoover

MANILA, (Saturday) (AP)—The Dollar liner President Hoover, with about 450 persons aboard, was aground today on a small island south of Formosa, and the steamer Preussen was speeding to her side in response to wireless calls for aid. The Preussen was in sight of the Hoover, whose captain, George Yardley, asked how many passengers the Preussen could disembark.

The Hoover left Yokohama with about 650 passengers, and was believed to have about the same party aboard when she departed from Kobe, Japan, Tuesday. The vessel was due here today.

Later the RCA said the steamer—

COURT TEST FOR 'BOOKIES'

City ordinances banning "legal bookie" shops were to be tested this afternoon in superior court. Operators of a bet-forwarding agency in Fullerton were to go before Presiding Superior Judge H. C. Ames, asking an injunction against enforcement of a city ordinance there which bans such establishments. They attack the right of cities to legislate on horse-race betting, which they claim is solely a state privilege.

Spanish War Prisoners In Open Camps

BARCELONA, Spain, (AP)—The 25,000 to 30,000 prisoners of the Republican government of Spain must be treated as "human beings" under the code of Manuel de Irujo, minister of justice.

A Basque nationalist and devout Catholic, Irujo said in an interview that prisoners should aim at correction and not extermination.

Dealing with a prison population which has increased from a maximum of 10,000 persons before the war, Irujo said he insisted on modern sanitary equipment in prisons despite criticism from some persons who objected that prisoners were too well treated.

Prisoners are being evacuated from besieged Madrid, and many are being housed in open camps under normal, healthy conditions. Specialists are permitted to work outside the prison while others aid in constructing the Madrid-Tarazona railway.

LABOR HEAD CHARGES RED CONSPIRACY

Names 5000 in Damage Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Angered over his discharge as secretary-treasurer of the local longshoremen's union, Ivan Francis Cox struck back today with a $5,100,000 damage suit naming 5000 defendants, including several movie stars, labor leader and government officials he accused of Communist activity.

Cox asserted he was the victim of a plot by the defendants which deprived him of the right to earn his living and blackened his character.

He asked that the $5,000,000 awarded "the general fund of the state," with the $100,000 going to him for his asserted loss of livelihood.

Frederic March named among the thousands of defendants, was declared by Cox to be seeking through the motion picture industry to advance an asserted communist conspiracy to dominate the western United States.

Film personalities listed in the complaint as alleged communists were: Franchot Tone, Mary Astor, James Gagney, Lionel Stander and Jean Muir, players, and Wilhelm Dieterle, a director.

The suit attacked Harry Bridges, Pacific Coast director of the CIO, and John Shoemaker, Henry Schmidt and Peter Brown of the longshoremen's union and asserted they and other defendants conspired to cause "innumerable strikes and acts of violence, murder and sabotage."

Cox charged that Bridges and Schmidt as longshoremen's officials, and asserted as members and officers of the 13th district communist party, made malicious and false statements against him, making it appear he had stolen $774 in union funds.

Cox's complaint named Alice L. Rossiter, San Francisco National Labor Relations Board office head; Bertram Edises, attorney for the NLRB; Bernard E. Whitkin, secretary to California Supreme Court Justice William H. Langdon; Haakon M. Chevalier, University of California instructor in French, and others as government and education system leaders who had come under communist influence.

'Sex Martyrdom' Wright Defense

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Legal groundwork was laid today to inject the issue of "sex martyrdom" into Paul Wright's trial next month for the slaying of his wife and his best friend, John Kimmel. The former airport manager, accused of a double murder, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity when arraigned yesterday.

Regardless of the opinion of the three alienists appointed by the court to examine Wright before his trial starts Jan. 13, Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler indicated he may seek to show the possible effects of Wright's sterilization operation three years ago.

KIDS PLAY SANTA CLAUS! P-T. A. Journal Show Ready

Everything was set today for the big P-T. A. Journal Santa Claus party at the Broadway theater tomorrow. Arrangements were being completed by Manager George King to care for the record crowd of youngsters expected when the doors open at 9 a. m.

R. S. V. P., Sheriff

To Sheriff Logan Jackson:

(1) Why is it you are trying so hard to "shush down" public discussion of the county fee matter?

(2) Why is it you are so sensitive on the subject of fees collected by yourself?

(3) Is there any good reason why the whole fee situation shouldn't be opened to public scrutiny? After all, Mr. Sheriff, it is the public, you know, that pays the fees, some of which you and other officials pocket.

(4) You volunteered recently under some pressure, did you not, to tell the grand jury about your own fees? Did you tell? But why lay these facts before a secret body? Instead, why not tell all the taxpayers?

(5) Is it true, as has been reported, that, including your salary of $2892 AND the fees, you have been drawing down some $15,000 to $20,000 a year? If not this amount, how much?

(6) California pays its governor $10,000 a year for his services; our United States senators and congressmen draw $10,000, cabinet members $15,000. J. Edgar Hoover, who also is a pretty fair peace officer, works for $10,000; the supreme court associate justices $20,000, and the chief justice $20,500. That seems to put you right up tops in pretty fat company. Just on what process of reasoning should Orange county people pay their sheriff so much? Do you honestly believe you are worth it? That any man in that job would be worth it?

(7) Do you happen to know that practically all of California's other 57 counties have abolished the fee system? Can you imagine why? Are they all out of step? Or, have we here just been unfortunate to perpetuate an obsolete and much abused practice?

(8) The fee collection and pocketing may all be very legal; we'll presume it is. Nevertheless, Mr. Sheriff, be it legal or no, IS IT SOUND PUBLIC POLICY? Is it equitable? Is it sound? Is it sensible? If it isn't, why do you go on taking the fees? Why not turn them back to the public treasury even though technically you are entitled to keep them?

These questions are asked in the public interest. We hope you will answer them.

LANDON NOT TO RUN AGAIN RAILROAD AID ASKED BY FR

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas said today he would not be a candidate for the Republican nomination in 1940, and would not accept the nomination should it be offered to him. The 1936 nominee made the announcement to newspapermen upon arrival here for the Gridiron club, a newspaperman's organization, dinner.

Landon emphasized, however, that his statement did not mean he was withdrawing from politics. "I am taking this step so I can (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The interstate commerce commission overruled today a petition by the nation's railroads for an immediate 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt said today the interstate commerce commission should seek to preserve the solvency of the nation's railroads with a view to retaining them under private management and private ownership. Discussing the financial situation of the carriers at a press conference, the President said the quicker a final determination was reached on the roads' application for higher freight rates the better it would be all around.

He said he wanted to avoid government ownership but at the same time, he reminded railroad receiverships could not continue without some steps being taken to adjust their financial set-up.

Sex Crime Brings Jail Sentence

Eugene Fisher, Anaheim youth, went to jail for a year today on charges of a sex crime against a 14-year-old Anaheim girl.

LEADER OF DEATH GANG SURRENDERS

Paris Police Clear Up Dancer's Death

BULLETIN

PARIS, (AP)—Roger "Scarface" Million and Jean "The Little One" Le Blanc, sought by police as accomplices in a slaying-kidnaping gang which numbered among its victims Jean De Koven, Brooklyn dancer, surrendered to police today.

PARIS, (AP)—The asserted scarface chief of an abduction-death syndicate, whose "expert in murder" slew Jean De Koven, Brooklyn dancer, escaped a police net and was sought today by roving patrols along the highways of southeastern France. With him, police said, were his mistress and a third suspect. Judiciary police first had announced their capture, but later changed this to say the three had fled their hotel at Nantua last night.

The trio fled, police said, after a mysterious telephone call to their apartment. Leaving all their baggage behind, the three left Nantua in a blue automobile.

NAME FRENCHMAN Authorities identified the alleged leader of the band that sought to build up an efficient, profitable business on kidnapping and death as Roger Million, a Frenchman.

His mistress, police said, was a blonde Frenchwoman.

Authorities believed Million to be the man who employed Eugene Weidman, 29-year-old German ex-convict, was killer for the gang. Weidmann has confessed killing Miss De Koven and four men, one of them a member of the supposed syndicate in crime.

The third suspect was said by police to be Jean Leblanc. All had been staying at Nantua, some 250 miles southeast of Paris, for the past month.

Their hotel was surrounded by police in the early morning, and (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6-7)

VALENCIENNES, France, (AP)—A plot to assassinate French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos was discovered here today by police who seized a coded letter giving details of the plan.

The letter, police said, was addressed to a Hungarian terrorist now in jail here. He is Koloman Budai, arrested here on Nov. 8 charged with firing shots through the windows of the league of nations building at Geneva in 1935.

Train Kills 4 Jaysee Stars

AZUSA, (AP)—Four youths, three of them star high school and junior college athletes, were killed at a railroad crossing here early today when a Santa Fe fast mail train struck and demolished their automobile.

The dead: Paul Thompson, 22, star Citrus J. C. football end in 1934 and 1935. Keith Thompson, 25, former Citrus J. C. basketball player. Patterson Pollard, 22, former Citrus J. C. track star. Archie Smith, 24, also a former Citrus J. C. student. All were members of prominent Azusa families.

RANCHERS GET XMAS BREAK IN WEATHER

Long Dry Spell Ended

A record dry spell—six months long—passed into history today as rain varying from .68 of an inch at La Habra to .13 of an inch at Laguna Beach fell throughout the county.

Predictions today were for continued cloudiness and light downfall tonight and tomorrow. Throughout the county rainfall figures were approximately an inch under those set at this time last year.

RANCHERS JUBILANT Ranchers and farmers were jubilant over the moisture, which if it continues will end the need for further pumping, saving thousands of dollars.

Santa Ana received .24 of an inch.

Rainfall was considerably heavier in the north end of the county, government meteorologists reported, dwindling as it neared the coast regions.

The fall was general throughout the southland, Santa Monica and Corona receiving almost a full inch in the 24-hour period at 8 a. m. this morning. Los Angeles reported slightly more than a half-inch, coupled with an epidemic of auto crashes on the slippery streets.

CONVICT LEWD PICTURE TRIO

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP)—A federal district court jury today convicted three men of conspiracy in a lewd picture extortion plot aimed at several opera stars and acquitted a fourth defendant.

Convicted were Theodore Larson and Frank Fowler, inmates of the North Dakota penitentiary where the government charged the plan was worked out and George Schultz, former penitentiary guard.

As described in court, the plan was to superimpose pictures of heads of four opera stars, Rosa and Carmella Ponselle, Lily Pons and Lucrezia Bori—on lewd pictures and use resulting photographs for extortion purposes.

You'll Have to Deliver That Xmas Quart in Person

Intoxicating beverages are prohibited from being sent through the mails, irrespective of the holiday season, announced Postmaster Frank Harwood, who presented suggestions this morning on mailing of fragile goods.

All fragile items should be wrapped in excelsior or shredded paper, to give them added protection from breakage, Mr. Harwood said, and at least two thicknesses of corrugated paper should be used on the outside of the packages.

Fragile articles should be insured and marked as fragile. Mr. Harwood reminded Santa Anans that Christmas mail sent between now and Dec. 15 will travel faster than articles shipped after the middle of the month.

Man Jailed For Contributing

Lawrence T. Taylor, harbor real estate dealer, convicted last month of a delinquency crime against a 12-year-old Costa Mesa boy, went to jail today for a year.

LOSES SUIT Mrs. Lilly M. de la Housaye of Los Angeles today had lost her $15,000 suit against Harold Olander of Anaheim for the death of her son in an Imperial county auto accident early this year. A jury in Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court returned the verdict last night, awarding Olander his costs.

JAPS TAKE NANKING GATE 'ROLL' CHARGE REPUDIATED

SHANGHAI. (P)—The Japanese command announced today that Kuanchaumen, principal south-eastern gate in Nanking's massive walls, had been captured by a detachment of Japan's ninth division.

Japan's rising sun banner was raised over the gate as soon as it was taken, late Friday.

Nipponese infantry surged through this breach in the defenses of China's erstwhile capital and occupied adjoining sections of the walls.

Seizure of Kuanchaumen came as a climax of a battle which began with a Japanese general assault of Nanking early in the afternoon, after the Chinese defenders had ignored a Japanese ultimatum demanding surrender by noon Friday.

RAIN DELAYS WATER SURVEY

Rain today prevented a committee appointed by the Orange County water district board from making a survey on cost of digging a proposed pit 200 feet in depth and five feet in diameter at Santiago creek for sending water underground from the creek for preservation.

The plan is aimed at preserving spillway waters from the Santiago dam and other water from Fremont canyon. It is proposed that spreading grounds will be enlarged by acquiring more land and straightening the channel of the Santa Ana river as well.

A committee, including C. A. Palmer, secretary of the district, was named at the board of directors' meeting held this week. Mr. Palmer said the survey planned today will probably be made next week.

Those farmers who are trying to farm a section at an intersection will find out sooner or later that the seed has fallen on unpromising ground, and that there won't be any harvest. In which case the relief load continues at the expense of the farmer who farms his section.

Much is being said and done about relief. It shows itself from many different angles. In the old days it was manifest in the community and neighborhood spirit. With the ever increasing population and personal economic problems, less of that neighborly concern appeared. What brought this problem to mind was recent incidents occurring in a nearby community where sympathy has been bestowed in a substantial manner in deserving cases. It is refreshing to know that the element of human kindness is still flowing.

The plight of the Hoover became known when her radio calls were intercepted in Manila by RCA and Globe Wireless company operators.

None of the messages received in Manila indicated how serious was the Hoover's grounding, or whether those aboard were in danger.

350 PASSENGERS ON HUGE LINER
SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Dollar line officials here said today they had received unofficial information from Manila that the President Hoover was aground at Hoishoto Island, south of Formosa.

No direct word had been received from Captain George Yardley, commander of the liner, officials stated. They said the passenger list might total approximately 350 persons, but more might have boarded the ship before it left Kobe and Yokohama.

The ship carried a crew of 333 men, company officials said. Hoishoto Island was described by the marine exchange as being 55 miles northeastward of the southern end of Taiwan, or Formosa. The island is 20 miles offshore.

Soon after he reached the capitol the governor was invited by a White House secretary, by telephone, to visit President Roosevelt at 4:30 this afternoon.

FDR INVITATION
The purpose of the conference of the two opponents in last year's presidential election was not immediately disclosed. Landon will be accompanied by Senator Capper (R., Kas.).

Surrounded by many newspapermen who accompanied him on campaign trips in 1936 Landon smilingly said:

"It looks as if everyone in the gang except myself has a job in Washington."

Asked if he wanted to take "another whirl" at the Republican nomination, Landon hesitated a second, then said:

"It is presumptuous to decline something that has not been offered to one. A short time ago I would not have answered this question. However, recent developments have convinced me that my acts, as a citizen, as the 1936 Republican candidate, frequently had been misconstrued."

"For that reason and because personalities frequently confuse the clear-cut consideration of problems in politics, I am glad to answer the question without any equivocation whatsoever."

"I have not had any intention of being a candidate in 1940 and in order that my position may be perfectly clear I will not accept the nomination in the remote contingency that the Republican national convention should offer it to me."

I couldn't understand why PEOPLE DIDN'T LIKE ME

...but I found the answer and now have many new friends, thanks to the amazing offer of Globe Mills.

I longed to have friends and be included in parties but somehow people just didn't seem to like me. I couldn't understand it.

Even at club meetings, I seemed to be an outsider. It puzzled me to see how easily other women made and kept friends and yet I couldn't.

One evening I saw an advertisement which aroused my curiosity. It offered a free handwriting analysis chart by which you could uncover your true character... faults and all.

The next morning I went to the grocery store and bought a package of Globe "A1" Pancake and Waffle Flour and sent in the box top for my free chart.

When the chart arrived I studied it eagerly. I was amazed at what I found. Every detail of my handwriting indicates something about my character. Even the way you cross your "t's" and dot your "i's".

I found that I had many good points but that I was self-centered, moody, egotistical, too critical, over-sensitive and argumentative! It explained everything! So I set to work, earnestly, to correct these faults.

What a difference it has made in my life. Now I have wonderful friends and more invitations that I can accept. I'm so much happier in my home life, too.

Things you never suspect about yourself and other people can be quickly detected when you understand how to analyze handwriting. Talents; business ability; emotions; character; personality factors, good and bad, are revealed by handwriting. Send a box top from a package of Globe "A1" Pancake and Waffle Flour, today, for the free handwriting analysis chart which shows you how to analyze your own or any other person's handwriting. Easy, fascinating, entertaining, amazing! Mail your box top TO: DAY TO GLOBE MILLS, Box 817, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA.

WEST CARRIES FEE FIGHT TO COUNTY CITIES ORGANIZATION

'HOT WATER' SUPERVISOR TELLS STAND

Commended By League Members

Supervisor N. E. West took the floor again last night in his county fee battle. This time he carried it direct to mayors and councilmen of Orange county municipalities.

The occasion was the monthly meeting of the County League of Municipalities in Placentia.

The Laguna Beach supervisor, who has been in continual hot water over his determined stand that county officials must return fees collected after passage of the county's new salary ordinance, outlined his stand on the matter.

West was a surprise speaker. Although the league took no official action, West was commended for his stand, according to reports received today.

Principal speaker was Leon T. Davis, assistant city attorney of Los Angeles, who spoke on the personal liability of city officials, and liability of municipal governments.

He urged outlining and codifying of definite rules governing the rights and liabilities of municipalities and municipal authorities, stating that municipal law up to date is largely haphazard, and a matter for individual determination by council and attorneys.

SCHOOL BARS NEGROES

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Negroes were denied entrance to the University of Missouri under a state supreme court ruling today. The court refused to issue a writ of mandamus requested by Lloyd Gaines, 25, of St. Louis, to force university officials to admit him to the law school.

Deaths

ALEXANDER.—Mrs. Minnie A. Alexander, 69, who died at her home, 2017 Bush street, Dec. 10. She is survived by her husband, Robert Lee Alexander of Detroit, Mich.; six sons, Theodore H. Dakin, Harold S. Alexander and Dayton B. Alexander, all of Santa Ana; Robert F. Alexander of Rollins, Wyo. Funeral services will be announced later by Brown and Wagner.

JIMINEZ.—Frances Jiminez, 2, died at her home, 371 Dyer road, Santa Ana, Dec. 9. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Jiminez. Funeral services were to be held at 10 a. m. today from the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel.

SEXTON.—Mrs. Alma Sexton, longtime resident of Costa Mesa, died in a Santa Ana hospital last night. A prominent member of the Mesa Woman's club, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Helen Morley; a granddaughter, Nancy Morley; and a sister, Mrs. Winn McCamhill, Chicago. Funeral services at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the Dixon chapel, Costa Mesa, with burial in Westminster Memorial park.

Magnet For All Eyes

Eye-relief comes by wire to patients in Vienna's general hospital who have metal particles imbedded in their sight organs, for this electro-magnet, shown in use in the eye clinic, is capable of removing a 10-pound mote. Because of the powerful magnetic force exerted, care must be taken or splinters with tear tissue in sudden removal.

BURNS MAY PROVE FATAL

Burns that covered two-thirds of her body were torturing Mrs. Julia Estrada, 58, 2114 West Fifth street, today as she fought for life in an Orange county hospital bed.

Screams of pain attracted neighbors yesterday afternoon, after flames from a radiating heater caught Mrs. Estrada's clothing. She was taken to the hospital by the Orange county ambulance service. First aid was administered by Dr. Harry C. Nelson.

IRON STOLEN

Rosa Custodio, 30 La Paloma street, Atwood, today had reported the disappearance of an electric iron from her home yesterday.

DRIVER SOAKED OFFICER, CLAIM

Luis Figueroa, alias Luis Cortez, 35, Placentia, was rebooked at Orange county jail today on a charge of assaulting an immigration officer.

Already facing charges of violating the immigration act, Figueroa faced the new charges after allegedly grabbing Immigration Inspector Franklin Davis as he was being brought to the jail from his Placentia home two weeks ago.

The sudden attack resulted in a crash with another automobile that injured Davis, Figueroa and a woman in the car with which Davis' auto collided.

BEAN GROWERS SEEK RAISE

A proposed purchasing and sales campaign to boost prices on a surplus bean crop is scheduled to be shifted into high gear in Orange county Monday night when bean growers from six southern counties gather at the Garden Grove High school auditorium.

Vernon C. Heil, a representative at the National Bean conference in Chicago early this month, will report on the program adopted by the conference, and Orange county lima bean growers will be asked to choose three grower representatives to act on a state advisory committee.

GAS STATION BURGLAR

Burglary of a service station at Dana Point Wednesday night was reported by Jim Isham, proprietor, yesterday. Isham said the unidentified burglar apparently gained entrance by breaking a glass pane in the front door. Cigarettes and gum valued at $7.50 were reported stolen.

Leader of Paris Kidnap Killing Gang Surrenders

SHORT SEARCH
While detectives in Paris continued cross-questioning Weidmann, husky confessor of the five slayings, others began a systematic excavation around the St. Cloud villa outside Paris where yesterday were found the bodies of Miss De Koven and Fritz Frommer, who has been linked with the gang.

It was Weidmann's confession to the five slayings which put police on the trail of the gang, allegedly headed by Million.

There also was the possibility, police said, of linking Million and the woman with two of Weidmann's other victims, a taxi driver and a broker.

Million and the blonde vanished from their apartment near the central markets of Paris after the body of the broker, Roger Leblond, was found in Weidmann's villa. The woman was known to police as "Renée" or "Colette" Tricot and is 27 years old. Million, 25, was said to be an accountant's assistant.

CONFESES KILLING

In today's questioning, Weidmann said Miss De Koven went with him from her hotel, after they became acquainted through the medium of the English language newspaper she was reading in the lobby.

This, he asserted today, was on July 23.

That same evening, Weidmann testified according to the police transcript, "for some reason which I can't explain, I killed her. At the moment when she was getting ready to leave me, I seized her by the throat, and since I couldn't strangle her completely, I wrapped a towel tight around her neck and stuffed the end into her mouth to stifle her cries."

He took from her pocketbook the travelers' checks and buried her beneath the porch of the villa where the body was found yesterday.

ABDICATION DATE IGNORED

LONDON. (AP)—Stolid Britain today ignored the first anniversary of one of the most intense dramas of her long history—the abdication of Edward VIII.

The government completely "forgot," and the press barely took notice of the fact that one year ago Bachelor Edward signed the instrument of abdication at Fort Belvedere, relinquishing the throne to his next younger "family man" brother.

Edward spent the anniversary quietly in Paris with the woman for whom he gave up the kingship—American-born Wallis Warfield, now the Duchess of Windsor.

day—a knotted cord still around her neck.

It is these travels' checks which police believed may connect the missing Million and his woman companion with the supposed gang of kidnap-slayers.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Paul R. Josselyn, American consul general at Hankow, reported to the state department today that the Rev. Cyprian Frank, an American Catholic priest, had been released by Chinese bandits who captured him Dec. 6 in Hunan province.

The priest is a native of Mt. Carmel, Ill., and belongs to the Passionist order with headquarters at Union City, N. J.

From Lake Ascotan, in Chile, 15,000 feet above sea level, is obtained half the world's supply of borax.

Life Needs To Have Interest

By DALE CARNEGIE

I wonder how many of us will be satisfied with what we see as we look back across the years. A life of satisfaction must be a full life. It must be a life packed with interest. We need money, yes. We must have some of it. But money won't guarantee satisfaction. It will only provide us with the necessary accessories for making our paths smoother. DALE CARNEGIE the so-called "little things" that round out our lives. Charles Darwin, author of one of the greatest books ever written, said that his life had been too lopsided and he wished he could live it over again. And if he could, he said, he would make it a practice to read every day some good poetry and every evening to listen to some good music. Theodore Roosevelt lived a well rounded life. Being a lover of nature, he got as much pleasure out of a walk in the woods as most people would get out of entertainment costing anywhere from one to one hundred dollars. Andrew Carnegie, who made one of the largest fortunes the world has ever known a man to make, said he would not give up his capacity for enjoying good books for all the money he had ever made.

Most of America's famous men and women have had to sink or swim, work or starve, but there are some who were born with gold spoons in their mouths. Let's give a hand to those who had the tenacity to stick with it wasn't absolute necessary. After all, it takes a great deal of something to make a man work on and on to success when he could lean back and take life easy.

One of these men is the radio favorite, Frank Crum. Things have always been pretty easy for Frank. He never went hungry or had to suffer to get an education; instead, he always had pocket money. Although his father was a banker, he did not try to direct Frank's life in that direction, but encouraged him in his chosen profession. Frank starred in sports at school, he was a popular member of a Glee Club and followed this with success in musical comedy. He is tall, well set up and good looking. With all his advantages, Frank might easily have become a dilettante.

When Frank A. Munsey came to New York from Maine, all the worldly possessions he had were a suitcase full of manuscripts he had bought for the purpose of starting a magazine, and $40 in cash. Four years after his arrival in New York a friend who had worked in the same telegraph office in Portland with him called to see him.

"How are you getting along, Frank?" the friend asked. "I'm getting along fine," enthused Munsey. "I arrived here with $40 and now I'm in debt $5000."

He left twenty million dollars. (Copyright, 1937)

Mother Saves Son By Wire

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A frantic mother in Chicago last night wired Los Angeles police: "My son is threatening to commit suicide and is in need of medical attention." Detectives quickly took V. J. Trischler, 40, into custody for observation.

UNCLE SAM READY FOR XMAS RUSH

Bear Burdens

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Uncle Sam's postmen bent wry backs today to the job of handling extra mail and promised the nation that every Christmas gift would be delivered on time—if every sender does his part.

The post office department will do its share, officials said. They were prepared to hire 120,000 or more extra clerks and carriers.

Officials said even the most distant farmer or rancher should have his Christmas greeting or present on time if these rules are obeyed:

Consult the nearest postoffice on mailing schedules and mail now. Inscribe your packages with "not to be opened until Christmas." Take a chance on the honesty of your friends, officials pleaded, and then you won't be able to blame late or non-delivery on the United States mails.

Postmaster General Farley announced, "all postal employees who can be spared will have the opportunity of spending Christmas day with their families."

THE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

By DONALD BUTTON

What may be regarded as the most moving exhibit in the present Library series will open Tuesday. For then, that strange, powerful painting that is Donald Forbes goes on view.

What you may first think of Forbes—I do not know. If you like painting to be dramatic in the grand manner, if you want to be moved, or stirred, by it, then see Forbes.

Harry Salpeter says that a roomful of his (Forbes') pictures must disturb the most obtuse of us and haunt the less insensitive. Forbes is one of the most brilliant New York painters. Turning first to music, he quickly realized painting was his forte. And it is there, self-taught and little patronized, fearlessly independent, Forbes has made his mark.

My own introduction to his work is typical. Told the man who painted "The Accordionist" was without teacher, I recognized a remarkable draughtsmanship. It was only on seeing it again that I began to sense the pervading atmosphere.

So it is, that Forbes grows upon you. You first sense an ability, then realize the artist has given his square of canvas setting few ever hope to attain. He is master of depth and light, nuances of feeling. He is ever in control!

The Library show centers upon Forbes' "The Dying River." Look close upon it, and it is blue-black coating over canvas. As you retreat (it will drive you back in compelling fashion), details will begin to appear.

By this picture one senses Forbes belongs to no school, no period, no teacher. By the achieving of fundamental requirements for all good painting, by the elimination of any slavery or idolatry, he becomes timeless.

"The Dying River" is a show in itself. I sincerely hope none will pass this unique opportunity to view it.

Other works of Forbes from the collections of Paul Mooney and Alexander Levy (who both were quick to discern his true worth) comprise the rest of the currently opening exhibit.

Each demands careful consideration. . . . Unlike Grant Wood seeing rhythmic pattern in fields and trees, or Thomas Hart Benton—mocking at quaint American custom, Forbes is ever looking for disintegration and decay even though his background is much the same as his midwestern contemporaries.

He spent most of his young life in Nebraska, but even his first canvases indicate the perpetual search for the mystical significance of retrogression.

Not his to paint are the bucolic gaieties. He must rather concern

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

Lammot Du Pont, president of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & company comes forward with a plea that "a reasonable amount of certainty on which manufacturers can count in planning current and future operations" be given to business. In an address before the National Association of Manufacturers meeting in annual convention in New York this week he suggested a huge program looking to business recovery entailing creation of 3,000,000 new jobs and investment of a capital during the next few years upwards of $25,000,000,000.

Mr. Du Pont in discussing the problem of business recovery argued that the burden of responsibility for future social betterment should be placed upon the shoulders of industry instead of the government. He also cited the inability of industry to enlarge its program and make possible needed employment without some certainty was given by the government under what conditions needed business enlargement programs would have to function if undertaken.

This column cites the words of the well known capitalist because he believes they picture the lack of confidence which generally exists among big business men under the present administration. Without doubt considerable of the cause of the present business recession is due to constantly changing tactics being employed by the administration resulting in the managers of big business merely playing a waiting game until something definite in a government trend has sufficiently developed to justify large capital investments in business expansion.

There would doubtless result almost overnight a great wave of business recovery if the desired assurance was granted big business. There is plenty of capital waiting for the privilege of favorable investment conditions which today lies in the vaults of the nation unused. But that is not saying that the methods which Mr. Du Pont and his like have desire to use in connection with business revival would prove permanently beneficial to the rank and file of the people.

If big business had its way the administration would submit to terms and conditions laid down by the capitalists and abandon any ideas of economic reform which has been in mind. Mr. Du Pont and the group he represents would doubtless consider the economic reform which is advocated by the Townsend movement as ridiculous and just as far from his liking as are the New Deal measures. In his advocacy of $25,000,000,000 of capital with its potency as an employment medium emphasized, he talks in figures that sound something like Townsendism.

The difference is that under Townsendism it would be the people and their spending power running into the billions of dollars who would promote business recovery and give needed employment instead of the dollars of the capitalists. But with the Townsend program in vogue the certainty of government trend which Mr. Du Pont argues is needed, would become a reality and the captains of industry would be falling over themselves within a fortnight trying to get business enlargement programs under headway, so they could reap possible profits from the people's buying power as would then be firmly and permanently established.

But the best part of the whole picture would be that with the Townsend transaction tax in operation all business, big and little, would be under compulsion to keep putting back into the annuity revolving fund sufficient to insure generous security for the aged and right employment privileges for the young with wages of a high standard as a reward. Instead of the capitalists controlling the flow of money in commerce the buying power of the people would control it.

The writer believes that big business under present administration pressure is justified in the complaints being registered and does not see that it could be expected to do otherwise than play a mere game of waiting. On the other hand he believes that another wave of business prosperity predicated on the same old business methods as have always resulted periodically in depressions as well as prosperity, would be harmful instead of helpful in the long run. As a basis for business betterment, economic reform as is included in the Townsend plan transaction tax method should be first instituted and then the business recovery that would follow would have the permanence which is desirable.

Deep Secret of Foxtails On Cars Revealed at Last

Some months ago, an epidemic of foxtails hung onto auto radiator caps broke out in Santa Ana, with no apparent reason.

The vogue spread and continues to spread to this day. Few people locally ever were able to give an explanation as to its origin or meaning.

Now the secret of this foxtail display, nationwide in scope, is divulged by The New Yorker. Its story follows:

HITLER'S FAULT
"One surprising result of Adolph Hitler's rise to power is the recent boom in the popularity of fox tails as radiator ornaments for taxicabs, trucks, and suburban family sedans.

"The explanation is perfectly simple. In the pre-Nazi days, there was a brisk export trade in tails, which were sewn together in sets of eight to make coat collars. The boycotting of non-Aryan tradesmen was, naturally, a pretty severe blow to the fur-export business; the local market became glutted with fox tails, and their himself in expressing the stark blackness of his philosophy.

This first west-coast showing of Donald Forbes' work is, nevertheless, shining climax to the 1937 Santa Ana Public Library exhibitions.

In a series marked by the creative effort of Milford Zornes, Dan Dickey, Ruth Peabody and Jean Goodwin, the group showings of the Federal Lithograph project and the Orange County Camera Club, the Forbes exhibition definitely attracts the attention of Southern California to the program of the Library here.

That the exhibition facilities of that Library are extremely limited is one thing we hope cultural Southern California will overlook with kindly spirit!

Santa Ana's Library, then, brings to you first coast showing of a man who is destined to be an outstanding painter of our century!

No matter how badly crowded your holiday schedule, do not fail to see this extremely important exhibition! It has an historical, a cultural significance words, somehow, are not mine to give it!

Sunday marks the opening of Raymond and Raymond's holiday showing of painting by the American Artists' Congress.

Of things seen previous to hanging Dan Lutz' city scene (marked by the omnipresent palm-tree easily takes the awards. Low in key, well-composed, it indicates the steady progress of San Diego-another winner Lutz (who is another of our younger painters to watch!).

value dipped from thirty-five cents to two cents, an all-time low.

"Probably they would have kept on piling up in warehouses if a New York fur trader, a Mr. Charles Brand, hadn't happened to see in a magazine a picture of a sportive master of hounds who had attached the brush of a fox to his radiator cap. His mind geared to mass production, Mr. Brand immediately reasoned that everybody might like a brush, even people who didn't ride to hounds. Since it is the habit of hunters to present the brush to their ladies, it might be possible to call a fox tail lucky, or at least not unlucky.

2,000,000 TAILS
"Mr. Brand, a small, somewhat mousey man whom we have seen and interviewed, told us that he has to date sold over two million tails, at prices ranging from three to nineteen cents, to jobbers. 'Why, in New Jersey last year, anybody without a fox tail on his car wasn't nobody,' exclaimed Mr. Brand.

"While the fox-tail vogue is still strong in the interior of the country, it is passing in the west, and Mr. Brand is now engrossed in an additional project: the sale of rabbits' paws. There have always been millions of rabbits' paws knocking about the fur district, it seems. No matter what anybody says, Mr. Brand told us, ninety per cent of all the fur coats that retail for less than fifty dollars are made of rabbit fur. With many furs to a coat and four paws to a fur, you can see how this runs into paws.

"Well, nobody found a use for them until 1931, when Mr. Brand was a brief vogue for putting them on ladies' hats. Mr. Brand stocked up on paws to sell to milliners. The vogue passed overnight, and he was caught with twenty-five thousand paws. Remembering that rabbits' feet bring good luck, he experimented with fixing them up as lapel ornaments, key rings, and whatnot, and found that they sold like hot cakes. That was three years ago, and Mr. Brand now sells about three hundred thousand a year. He gets three and a half cents from jobbers, the retail price usually being a dime. Mostly, however, the paws are given away by big firms, for good will. Schenley's whiskey people, recently bought half a million paws—from one of Mr. Brand's two competitors, unfortunately. Mr. Brand is now completing negotiations to supply the Fuller Brush Company with a cool two million. In a year or so, we'll all have rabbits' paws."

Shark Meat Sales Boom in Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, (AP) — Shopkeepers reported they could sell all available shark meat at 12 cents a pound. They said housewives had been won over to the new foodstuff, which tastes much like cod, and has few bones.

2ND LABOR DEATH TRY IS REPORTED

Minneapolis Labor Leader Threatened

MINNEAPOLIS, (AP) — Myles Dunne, secretary and treasurer of the Teamster's Joint Council, successor to the slain Patrick J. Corcoran, said today three men attempted to ambush him Tuesday night near his home.

Corcoran was slain the night of Nov. 17 after putting his car in his garage. The case has not been solved.

Rewards for the apprehension and conviction of Corcoran's slayer were increased to $15,000 when the Minnesota Federation of Labor, of which Corcoran was vice president, added $1,000.

On another labor front 12 warehouses of food store groups were closed by a strike, throwing 900 workers out of employment. The strike was called by general drivers union 544 in support of demands for wage increases of 15 to 25 cents.

SHERIFF HITS G-MAN HEAD

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Sheriff James L. Williams' criticism of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for its asserted secrecy in handling an extortion case reached the rebuttal stage today with Williams retorting:

"To — with J. Edgar Hoover." The sheriff telegraphed Hoover Tuesday morning asserting that his agents allowed "a dangerous killer to escape into our territory" by attempting to trap an extortionist without informing local officers.

The bureau chief's comment, the Kansas City Star informed Williams, was that the telegram "obviously was a publicity gesture, as it was released in advance of its receipt in Washington."

"Sixteen of his (Hoover's) agents set a death trap and one of them gets shot and critically wounded," Williams said, "then he talks about publicity gestures."

Henry A. Snow, federal agent critically wounded by the extortion suspect's shotgun, was somewhat improved today.

Skeleton Found Hanging in Wood

NEW YORK, (AP)—The skeleton of a man, who had died by hanging, was found at dusk yesterday on the estate of the late Otto Kahn, financier, at Woodbury, Long Island, by Alexander Warga, a Nassau county policeman.

Warga, hunting rabbits, tripped on a branch in the woods, looked up and saw a skull, topped by a felt hat, suspended from a tree. On the ground lay the rest of the skeleton.

Dr. Abraham Frierich said the man was about 40 years old, wore good clothes, including a belt with the letter "E" on the buckle, carried a watch, glasses and had 68 cents in his pocket. He had died about a year ago, the physician said.

Improvement in Lamps Announced

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., (American Wire) — Incandescent lamps filled with carbon dioxide to give a whiter and better light than any previous type of daylight lamp, have been perfected for commercial purposes, Dr. Thomas J. Killian, electrical engineer, said today. The lamp can be used for matching colors, a test all other lamps have been unable to pass perfectly, Dr. Killian declared.

Tommy's Fourth Wife Weds Again

NEW YORK, (AP) — Marcelle Edwards, who recently divorced Tommy Manville, asbestos heir, and J. Freedom Carlisle, jr., broker, announced they would be married today at St. Thomas Lutheran church.

They obtained a marriage license Monday. Miss Edwards, a former show girl, was Manville's fourth wife. She obtained a divorce in Reno Nov. 29.

U. S. NAVY BUYS OIL FOR HALF-YEAR

$3,966,720 Spent for Ship Supplies

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The navy department contracted today to pay $3,966,720 for 4,346,150 barrels of fuel oil. The oil is expected to meet the navy's west coast requirements for the first six months of 1938.

The contracts included $3,764,024 for 4,204,800 barrels of fuel for steam engines and $232,695 for 131,350 barrels of oil for diesel engines.

Contracts for the steam engine oil were:

General Petroleum Corporation of California, Los Angeles, 1,000,000 barrels, $881,000; Richfield Oil Corporation, Los Angeles, 2,070,000 barrels, $1,855,400; Shell Oil Company, San Francisco, 500,000 barrels, $433,750; Standard Oil Company of California, San Francisco, 34,500 barrels, $44,600; The Texas Company, New York, 600,000 barrels, $518,400; and Union Oil Company of California, Los Angeles, 300 barrels, $814.

Contracts for diesel engine oil were:

Standard Oil Company of California, San Francisco, 11,550 barrels, $30,565; and Union Oil Company of California, Los Angeles, 119,800 barrels, $202,130.

Night Watchman Now Checks on Dionne Quints

CALLENDER, Ont., (Canadian Press)—The night watch officer who guards the Dionne quintuplets started punching the clock today and as a result, Dr. Allan Roy Dafee sleeps better.

The new system requires the provincial constable on night duty to visit every part of the nursery each half-hour.

"I sleep better now that I know this precaution is being taken," said Dr. Dafee, physician to the quints.

Dafee nursery is guarded in the daytime by two provincial police.

Guard Cubans on 'Death List'

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Police tonight announced discovery of a secret organization, the "Joven Cuba," whose members allegedly planned to execute 20 or more Cuban exiles as "traitors to the revolutionary cause" in Cuba.

Their discourse followed long questioning of four Cubans arrested in connection with the slaying last Thursday of Dr. Pedro Pablo Torrado, former under-secretary of justice in Cuba.

Police said Torrado headed the list of the "Joven Cuba."

Guards were assigned to the persons named on the society's so-called execution list.

Army to Honor Wright Flight

Lack of Small Change in Barcelona Brings Crises

BARCELONA, (AP)—A scarcity of small change has created a multitude of small crises in the every-day life of Barcelona.

Newspaper vendors shrug their shoulders and refuse to sell if you offer anything but the exact 15 centimils for a paper.

Movie theaters, becoming great sticklers for small change, insist upon exactly 150 pesetas if you want to see a 1.50 show.

FREDDIE'S AUNT WINS LAST CASE

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Freddie Bartholomew's adopted mother, Mylicent Bartholomew, who also is his aunt, today won complete control of the young star's interests and affairs.

The youngster's parents, Cecil and Lillian Bartholomew, caused their son and his aunt to come into court to press a demand that a bank be continued as guardian of his estate, but the court held for the aunt.

The court asked Freddie his opinion of the guardianship.

"I would like my aunt to have full control of the estate," he testified in characteristically precise English.

"My reason is very aptly illustrated by the fact," he continued, "that while my aunt had charge of my affairs once before for a little over a year, she saved $20,000, but since the other parties have taken over the estate, it has depleted very rapidly."

The court asked the 13-year-old English boy whether he wished his family to share in his earnings.

"I would like my aunt to have my sisters provided for, so they may have their schooling," he told the court, "but I think father is well able to take care of himself."

Freddie nodded and smiled to his parents, but did not converse with them other than to reply to his mother, who asked him why he was limping.

"I had an argument with the stairs and the stairs won," said he, explaining his ankle.

A Los Angeles bank, which has acted as guardian of Freddie's estate, resigned today when the decision giving the aunt full control, was made. Miss Bartholomew's bond as guardian was set at $100,000.

Exhibit Discloses Gershwin Planned Switch to Art Field

NEW YORK, (AP)—The late George Gershwin cherished an ambition to switch from music to art before his death ended his career at the age of 38 last summer.

Friends disclosed today the noted composer had planned to make his public debut as a painter with an exhibition of his work next year.

This aspect of his talents and interests became known coincident with announcement that the first public showing of his paintings and drawings would be held posthumously in an east 57th street gallery, beginning Dec. 18.

Although Gershwin did not begin painting until he was 31 and received instruction only from his cousin, Henry Botkin, the painter, he was said by intimates to have developed a keen interest in modern art.

He came to believe, they said, that painting was a little ahead of music as a medium for expressing moods and ideas in the new manner, and that it was more quickly apprehended by the public.

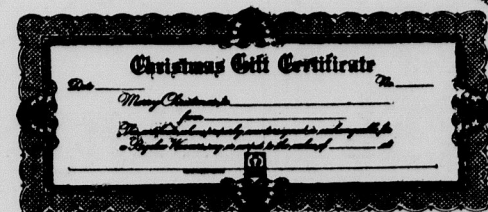

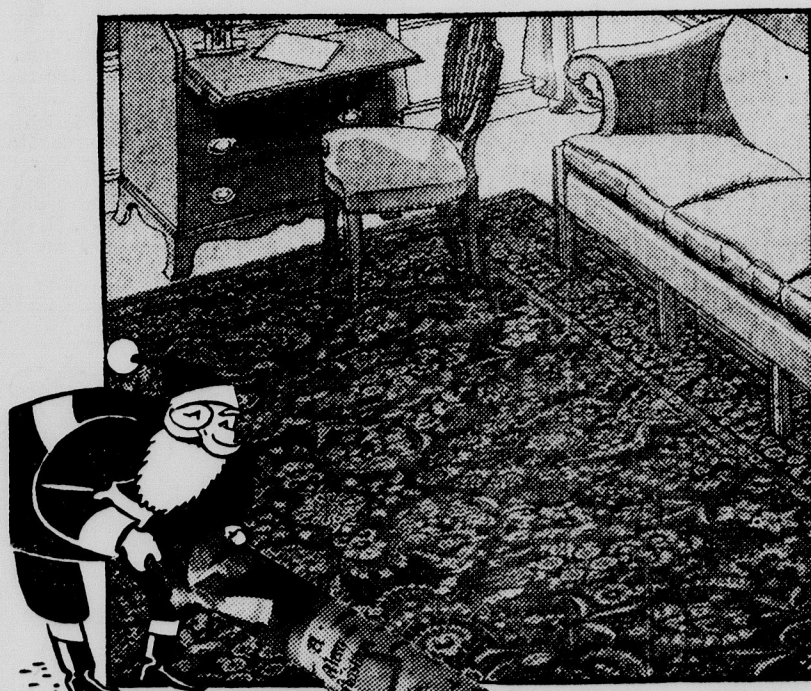

Included in his exhibition will be a water color of his bedroom at Folly Island, near Charleston, S. C., made rapidly while he was working on the music for "Porgy and Bess," and portraits of his parents.

Shell Options Olinda Oil Land

All real property at Olinda belonging to the Olinda Land company is reported to have been optioned to the Shell Oil corporation for the sum of $500,000.

The transaction was noted in a letter to the Los Angeles Stock exchange which told of a one-half cent a share dividend on the capital stock. The option will extend to April 18, 1938. The dividend is payable December 27 to stockholders of record December 13. A similar amount was paid in October last year.

NEW STATE EMPLOYMENT HEADS NAMED

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Appointment of managers of 15 district offices of the state employment service were made today by Roy S. Stockton, chief of the service as he left for Washington.

In the national capital he will confer with officials of the federal employment service and the social security board in drafting final plans for the payment of benefits and operations of the offices of the employment service.

FROM CIVIL SERVICE

The managers of the district offices were selected from civil service lists and they will have charge of the dual program of placement service and unemployment benefits after Jan. 1.

"Southern California," said Stockton, "presents an unusual problem. The Los Angeles area, known as district 1, will serve nearly 50 per cent of the working population of the state."

"This load has necessitated establishing 15 offices in the Los Angeles district and the appointment of a superior to coordinate the work of the offices in the district."

WOOD NAMED

Arthur E. Wood, formerly manager of the Los Angeles office, will be associate chief in charge of the entire Southern California section, and Harry Johnson, former staff member of the office will be assistant as field supervisor.

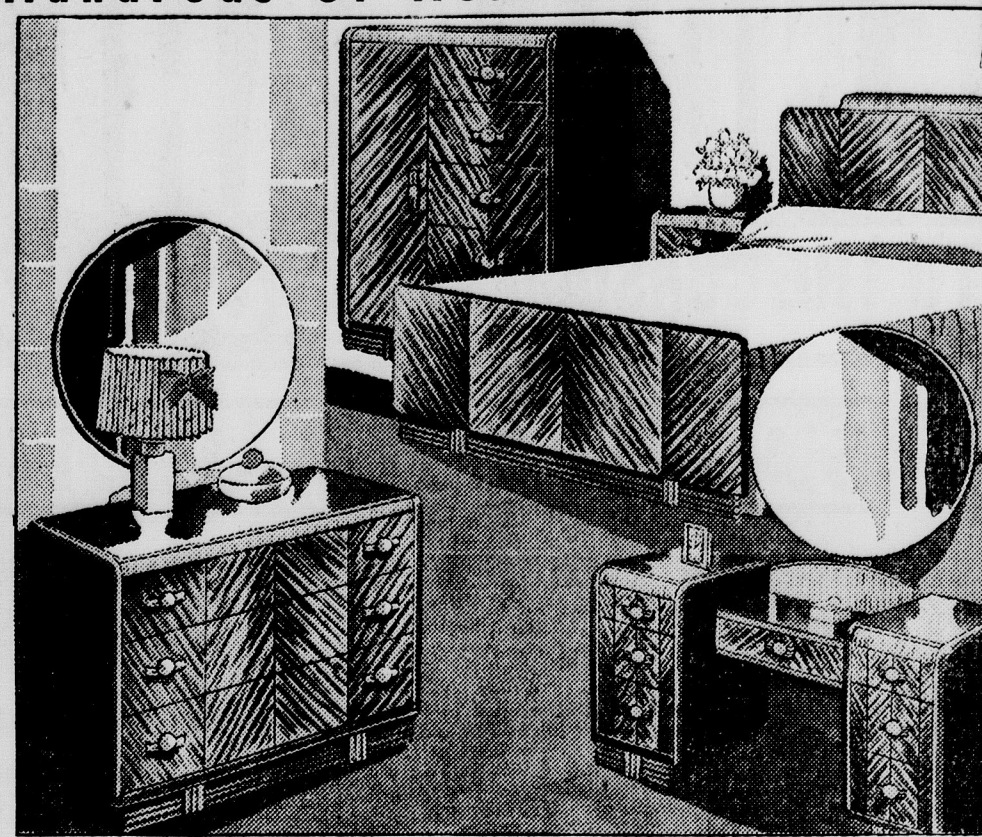

The 15 district managers announced by Stockton are:

Floyd Byrnes, Los Angeles; Peter Kristich, San Francisco; Kathryn Bangs, Oakland; Sydney Hostler, San Bernardino; Lee Sandberg, San Jose; Ray Mathewson, San Diego; Willard Marsh, Fresno; Frank L. Buckner, Sacramento; W. R. Cunningham, Stockton; Roger Thomas, Santa Rosa; J. W. McLean, Santa Barbara; R. W. Evans, Bakersfield; Ray Donnelly, Marysville; A. C. Brown, Redding, and John B. Herndon, Eureka.

SLED STOPS THIEF

SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—A boy coasting down a hill on a sled frightened a man who was attempting to wrest a purse from Mrs. Mary Gluchowski. The would-be thief fled.

FREE SERUM PLANNED FOR PNEUMONIA

Pennsylvania Opens
Advertising Drive

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania today ordered erection of 2000 highway billboards advertising free serum to shield its citizens from the ravages of pneumonia.

Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, secretary of health, said her department would place the signs along all highways to warn against the dangers of pneumonia and call attention to the preventive treatment offered without cost to all Pennsylvanians for the first time.

Her announcement came as the first cold spell tumbled thermometer and renewed dangers of the disease which in 1936 caused 9094 deaths in the Keystone state, giving it the fourth largest pneumonia death rate in the nation.

The free serum, made possible through a $60,000 federal grant, will be available beginning Dec. 15 to all who apply through private physicians.

"No longer will Pennsylvanians be deprived of serum pneumonia treatment because of the high cost," Dr. MacBride-Dexter said. "Until now only the very well-to-do could afford it."

Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of the health conservation bureau, said the serum costs "between $50 and $75 for each patient under ordinary circumstances."

SHAKE-UP IN FIREFMEN RANKS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—In the most extensive re-arrangement in 20 years, Fire Chief Ralph J. Scott announced the transfer of five assistant fire chiefs and eight battalion chiefs yesterday. Scott said the transfers did not represent disciplinary action.

President John M. Larronde of the fire commission said the changes were in line with a commission policy of shifting executives about so they will learn more of fire fighting conditions throughout the city.

Reporters encountered some difficulty in obtaining information about the changes, however.

The transfers included:

Assistant fire chiefs—G. J. Davlin from San Pedro division to department headquarters; M. E. Rylander from Venice division to department headquarters; F. W. Moore from Venice to San Pedro division; W. H. Augustine from headquarters to Venice; O. B. Lewis from headquarters to Venice.

Battalion chiefs—B. E. Cogar from battalion area 7 to San Pedro; J. A. Wilson from area 3 to Venice; Joe C. Roeder from area 6, San Pedro, to area 3; D. D. Humphreys, area 9, Venice, to area 7.

OIL COMPANY OFFICIAL DIES

NEW YORK. (AP)—Robert McKelvy, 62, a vice-president and director of the Tidewater Oil company, died yesterday.

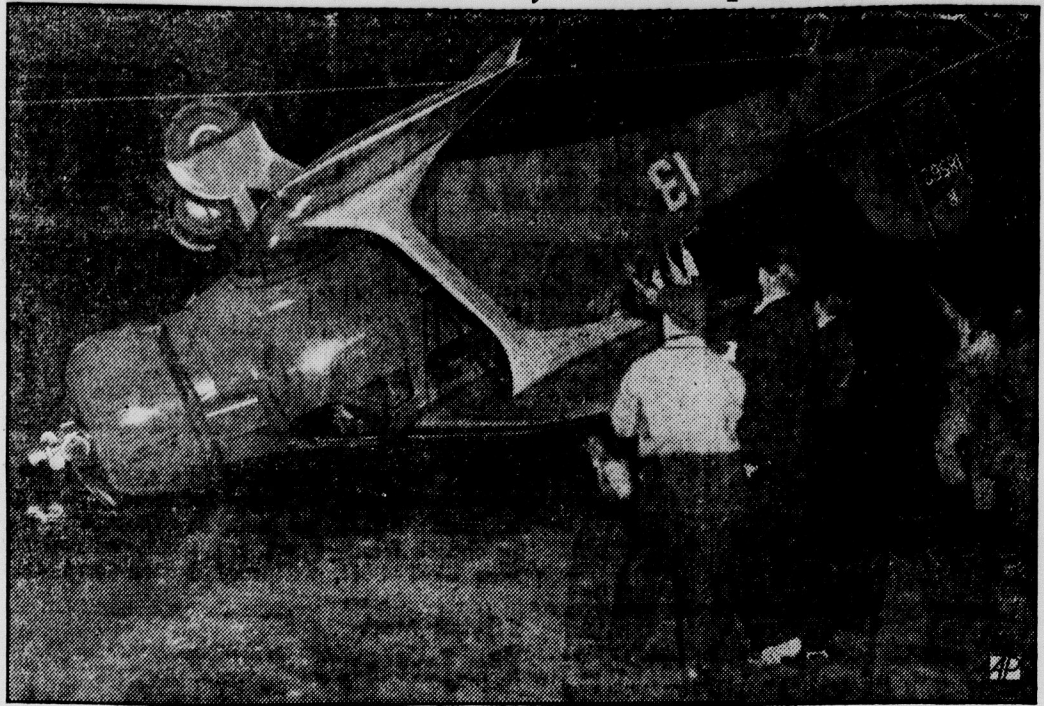

McKelvy entered the oil business in 1908 under his father, Davis McKelvy, one of the founders of the Tidewater company.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Florence Orth McKelvy, a daughter of Mrs. Julius Bird, and two grandchildren.

MISSING

RIVERSIDE, (AP)—Believed to have wandered almost nude through the woods near Anza, John Henry Hagar, 59, of Los Angeles, was found dead last night. Sheriff's officers said Hagar, missing from a ranch since Sunday night, bore numerous scratches and cuts on his body.

No. 13 Unlucky for Airplane

Fate must have had its number when this plane landed at Roosevelt field, Long Island, but despite any doubts the superstitious may hold, a mud hole and not the large "13" on the ship's fuselage caused the somersault. Pilot James H. Drummond was taken to a hospital for observation. Owner of the ill-fated craft is Jacqueline Cochran Odum, famed aviatrix and wife of Floyd B. Odum.

PARSON HALTS BANK ROBBERS

CONISTON, Ont. (Canadian Press)—A visiting parson and a bank manager saved a $30,000 payroll yesterday by slamming the door on two slow-moving gunmen.

The gunmen slipped into the apartment of Manager John Graham, above the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, shortly after midnight.

They demanded that Graham open the vault below. In it were the bank's regular funds and a $30,000 international nickel payroll.

Mrs. Graham and Mrs. A. P. Addison, the pastor's wife, were tied in the apartment. Graham and the minister were herded down the stairway.

They reached the street door, Graham suddenly swung it open, and he and the Rev. Mr. Addison darted through, the slamming door locking the bandits in.

Police were called, but the gunmen had escaped by a rear stairway.

DRIVE TO AID BEAN GROWERS

SALINAS, Calif. (AP)—A nationwide sales campaign and a federal purchasing program appeared in prospect to aid Salinas valley bean growers today.

Carlyle Thorpe, King City bean grower who attended a nationwide conference of his industry at Chicago, said the government planned to buy U. S. No. 1 grade small white beans at $2.56 F.O.B. He also said chain store and retail merchants would launch a drive designed to increase annual consumption 1,000,000 bags.

Ship Changes Course to Aid Injured Seaman

NEW YORK. (AP)—The United States liner Washington changed course in mid-Atlantic today to go on an errand of mercy.

Chief Officer Ralph Dooley, acting commander of the Washington, wirelessly his home office that he was proceeding to the side of the freighter Wind Rush to remove an injured seaman.

Employees of the S. S. Sheppard line, operators of the Wind Rush, said they had received no word of any mishap aboard the freighter.

Willard School Notes

"The Polytechnic High, Julia Lathrop, and Frances E. Willard Junior High schools, will join together to give a Christmas program for the citizens of Santa Ana, Dec. 18, over KVOE," Herbert Michel, Willard director announced today.

Twenty members of the Willard advanced orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Michel, will contribute to the program. The numbers to be played have not yet been decided upon.

Miss Edith Cornell, and Mr. Daniel Stover, Lathrop music instructors, will offer their mixed glee clubs, singing a few carols, while Herbert Bickel of the high school will present the girls' glee club in a few old fashioned Yuletide numbers. A brass and string quartet, also from the high school, will contribute to the program with their own numbers.

In Mrs. Vivian Meeks' social science class, the pupils have selected a special committee for each unit of the text book. This committee provides something of interest for the class, such as debates, book reports, special reports, and displays in the show cases.

The first unit, the student committee, made up of Irving Tucker, Barbara Senn, Laird Iiams, Ed Scott, and Dorothy Winterbourne, provided a very interesting Indian exhibit, which was placed in the show cases. Reports on the lives and customs of the Indians concluded the unit.

Unit two, composed of Margaret Lookett, Janet Coffing, Patty Patterson, Ruth Henderson, Don Nelson, and Paul Vissman, displayed many interesting Colonial Costumes and closed the unit with a group of interesting reports.

Under the supervision of Arthur Nisewanger, Alan Hadell and Don Lieberman are making ping pong tables for the P. E. department, it was learned today. A ten-foot paddle board, made by Hugh Brooks, is also nearing completion.

Other projects include a shuffleboard by Harry Harlow and a bicycle trailer by Klieh Davis.

"Awarding of B and C letters this year was based mainly on regular attendance on the theory that regular attendance helps the team," Coach Lund announced this week.

Six inch letters in the B division were awarded to Davenport, Lopez, Wilson, Deakins, McBride, Murphy, Harvey, Finster, Baldwin, Coffing, Hayes, Shoemaker, Hadell, and Lieberman. Five inch letters in the same division went to Cordona, Garcia, Van Natta, and Wassum.

In the C division the six inch letters were received by Ameling, Dietler, Gordon, Denner, Higashi, Gibson, Ball, Brown, Gastrita, Harris, Low, Marsile, Abel, Fletcher, Edgar, Platt, Dreblow, Schriegl, and Mercier. Pietsch, Thompson, Nicolas, Earnhart, and E. Brown won five inch letters for the C division. Managers letters for this year went to Hoots-6 inch and to M. Miller-5 inch.

Scientific recreation is the subject of entertainment every Friday for E. D. Froeschle's L7-X general science class which is divided into two parts, one entertaining the other half with reports, demonstrations, specimens of plant life, and animals.

"Dwight Schroeder always has an entertaining talk or experiment. Recently he gave a demonstration on blowing a lighted candle out in a bottle with heavy invisible gas," Mr. Froeschle remarked. "These experiments and demonstrations are educational as well as entertaining," he also added.

Norman Denner, Hilda Bernstein, and John Francis have been experimenting in separating oxygen from two chemicals, Manganese dioxide and potassium chlorate, while the class is studying air pressure and atmosphere. The pupils then burned steel wool and a watch spring in pure oxygen.

Corey Stanley and Jim Wilde had a tug of war after completing the famous magdeburgh experiment which consists of pumping air out of a hemisphere while the boys pull on each end. Pasty Wright and Dwight Schroeder also made some nitrogen.

By locating their houses on a map of Santa Ana, drawn by class members, students of Miss Mary Jane Steel's L7-S social science class are learning how to map out a city. Their own plan of a city was drawn and, by this work, pupils are shown how to properly place streets.

The maps are drawn to a definite scale and the houses of the class members were marked in their approximate place. "This work is as interesting as it is educational," Miss Steel commented.

Polite conversation practiced before the class, is in the line of study of Mrs. Nellie Smith's L8-Q English class. "By having skits of telephone conversations and microphone speeches, the class will become acquainted with proper pronunciation, enunciation, and a pleasant pitch of voice, essentials of polite conversation," Mrs. Smith remarked.

David Hearle and Marjorie Adkins were the first to enact a skit between a grocer and a fully trained economist. "Formal and polite introductions and many forms of correct speech are to be taken up before we start on the prosaic noun and verb," Mrs. Smith concluded.

"We believe that since there are now so many fine libraries and such good things to read, that it is wise to instruct the pupils of literary classes in the study of locating reading material. Miss Varnie Plumb, instructor of the L7-L class, stated in a recent interview.

The present literary classes are learning the use of the file cabinet and reference books, such as dictionaries and encyclopedias. They also are learning the way books are made, from the time the paper is made, until the books are printed. Care of books, authors, and titles are their other subjects of study.

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The crew of the purse seiner Sunlight was rescued when the craft collided with the Three Stars and sank eight miles west of Point Monta, 15 miles south of here, late last night.

The chamber of commerce marine exchange reported the crew was taken aboard the Three Stars. The seiners usually carry from 10 to 15 men.

The Three Stars, with its bow damaged, docked at the foot of Jones street today.

Heirs Must Work To Get Riches Of Grandfather

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—The four grandchildren of the late Theophilus B. Stark are satisfied with the stipulation of his will that each is to receive an amount equal to what he or she earns in the next five years, their father said today.

The will, filed yesterday, set a minimum of $1500 and a maximum of $4000 as the amount to match what each grandchild earns. After five years each will receive a $4000 annual income from the estate, estimated at nearly $300,000.

Dr. Charles Wharton Stork said his children appreciated the thoughtful advice of their grandfather, a former Philadelphia attorney, that "happiness comes from one's own work."

Ludwig Dismayed As Liner Leaves

NEW YORK. (AP)—He has talked to Stalin and Mussolini, and never batted an eye.

But sheer alarm froze the genial face of Emil Ludwig, German biographer, today as he was left standing at the pier—with photographers furiously snapping his expression of dismay—while the French liner Normandie sailed slowly down the bay without him.

Late in arriving, he failed to notice that the ship's gangplank had already been taken down.

Graciously, he paused to pose for the camera brigade. Then he turned as the boat began to pull away.

An hour later, he sailed on the S. S. Aquitania. This time, he ran up the gangplank.

FARMERS OF STATE WILL EXPAND

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Expansion of the Associated Farmers of California into a coastwide organization is being planned it was revealed at a meeting of Washington, Oregon and California representatives in San Francisco yesterday.

Walter E. Garrison, of Lodi, retiring president of the California group, named temporary chairman of the organization committee, with H. Russell Robbins of Yuba City he will represent California.

Garrison said the objective of the organization would be to protect farmers in their right to grow crops and move them to market.

COLD STORAGE

OKLAHOMA CITY. (AP)—I tried to keep away from this woman, but she wouldn't leave me alone," complained Floyd Greenwood, 23, when he pleaded guilty to violation of the Mann act.

"Three years in the penitentiary," said Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught. "That will fix it so she can't get to you."

MEMORIAL TO MINERS

FAIRMOUNT, W. Va. (AP)—Funds will be raised by public subscription to erect a monument to the 352 men who died 30 years ago in the Monogah mine disaster, the greatest in American mining history. The memorial will be placed on the Clarksburg-Fairmont highway.

NOTE SPURS HUNT FOR MISSING MAN

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah. (AP)—A scribbled postcard spurred Earl Croft of Brigham City today in a hunt for his brother, Bert, whose mutilated and decomposed body was reportedly found on the desert near El Centro, Calif., Nov. 20.

The card, mailed Dec. 1 from Mexicali, Mexico, was signed "your brother, Bert Croft," and informed the Utah he was "leaving for South America by boat."

The Brigham City man said the handwriting compared with letters written to him by his brother last summer.

The decomposed body found on the desert contained papers indicating that it was Bert Croft of Brigham City.

NEW TUJUNGA DAM FUNDS ARE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, (AP)—H. E. Hedger, chief assistant engineer of the Los Angeles flood control district, enlisted today the support of California congressmen in an effort to obtain federal funds for construction of the $10,000,000 Hansen dam in Tujunga wash.

He told Senator McAdoo and Representatives McGroarty and Dockweiler the county spent $600,000 for rights-of-way and a dam site but a federally promised initial allotment of more than $1,000,000 had not been made.

McGroarty said the money apparently was withheld by the administration for economy reasons and suggested an appeal to the President.

He added, however, Senator McAdoo had appealed twice to the chief executive for release of the funds and had been refused. He said new data had been assembled "which may serve to change the President's mind."

Mother Sues in Ex-Felon's Death

Whether the mother of an ex-convict is entitled to damages because her son was killed in an auto accident was to be considered by a superior court jury this afternoon.

Testimony by Officer H. Burch of the Los Angeles police department was heard yesterday in the $15,000 suit of Mrs. Lily De la Houssaye against Harold Olander of Anaheim, driver of a car involved in a collision near Holtville in which 23-year-old Lester De la Houssaye was killed.

Burch connected the wreck victim with a gang of safecrackers, and Los Angeles court records showed he had served a term in San Quentin.

The borough of Manhattan, New York, contains 27,000,000 tons of steel, of which 23,000,000 tons are in skyscrapers and other buildings.

Cat Loses Eight Lives

Scared out of eight lives was this cat which ran onto a ledge 50 feet above the street, there to remain for two days before attracting notice. But to its rescue came Harry Bone, 23-year-old London storekeeper, who was lowered by rope from the roof, grasped the frightened animal and carried it to safety as a crowd looked on.

Don't Take Tomatoes To See Male Dancers—They're Tough

DALLAS, (AP)—Note to the man in the second row with the sack of throwing tomatoes: Don't do it; you've got those gentlemen toe dancers all wrong. They're not sissies; just a bunch of reformed wrestlers, footballers and track men. That's right—put your vegetables away and listen to the story of Ted Shawn and his barefoot boys.

Twenty-five years ago Shawn started his dancing career. He was 21 and a good dancer. Five years ago he hit upon the idea of giving the public something different; male ballet dancers. Warnings came from everywhere. It would be murder, they told him, to skip eight young men through a routine usually accompanied by the rustle of skirts.

But Shawn fooled them. He dug into colleges and came up with a wrestling champion, prize pole vaulter, football players, crack swimmers — muscled, handsome youngsters. "Sir, that first year of pioneering was a trifle difficult," Shawn reminisced today. "There were times when it looked as if the boys were in for a bit of fruit barrage."

"Well do I remember the first time the troupe went into Texas. Two weeks in advance 50 cowboys had gone about collecting eggs and vegetables. The night of the show the house manager was in agony. Our 550 friends were out front and well-equipped. "The curtain went up and the boys went out. Signs of restlessness in the first few rows caused the boys to brace for the worst. Nothing happened."

"Of course, the boys felt as if they had been on the stage a couple of weeks when that show ended, but our friends actually became interested and took their vegetables home with them."

"About 20 per cent of our audiences were male on the first tour," said Shawn. "Now it is about 60 per cent."

Blonde French Girl Doesn't Like Dictators

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Her life is no longer her own, blonde Francine Bordeaux of France asserted today, for the sponsors of her film career dictate her choice of clothes, books and friends.

She filed suit against the Robert Mack and Sarah Parsons Studios, Inc., for modification of her contract, which forced her to read certain literature, forbade her to associate with anyone or wear anything not selected by the studios, and prohibited impromptu public appearances.

The studios, Mademoiselle Bordeaux explained, engage "in the business of psycho-dramatic analysis and testing for screen talent" and have chaperoned her and paid all her expenses since the contract was signed four months ago.

She said she wanted greater emotional freedom and indulgence of her hobby of sculpture. She is 23.

Bethlehem Steel Declares Dividend

NEW YORK. (AP)—Directors of Bethlehem Steel Corp. declared a dividend of $1 a common share today, bringing payments for the year to $5. In September and October payments of $1.50 each were made and in June $1 was paid. Dividends were resumed in December, 1936, with payment of $1.50. The latest payment is to be made Dec. 24 to holders of record Dec. 17.

Eugene G. Grace, chairman, said the company was currently operating at 27 per cent of ingot capacity and that there was no indication so far of an increase in new business. He expressed belief more steel was being consumed than was being produced and users were steadily reducing inventories.

Cosmetics have been used by both men and women since earliest times.

COTTONSEED PRICES SHOW BIG DROP

Overproduction Is Cause of Decline

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Heavy production of cottonseed meal at San Joaquin valley mills resulted in a decline of around $1.50 a ton in the price of this high-protein stock feed this week.

Estimates of the California crop, reporting service that the record cotton crop this year would amount to 710,000 bales indicated meal supplies would be higher than ever in this state.

Army Flier Dies As Plane Crashes

SAN ANTONIO, (AP) — Lieut. Edward P. Burke, 24, was instantly killed today when his army observation plane plunged to earth near Kelly Field.

The plane burst into flames as it crashed and both it and the body of the pilot were consumed.

Burke, a graduate of West Point and a native of Helena, Mont., had gone aloft from Kelly Field to take a weather observation.

Trim Marian Martin Everyday-Frock Pleases Big and Little Sister

PATTERN 9528

Tailored to a "T" and neat as can be, is this "younger set" fashion that looks so adorable on any kiddie from "two to ten". This fetching Marian Martin model is so easy to make that mother will stitch up several versions. A younger tot will adore model "A" with its unusual little collar, brief puffed sleeves and flared skirt that welcomes a dash of ric-rac braid to match the cuffs. A ten-year-old is sure to prefer style "B" with trim, pointed collar, dashing slide fastener, long sleeves, and military-looking buttons. Wouldn't it be striking in wool or cotton plaid?

Pattern 9528 may be ordered only in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, view A, requires 2 yards 36 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards ric-rac braid; view B, 2 1/4 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send 15c in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

Get on the bright side of fashion! Send for the new winter Marian Martin Pattern Book—just full of all the latest style news you want to know! The easiest of patterns show you how to look smart at work and play, every hour of the day. Alluring dress-up frocks, kiddie-togs, and slenderizing flattery for the matron! See the thrilling gift suggestions, accessory news, fabric tips! Price of book 15c. Price of pattern 15c. Book and pattern together 25c.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif.

GRAND JURY ASSOCIATION IS FORMED

SACRAMENTO, (AP) — Increasing the efficiency of the grand jury system is the announced purpose of the Grand Jury Association of California which filed incorporation papers with the secretary of state yesterday.

Directors are Paul Rudolph and Larry Gott of San Jose and Lester O. Wister, Oakland. The latter was the accountant who worked for the Santa Clara grand jury in its recent audit of county books.

Membership in the association is limited to past and present members of grand juries.

Publicizing work of grand juries and "assisting new members in acquainting themselves with their duties" are listed as among the purposes of the organization.

Hold R. R. Worker For Shovel Death

EL CENTRO, (AP) — Jose P. Carataches, 30, of a railroad section gang, was held in jail today in connection with the fatal beating of Juan Padrone, a fellow worker.

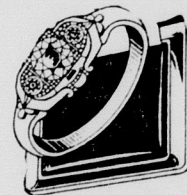

Undersheriff Rodney Clarke said he was informed Carataches hit Padrone with a shovel after accusing him of making advances to Mrs. Carataches.

COMPULSORY SALE

Owing to business being bad the last two months, I am compelled to raise money to meet my obligations and also to have money for loaning purposes. I therefore, will sell any article in my $50,000.00 stock from 25% to 40% less than the original retail price.

It seems that the public has the wrong conception of my store; because I conduct a collateral loan bank they are under the impression that I sell nothing but unredeemed pledges. It is true that I have hundreds of unredeemed watches, diamonds and other articles, but 95% of my stock is entirely new, nationally advertised standard merchandise of the finest quality and the latest designs.

The following are illustrations of merchandise I carry in my store:

DIAMONDS

Of the finest quality, all are unredeemed, 50 per cent remounted in beautiful platinum and gold mountings of the latest designs. Engagement rings, wedding rings, fancy rings, bar-pins, brooches and scarf pins—Prices from

J. C. LIBRARY SHELVES HOLD 12,000 BOOKS

With the total supply of books numbering close to 12,000 volumes, the Santa Ana Junior college library this year offers students more advantages for reference and recreational material than ever before, Miss Lillian Dickson, librarian, said today.

Since the establishment of a separate jaycee library in 1935 after completely severing connections with the local high school, new books have continuously been added, she said.

Increasing demands have not only furnished the necessary books which instructors use to supplement their courses, but also popular fiction and non-fiction which students desire.

Latest additions include "Last Flight"—Amelia Earhart, "Life With Mother"—Clarence Day, "Great Contemporaries"—Winston Churchill, "Cleopatra"—Emil Ludwig, "San Michel"—Axel Munthe, "The Man Who Was Chesterton"—G. H. Chesterton, "The Citadel"—A. J. Cronin, "400 Million Customers"—Carl Crow, "Andrew Jackson"—Marquis James, and "World Finance 1935-1937"—Paul Einzig.

Among the types of books secured for background purposes and student's education are those on travel, biographies, social sciences, and other volumes of a cultural and current interest value, Miss Dickson pointed out. Books which are the best in all the varied fields are procured for student use.

A total of 140 magazines and newspaper periodicals are subscribed for by the library. Periodicals are in greater demand for reference reading than any other source material, Miss Dickson said.

Four students comprise the bibliography class this year, a course designed for those interested in the function of the library. They include Clara Westermann, Lois Rohlf, Anne Sinnott, and Dorothy Jenkins.

Because university requirements become greater each year, students do not find much room in their course to include the bibliography class since it is an elective subject.

Oldest Woman Says Girls 'Too Refined'

TAUNTON, England, (AP)—Mrs. Emma Coates, Britain's oldest woman, who has just celebrated her 107th birthday, says modern girls miss a lot of fun because they're "too refined."

"I doubt if they enjoy themselves half so much as I did when I was young."

Plane Facts

By HARRY CRAFT

It is intended that we devote this column to the human interest side-light yarns unreeled in this fascinating business of flying. At the same time we are most pleased to answer your questions about the industry. However, for the sake of other readers, please send a return address with your queries so that they might be answered by mail rather than through the channels of this column.

Since there are a few letters that can be answered only by this means bear with me while we clean the mail basket.

Almost daily we are asked the number of planes and pilots in this country. There are 17,379 pilots and 8430 airplanes holding active department of commerce licenses on October 1. The number of pilots represents an increase of almost 2000 over the same date last year, while the number of planes has increased by 683. Of all the licensed pilots, more than 7000 have transport ratings. Licensed pilots include 8000 of private classification and 486 women, 13 of whom have transport ratings.

Was asked how many hours solo flying does one get out of a $50 or $75 instruction course. For that price you get just one solo flight, but as many hours flying as is necessary to prepare you for that flight.

Also, must answer a few questions about aviation gasoline. It is much the same as automobile gasoline only more highly refined. Technically, it is known as 85 octane. Ethylized gasoline used in your automobile is 75, while gasoline around 68. The industry is experimenting with a new 100 octane gasoline now used for take-off and high altitude flying. Aviation gasoline runs a few cents more than the ordinary. However, as it is tax exempt (highway maintenance tax) the ultimate price to the consumer is about the same.

Children who never have known a world without airplanes are taking to the airways in ever-increasing numbers—accepting it as a matter of course. In the majority of cases, they accompany their parents. Occasionally they travel alone.

Almost daily one hears of a youngster who's been "shipped" by the air lines. The youngest, we believe, was the 3-day-old girl bound for San Francisco from Seattle.

Five-year-old Lynne Ahrens, with 10,000 air miles to her credit, had her first train ride the other day.

"Clipper," trade name of Pan America's flying boats has appeared in a score of different languages. To us, clipper in Chinese, hasn't meant a thing until we received a literal translation. Along with the artistic set-up of their heiroglyphics, was attached an expressive definition: "Pan American Clipper" (in Chinese characters) or, in colloquial terms, is "Flying Scissors Machine."

Brady Pal Guilty

James Dalhove, 31, only Brady gangster to survive the battle with Federal agents at Bangor, Me., pleaded guilty in Hammond, Ind., to the murder of State Policeman Paul Mineman, and faces death in the electric chair. Above, Dalhove, in leg irons and handcuffs and guarded by detectives and state policemen, leaves the Hammond courthouse after his plea.

Garden Secrets

By WILLIS CADWALLADER
Blanding Nurseries

"Seek the good, that evil may be remedied."

The sweet pea enthusiast may be experiencing trouble with the vines becoming streaked with yellow at the base and creeping upwards. In time the entire plant may die out if the trouble is not corrected.

Some authorities seem to feel that there is a disease that causes this condition, whereas other authorities of just as much eminence are of the opinion that this condition is caused by certain physical conditions that the plant is sensitive to. If there is such a disease, it is known as "streak," but it is not known what the disease is, nor is a remedy known.

If the sweet pea becomes sickly appearing and is otherwise ailing it is of no consequence to worry about some incurable disease because, the chances are, it will be an overdose of too fresh a fertilizer, or a fertilizer not sufficiently rotted. Poor drainage, soil, insects, aphids, mildew, and in fact, nearly everything that attacks sweet peas, create a similar effect on the plants, as the disease known as "streak."

That is to say that the leaves change color from the base upwards from green to yellow and then to brown.

Attacks of aphids or green fly are quite easily controlled by a good nicotine spray. Should the attack become severe, white blotches and mottled deformities of the flower petals and foliage will be noted.

Bud-dropping is not a disease and usually corrects itself within a short while, but poor drainage or too much fertilizer are the most common causes. It might be caused by a sudden change in weather conditions, or lack of sunlight.

In the event that an attack of mildew is noted, a good dusting with sulphur will remedy this if the dusting is continued regularly throughout the season. The mildew attack will probably not become severe.

It is occasionally noted that slugs and snails will attack the tender plants, but a good garden bait will remedy this, and after the plants become a little older, the slugs will not bother them.

Quite often wireworms and other ground pests will eat the tender bark, just beneath the surface of the ground. This creates the same symptoms known as "streak." When wireworms are suspected, a good ground fumigant may be used. An old remedy for wireworms is to insert a piece of potato or carrot just beneath the surface of the ground and examine regularly. The wireworms will feed on this bait and are easily killed.

NLRB Opposes Act Modification

NEW YORK, (AP)—Modification of the National Labor Relations act in favor of employers was vigorously opposed today by Charles Fahy, general counsel of the National Labor Relations board, in an outspoken "labor clinic" session with 5000 industrial leaders at the National Association of Manufacturers' convention.

The session, with the heaviest attendance of the convention, was a closed one. The industrial leaders packed even into balcony seats in the Waldorf Astoria ballroom listened in tense silence to Fahy's candid answers to their pointed questions about the future of governmental regulation of industry's relations with labor.

For unmounted units, a flag is a color; for mounted or motorized units, a standard, and for ships it's an ensign.

ASSAULT CASE HEARING SET

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—William A. Cuaron of El Paso, Texas, is scheduled to appear in superior court Dec. 16 for probation hearing and sentencing on two assault charges.

Cuaron has pleaded guilty to beating E. R. Jackson of Los Angeles last Sept. 29, and Miss Frances Babick, social workers, Sept. 20, 1936.

Miss Babick charged that while Cuaron was driving her home from a party he hit her with his fist and broke her jaw.

Cuaron served a prison term in Texas after conviction on a charge of slaying his sweetheart, Dorothy Hill Giefer, in El Paso in 1925.

He was pardoned after serving 15 months and came to Los Angeles.

Harold Lloyd Insures Specs

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Harold Lloyd's good luck charm—a pair of 10-cent store spectacles he has worn in $35,000,000 worth of film comedies—was insured for $25,000 against all risks today with Lloyd's of London.

The lens-less celluloid rims, extremely brittle with age, are worn by Lloyd in at least one scene of a new picture before they are returned to a bank vault for safe keeping.

He paid a $531 premium for the insurance policy. When he retires, he said, he will give the spectacles to the Smithsonian Institute.

SOVIETS FIND GIANT SKELETON

MOSCOW, Russia. (American Wire)—Discovery of a skeleton, believed that of a prehistoric giant, was discussed by Soviet scientists today. The skeleton, uncovered near Semipalatinsk, Siberia, had a sword stuck through the skull. The joints and feet were one and a half times the size of present-day humans and the hands hung below the knees.

DOG GETS $10,000

SAN DIEGO, (AP)—Just plain dog, Teddy, will receive "the best care and comfort" as long as he lives under terms of the will of his mistress, Mrs. Hattie Fletcher, widow of a former automobile dealer in Wichita, Kas. Under the will, $10,000 of a $30,000 estate will be set aside for the dog.

NEWSMEN IN TOKYO UNDER POLICE EYE

Japanese Know All Reporters' Doings

TOKYO (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The foreign newspaper man realizes soon after his arrival in Japan he no longer leads a very private life.

No matter where he goes or what he says, it is all likely to be recorded carefully by Nippon's ever-present police.

The Japanese sleuthing is efficient, but it is done with little effort at concealment, nearly always is polite, free from roughness or unpleasantness.

But the police know where you live, when you go to and from your office, what books you read and probably whether you brush your teeth with paste or powder.

Any journey outside is fully recorded in your dossier in the foreign affairs section of the metropolitan police bureau. This was brought home to the writer recently in an interview with an official.

In reply to a question the government man countered with, "didn't you get that information from Mr. So-and-So?" He named a man seen several weeks previous.

He smiled indulgently at an expression of surprise and went on to name three other men interviewed in the interim and the substance of the conversations.

Acquiring such information is not difficult. A policeman sees you in a taxi, notes its number. Later he asks the driver where you went. Even if it was to a restaurant the waitresses are asked whether you tried to extract "military information" from them.

Another way of watching reporters is to examine their waste paper baskets.

Japanese police surveillance of course has been intensified since fighting began in China.

(Editor's Note: Reiman Morin, well known in Southern California, was transferred a few months ago from the Los Angeles bureau of the Associated Press to Tokyo.)

PARTY ENDS IN HOSTS' DEATH

NEW YORK (AP)—A cocktail party that ended in a slugging match at a sumptuous Long Island estate became the focal point today of an investigation into the death of Samuel A. Walsh, 55, retired Wall Street broker.

Walsh, who gave the party in his 16-room home at Fort Salonga on Nov. 30, died in a New York hospital Tuesday from what the medical examiner described as "a fractured jaw and hypostatic pneumonia."

After questioning several persons who attended the party, police said a fist fight apparently after Walsh became abusive toward women guests.

They said George H. Hoyt, Jr., 27, an automobile salesman, was remaining voluntarily at the Bay Shore barracks in an effort to help them clear up the affair.

Recession Over, Claim of Nash

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The "bottom of the business recession has been reached," said Charles W. Nash, automobile manufacturer, arriving here with Mrs. Nash to spend the winter months.

"A decided upward turn can be expected shortly after the first of the year," said Nash, in an interview.

Air Salesman

"Announcer" hardly does justice to Graham McNamee's cheerful voice and natural style. He's still the greatest salesman of them all, and you can hear him with Vic Arden and his orchestra on the new Musical Moments Revue.

5 Japanese News Writers Killed

SHANGHAI (AP)—Masao Yoshijima, correspondent for the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri and Yoshio Amano, photographer for the newspaper Asahi, were killed on the Nanking war front today. Three other Japanese newspapermen have been killed in the Shanghai peninsula warfare.

Fit New Tap Steps To Latest Dance Hits

Strut Your Way to Popularity Impress your crowd. Shine on a date for two. Teach yourself to tap!

Complicated? Not a bit. Even the smartest movie routines are based on simple steps you can learn with diagrams at home.

BALL TAP. Strike ball of foot against floor. Be careful heel does not touch. Keep weight on opposite foot.

HEEL TAP. With weight on ball of foot, lower heel to floor for one distinct tap sound.

TOE TAP. Strike ball of foot backward with relaxed knee and strike floor with tip of toe.

FLAT. Step on entire surface of foot. The Flat is often accented into a stamp.

Our 32-page booklet diagrams and explains basic steps. Simple practice routines for beginners. Full-length routines for entertaining—waltz, buck, military.

Send 10c for your copy of Tap Dancing Simplified to The Santa Ana Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth St. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN FIRE

ST. PAUL (AP)—Firemen found the charred body of a woman, her skull fractured, when they were summoned early today to fight a fire in the long vacant Aberdeen hotel, in a residential section. Police said she had been slain and began efforts to identify her.

Jeweler Offers Marriage For Debt Payment

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Albert T. Croft, 35, former jeweler of Idaho Falls, Idaho, is willing to marry "any woman" who can pay his $534.26 debts.

Pressed by reverses since he came to Los Angeles last April, Croft said his bride wouldn't "have to be pretty or ever know how to cook."

NEW STANDARD HEAD NAMED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William H. Berg became president of Standard Oil company of California today, succeeding the late Kenneth R. Kingsbury.

Berg has been a vice president of the company since 1927. He entered the service of Standard as a stenographer at the age of 20.

Homing Pigeon Refuses To Fly to Home

SHELTON, Conn. (AP)—A homing pigeon that refuses to go home will be given one more chance by Judge John J. Donovan.

The bird, released twice by factory workers who befriended it after it was found hungry and exhausted, each time flew back to the factory.

Car Exhaust Kills Carpenter

BAKERSFIELD (AP)—Sheriff Ed Champness reported today that exhaust fumes piped into an automobile caused the death of John C. Bell, 24, Bakersfield carpenter.

Bell's body was found in the car, parked on bluffs overlooking Kern river.

He leaves a widow, Mildred, here and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell, Lynwood, Calif.

Foresters Stage Real Fox Hunt At Big Bear Lake

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—Voicks! A real fox hunt was underway today in Big Bear Valley.

Seventeen silver foxes escaped Tuesday night from the McAllister Fox Farm, forest rangers reported, and five have been recaptured, while two returned voluntarily.

STORK IDLE, SCHOOL ATTENDANCE LOWER

INCREASE IN PUPILS LESS IN 1937

Lower Birth Rate During Depression

The stork's failing to appear over the chimneys on scores of Orange county homes during the depression years of 1929 to 1932 is partly blamed for a shortage in pupil attendance in half dozen grammar school districts today.

A rapid population influx from other communities into such coastal cities as Seal Beach, Newport and Balboa beaches has been effective, however, in offsetting the stork's forgetfulness. The total county grammar school enrollment this year is more than 40 students above what it was in 1936, according to figures in the office of Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools.

School attendance has been boosted by another 1000 pupils during the past 12 months through substantial gains at two junior colleges and 11 high schools in Orange county. Only one high school has failed to register an increase during the period.

Enrollments at grammar schools showing gains during the month of November over a corresponding period in 1936 are as follows (first figure mentioned in each case being the 1937 total): Buena Park 485, 464; Fullerton 1218, 1193; Laguna Beach 317, 275; Newport Beach 429, 410; Placentia and Yorba Linda districts 931, 920; Santa Ana (grades one to six) 3212, 3197; Seal Beach 250, 202; San Clemente 105, 86; Westminster 429, 405. These figures were furnished by Warren Mendenhall of the county superintendent of schools office.

Superintendent Adkinson says that a lower birth rate during the depression years is appearing as a cause in decreased grammar school attendance throughout the state.

Costa Mesa's grammar school enrollment was taken as an example of this by school officials today. The October 15 enrollment figure for this year was 619 as compared to 637 a year ago, a loss of 18 pupils. Yet Costa Mesa has as many houses rented as there were 12 months ago.

No school in the county has enjoyed a better increase in attendance than has Santa Ana Junior college during the past year, which has approximately 100 pupils more than last year, or an enrollment today approaching the 800 mark.

Enrollments at the high schools in the county showing gains as of the latest report furnished the county school superintendent's office, October 15, compared to the same date in 1936, are as follows (the first figure being for 1937): San Juan Capistrano 136, 109; Valencia 150, 123; Brea-Olinda 285, 233; Orange 753, 751; Huntington Beach 708, 629; Laguna Beach 320, 311; Garden Grove 367, 342; Fullerton 2413, 2311; Julia Lathrop junior high school 731, 672; Santa Ana senior high school 1377, 1282; Francis Willard junior high school 1054, 773; Anaheim 1087, 1000; Newport Harbor 475, 423.

Enrollment Oct. 15 at the Willard Evening high school was 1493 and at Lathrop, 960.

Old-Time Actor Taken By Death

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — Austin Webb, 58, once an actor with D. W. Griffith's stage company, died at his home here yesterday. He was Pacific Coast manager for an electrical appliance company for the last 10 years.

After his association with Griffith, Webb toured the country with his own company. He was born in Guyville, Ohio.

Survivors are his widow, Mrs. Elsie Webb, and his mother, Mrs. Emma Webb.

I JUST FOUND OUT— 150 Dogs at City Animal Shelter

By MILLARD BROWNE

Nobody loves 'em. That's why 150 dogs and about the same number of cats are destroyed each month out at the city and county "animal shelter" on North Bristol street.

Ninety per cent of the dogs bundled into the gas chamber and killed by calcium cyanide (the lethal gas used at San Quentin) are female mongrels that no one wants.

The gas chamber isn't the only thing about Santa Ana's dog pound that's like San Quentin. Poundmaster Harold Pickering points out. "Most impounded dogs belonged to people too lazy or selfish to train them properly, and that's about the same thing that sends people up to prison," he philosophizes.

Pickering insists his institution is an animal shelter, definitely not a pound. And while he's on the subject he'll be glad to clear up a few other common misconceptions:

1. A poundmaster is not a person who rides around in a caged truck with a big net to take nice little doggies away from screaming children.

2. The present rabies epidemic is not an epidemic; it's an "epizootic." An epidemic applies only to humans.

3. Pedigreed dogs are pure breeds, not thoroughbreds, which is a term that applies only to horses.

Pickering picks up most dogs on complaint from citizens. Others are just lost—either accidentally or on purpose. If a lost dog has a license tag, the poundmaster delivers it to the address indicated. If not, he keeps it at the shelter several days, waits for the owner, to call.

The shelter has berths for 20 dogs, but the number can be doubled or trebled by crowding in an emergency. Two hundred dogs a month pass through the pound, nearly 40 of them are placed in their original homes or new ones.

Purebred dogs never are killed, unless they're diseased. They invariably can be placed in a local home within a few days. Undesired mongrels are killed if no one calls for them in 72 hours, and all dogs with contagious disease (rabies, distemper, mange, etc.) are disposed of immediately.

Impounded dogs include practically every breed and combination of breeds, ranging from new-born pups to aged beasts that can barely get around. Old dog care for recently was 21 years of age.

Biggest dog ever impounded was a 150-pound great Dane, which was given to a prominent Santa Ana resident two weeks ago. It came from Delhi and the former owner couldn't afford to feed it.

Nearly 70 per cent of the impounded dogs come from nearby Mexican colonies, where owners have been inclined to let female mongrels run loose.

Killing of unwanted dogs isn't as inhumane as it sounds. Pickering explains. Figuring that one-fourth of Santa Ana's dogs are females that average four puppies every six months, the poundmaster estimates the dog population is nearly doubled each year, points out that there's no outlet for such an over-supply.

Pickering says an average of one dog a day is hit by a car. He isn't legally allowed to treat injured animals, so he has to turn them over to local veterinarians. Those killed are taken to a dog cemetery near the city limits where 72 acres of ground

1 AUTOMOBILE PER PERSON PREDICTED

Importance of Road System Stressed

In eight years, there'll be one automobile for every man, woman and child in the state.

This statistical prediction was made yesterday afternoon by Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, in a talk before members of the Lions club.

"Now we have one automobile for every two and a quarter persons," said Kelly. "The national average is only one for every six persons. If automobiles here increase as they have been, in eight years there will be as many cars as people in this state."

Kelly, speaking on phases of his department's work, stressed the growing importance of the state's highway system to industry and the "tourist crop."

Tourists were worth $260,000,000 to the state last year, he said, and will be even more lucrative this year.

Winter sports, he said, are drawing more persons to California, and keeping his department busy maintaining snow-removal equipment for 5000 miles of road.

Five million dollars, he remarked, have been spent on Orange county highways during the five years he has been in office.

While California leads the world in citrus, tourists and climate, Kelly warned, it also leads in traffic deaths. He cited statistics to show that 24 per cent of all fatal accidents here are caused by bad passing, 21 per cent by liquor and 15 per cent by speed.

Kelly, introduced by City Councilman Ernest Layton, praised Santa Ana's new Broadway paving job, which he inspected before coming to the luncheon meeting.

Other guests at the session were Mayor Fred Rowland and City Engineer J. L. McBride.

QUICK CURE
BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — Six-year-old Joseph Peluso's mother feared he had a "rare skin disease" when she rushed him to the emergency hospital.

But the blue spots dotting Joseph's head, back and chest disappeared when Dr. Daniel M. Massey applied alcohol.

"Indelible pencil," was Dr. Massey's diagnosis.

REMEMBERED
GATESVILLE, N. C. — All her life Mariah Smith, ex-slave who claimed to be 107 years old, said: "I hope the white folks stand by me when I die like they always have through my life."

When she died, virtually the entire population of Gatesville attended the funeral. County Judge A. P. Godwin and several white ministers conducted the services. Six white men were pallbearers.

WINDY CITY
CHICAGO — Melvin G. Stephens couldn't find his car which he had parked next to a Loop office building. "Where's my car," he yelled.

A quiet-spoken man answered "right over there," pointing to the Chicago river 175 feet away.

"Who did it?" Stephens shouted, "I'll smack him down."

"The wind," his informant replied.

SANTA WHITE FOX

by SIGRID ARNE

"WHAT IS IT?" SAID SANTA

THE STORY SO FAR: None of Santa's friends in the North Land feel they can help him rescue Helga, the doll, from the dangerous white fox. But then something unexpected happens.

Chapter 11
THE SAILOR DOLL
As Santa and all his friends sat and wondered how to save Helga from the white fox, something strange happened. The toy shop door opened and in flew a little lady no taller than a teaspoon. She had a tiny, bright star tied high on her soft brown hair and her eyes were very blue.

She flew to the arm of Santa's chair and smiled up at him. "Good," said Santa. "I've been wishing for you."

"Yes, I heard you wishing," said the fairy. "So I came. I know what the trouble is."

"Dear me, yes," said Santa. "Have you any ideas?"

The little lady—and I'll tell you who she was—she was the Queen of Fairies—twirled on her toes and laughed so gayly that even Santa, worried as he was, grinned sheepishly.

"Santa, you're a dear," said the Fairy Queen. "You make a doll of the North, and then you expect her to be a simple little toy."

"What do you mean?"

"You heard her say she wanted to go to sea," said the fairy. "She'll never be a Christmas gift."

SONG OF THE SEA SHELL
Santa frowned a minute, and then said, "Maybe you're right."

The fairy smiled up at the ceiling, and from the spot at which she looked in the rafters there fell a small rope ladder down, which scrambled a pert sailor doll. He was brown as a maple leaf in the fall, and his wavy yellow hair had red lights in it. His shoulders were good and square, and he wore a sailor's white shirt and some blue dungarees. He grinned mischievously and reached into his pocket for a tiny sea shell. He listened to it a minute, looked surprised and put it back in his pocket.

Santa simply couldn't control his curiosity.

"What is it?" said Santa.

"Would you like to hear?" asked the sailor.

"Certainly, certainly," said Santa.

GIRL PRODIGY FEATURED ON FEDERAL MUSIC PROGRAM

Gloria Chiappinelli, 13-year-old child genius, will be the featured violinist on the Federal Music project symphony orchestra concert at the high school auditorium next Thursday evening at a program sponsored by the merchants of Santa Ana.

Gloria has been making public appearances with her violin since she was five years of age. Her aid as a "discovery" at that tender age, the youthful artist has since attained a degree of perfection with her violin that elicits brilliant newspaper notices wherever she has been heard.

Leon Eckles, symphony conductor, declares the technique the child exhibits, which is usually acquired only after years of arduous study, places her in the "natural genius" class. She is remarkable for her ability to memorize some of the most difficult compositions almost at first glance, according to Eckles. Four years ago she heard Menuhin's record of "La Capriciosa" in a music store. The following day she was rehearsing it from memory with her accompanist.

Gloria will play one of the major concertos—Mendelssohn's "Concerto in E Minor"—usually performed by mature violinists. Tchaikovsky's powerful "Fourth Symphony" will be performed by the orchestra as well as Bizet's glorious "L'Arlesienne" suite. Tickets for the concert are on sale at the project office, 431 West Third street.

Vernon Home Is Party Setting

Thoroughly charming in every detail was the evening bridge party given last night in her attractive home by Mrs. John J. Vernon. A gay Yuletide motif was carried out, with the red and white color scheme that is so popular during the holiday season.

Individuality was apparent in the colorful crimson sweet peas in crystal vases centering the small dessert tables with their attractive white linens, and in the vivid red roses and tall red tapers which centered the lace-spread dining-room tables. The same lovely flowers from Mrs. Vernon's own garden were elsewhere in the home, making it a gracious setting for the evening's contract.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Harold Maylen, Mrs. Leslie Pearson, Mrs. Charles Rumell and Mrs. Donald Smiley. High score prizes late in the evening went to Mrs. Maylen and Mrs. Rumell, while table prizes were claimed by Mrs. John Turton, Mrs. Curtis Allen, Mrs. Leslie Pearson, Mrs. Coker Rathbone, Jr., and Mrs. R. C. Crouse.

Present for the affair were the Mesdames Lloyd H. Banks, A. R. Montgomery, Charles Rumell, John Turton, M. E. Hagan, Thomas S. Hunter, Leslie Pearson, D. M. Terhune, J. F. Jacoby, C. G. Lippincott, Don Edwards, Frank C. Arnim.

The Mesdames F. A. Burkett, Curtis Allen, Harold Maylen, Ray C. Echols, William Wollaston, R. C. Crouse, Coker Rathbone, Jr., Courtney Chandler, Donald Smiley of Orange, Walter Schmid and E. G. Maier of Garden Grove, and J. Parley Smith of Laguna Beach.

BOARD SESSION, SEWING CIRCLE COMBINED

Gathering in the home of Mrs. Ed Redford, 1327 South Van Ness street, members of the D. A. V. sewing club enjoyed a pot-luck luncheon and afternoon sewing circle and executive board meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Van Leonard Brown, commander, presided over the business session, appointing committees to arrange for a Christmas party for disabled veterans and their families. Mrs. Dean Laub will decorate a Christmas tree, Mrs. William Hutchinson will be in charge of refreshments, Mrs. Mary Fisher is supervising candles, and Mrs. Arthur Nielson is in charge of toys.

Present for Wednesday's meeting were Mrs. Van Leonard Brown, Mrs. Charles Spurrier, Mrs. Olga Wood, Mrs. Frances Thatch, Mrs. Albert Jones, Mrs. Mary Fisher, Mrs. R. M. Crawford, Mrs. Dean Laub, Mrs. Arthur Nielson, Mrs. William Hutchinson, Mrs. James Wyle, Mrs. Harry Pickard, Mrs. David R. Day of Fullerton, and Mrs. Elmer Maxson of Riverside. Special guests were Mrs. Henry Schmidt, Ed Redford, James Wyle, Jr., and Jerry Nielson.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS IN ALLEMAN HOME

Mrs. Herbert Alleman played hostess yesterday, entertaining members of her bridge club in her home, 202 West Eighteenth street, which had been decorated with baskets of poinsettias and red candles.

A dessert course of plum pudding was served to the assembled group, and plans were made for a Christmas party on Dec. 23 in the home of Mrs. Jesse Elliott. Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Ned Hayes with high score and Mrs. Ray Wolven with second.

Mrs. Flake Smith was a special guest, and others present were Mrs. Delbert Liggett, Mrs. Ray Wolven, Mrs. Ned Hayes, Mrs. Don Mozley, Mrs. Olin Turner, Mrs. Jesse Elliott, and Mrs. Alleman.

THIRD TRAVEL GROUP
Ebel's Third Travel section will have its annual Christmas party at 2 p. m. Friday, Dec. 17, in the home of Mrs. Calvin C. Flint, 1827 Heliotrope drive. There will be an exchange of gifts and members are asked to bring one-half pound of candy nuts for the kiddies at the Day Nursery.

FOR TRAVELING LIGHT

Here is a costume that is going places. It combines a traveling frock of blue wool with a swagger coat of blue and gray herringbone stripes. The same stripe pipes the frock which is worn with a rust-colored scarf.

SIX-YEAR-OLD FETED WITH BIG PARTY

Because Mrs. Dallas Reichstein had long ago promised Dallas Frank, Jr. that he could celebrate his sixth birthday on Nov. 24 with all the youngsters from his class at school, she was hostess to 48 kiddies in her home, 235 East St. Andrews street.

All the youngsters attending the party were either from the first grade at Edison school, or special playmates of Dallas'. They played games during the afternoon, then Dallas opened his many pretty gifts.

Refreshments consisting of angel-food cake, vanilla cups, nuts and candy were served to the little guests. Mrs. Reichstein was assisted by Miss Ruthmary Reichstein, Miss Arlene Sorensen, Mrs. Lorene Paris, and Mrs. Bertie Goodwin.

Present for the merry party were Caroline Abernathy, Glenore Adams, Moreta and Patty Duggan, Verna Mae Ewer, Nancy Lou Edge, Eudrey Elbert, Frances Hill, Norma Heinrichs, Marilyn Kirchofer, Gloria Pirsinger, Anne Pollins, Martha Umphenour, John Wakefield, Joan Walworth, Lola Lee VanConperno, Marie Trueman, John Coley.

Beverly Lew Goodwin, Ralph Ellis, Malcolm Fike, Albert Harris, Warren Kuebler, Daniel Murphy, Donn Moomaw, Victor Norton, Gordon Planchon, Wallace Shirley, Bobby Joe Trujillo, Richard Wheeler, Robert Wall, Kenneth Wilburn, David Underwood, Neil Cocroft, Robert and Doris Jean Taylor, Virginia Nielsen, Robert and GailAnn Paris, and the honor guest, Dallas Frank Reichstein, Jr.

ST. PETER'S WOMEN MEET

Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of St. Peter's Lutheran church enjoyed a Christmas program in connection with a regular monthly business meeting this week.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Frieda Hasenyaeger, and the missionary lesson was given by Mrs. Lydia Yetmar, the president. On the program were vocal duets by Mrs. Yetmar and Mrs. Guy Coons, and an interesting playlet.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Schmidt, Mrs. Fred Wahl, Mrs. C. S. Morton, and Mrs. Anna Miller.

Anniversary, Initiation Observed

A 15th birthday celebration was combined with initiation of new members last night to make a special affair of the monthly session of the Young Ladies institute, meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall which had been cleverly decorated for the occasion.

Mrs. Ethelbert Johnson presided over the session, introducing two special guests, Mrs. U. J. Engelmann, district deputy, and Mrs. William LeVecke, institute deputy. Also included in the large attendance were large delegations from the Anaheim and Pomona institutes.

Impressive rites were conducted by the president to initiate 10 into membership of the organization. They include Mrs. Cecilia Kirnes, Mrs. Betty Markel, Miss Virginia Vaughn, Mrs. Bertha Welch, Mrs. Emma Towler, Mrs. Iva Seelye, Mrs. Anna Sullivan, Mrs. Josephine Schuster, Mrs. Jessie Kasper and Mrs. Loretta Haupt.

The K. of C. hall had been decorated with lovely baskets of holly and poinsettias, and one large bouquet of mixed fall flowers was sent by the Anaheim institute. Following the initiation period and initiation, the group adjourned to the dining hall.

Tables were set for the serving of an entree, with the center of each arranged to represent a wintery road. A strip of snowy cotton was flanked by tiny Christmas trees, lighted candles to represent stars, and Santa Claus' sleighs.

A large birthday cake decorated in red and green and bearing 15 candles, was served to the guests.

Announcement was made of plans for the annual Christmas party for the Mexican center sponsored by the Confraternity institute. In charge of last night's charming party were Mrs. Engelmann, chairman, Mrs. Frank Glaab, Mrs. Harry Edward, Mrs. William Faulkner, Mrs. Tom Geisler and Mrs. Katherine Gilham.

MRS. WILSON IS HOSTESS AT PARTY

Mrs. Verne Wilson, a newcomer to Santa Ana, entertained a group of friends in the home of Mrs. Cora Wilson, 810 North Ross street, last evening for a charming pot-luck dinner followed by an informal evening of sewing and card playing.

The hostess used a centerpiece of salmon-colored sweet peas on the dining room table, from which the dinner was served buffet style. During the evening, the members drew names for a gift exchange scheduled for the group's Christmas party in the home of Miss Henrietta Kurup, West Chapman street, Orange, on Dec. 23.

Included in the group were Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Albert McKel, Mrs. Alex Clark, Mrs. Robert Schwarm, Miss Nadene Johnson, Miss Henrietta Rurup, Miss Frances Crowther, Miss Margaret Blackwood, Miss Edna Wilson, Miss Marguerite Danni, Miss Melva Thorpe, and the hostess, Mrs. Wilson.

D. U. V. CHOOSE OFFICERS FOR NEXT TERM

Election of new officials for the coming term was the principal business yesterday afternoon when past presidents of Sarah Rounds tent, Daughters of Union Veterans, gathered in the home of Mrs. Nellie Parker, Yorba street, Tustin.

Guests were seated at a table decorated attractively with tall Christmas tapers, little trees, red Santa nut cups, and a lovely centerpiece of silver and red tinsel. A delicious turkey dinner was served to the assembled group.

Mrs. Lena Barrett was elected president to head the group for the ensuing term, to be assisted by Mrs. Addie Gardner as vice president, and Mrs. Esther Gardner, secretary-treasurer.

The committee which arranged yesterday's luncheon was Mrs. Nellie Parker, Mrs. Louane Leach, Mrs. May Thomas, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, Mrs. Bertha Belt, Mrs. Floss Labounty, and Mrs. Carrie Smith.

Philosopher Comes To Ebell

With neither cult nor sect nor institution behind him, Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, foremost American philosopher and lecturer, will address the Ebell club of the Santa Ana valley next Monday at 2 p. m.

Dr. Griggs is a university graduate, a student, and has traveled everywhere. His claim to fame lies in a remarkably fluent tongue and pen and a brilliant, decisive mind, which finds outlet in the inspiration of people. He was graduated early from professorships (having held the first chair of ethics at Stanford university) because of the increasing demand for him as a public teacher.

He has published well over a dozen recognized treatises on philosophy, and his repertoire of lectures surpasses the one hundred mark, according to Mrs. Roy Shaffer, program chairman of Ebell.

"What Is Progress? A Study of Civilization," has been selected by the local group for Dr. Griggs to speak on, and the program is anticipated as being one of the intellectual highlights of the Ebell season.

HONOLULU TRIP PLANNED BY MRS. KOENIG

Mrs. Remus Koenig, 1109 North Broadway, is anticipating a busy holiday month. She will be joined for Christmas day by her son Remus, Jr., who will fly down from San Francisco for the weekend.

The following week her brother, Walter Krueger of Two Rivers, Wis., will arrive to spend a week with his sister and his niece, Miss Evelyn Hering. On January eighth, he and Mrs. Koenig will sail for Honolulu where they will lease an apartment for the remainder of the winter season.

Before her guests arrive Mrs. Koenig is entertaining many small groups of friends at informal luncheon parties with the next on her calendar being a bridge eightsome December eighteenth.

MRS. SCHAFFER ENTERTAINS AT COUNTRY CLUB

Glowing autumn tones and a sparkling cheerful fire lent warmth and graciousness to the Santa Ana Country Club yesterday when Mrs. Ludy Schaffer of Lyons street entertained a dozen friends at luncheon and bridge.

Her guest list comprised members of the "Coterie" club which meets each month, and all of whom live in Anaheim.

Enjoying the pleasant affair were Mrs. William Lake, Mrs. Ed Schneider, Mrs. Henry Heying, Mrs. M. R. Harrison, Mrs. Herman Schindler, Mrs. R. P. Wheeler, Mrs. M. B. Tomblin, Mrs. Walter Sander, Mrs. R. L. Cox, Mrs. Mary Heying, and Mrs. W. M. Rommel.

TWO LUNCHEONS ARE ENJOYED

Woman's club activities of this week included a pleasant and constructive session of the Homecraft section at the home of Mrs. E. A. Elwell, and a foundation of Mrs. E. J. Grothier.

The former affair featured a potluck luncheon and a gift exchange before the group's usual work, and the latter affair was purely social, in the attractive new Grothier home at 804 Spurgeon street.

First and second high score prizes went to Mrs. F. A. Martin and Mrs. L. E. Tarbox. Others present were Mrs. G. N. Coon, Mrs. R. A. McMahon, Mrs. Ray Walters, Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. Earl Lepper and Mrs. George Wright.

"Ex-Sucker" Is Answered by Local Man Who Admires Wholesome Womanhood

And still the letters come in answering the accusations of "Jack," "Ex-Sucker" and "Fred" against all women. They believe that it is always the women who do the dirty tricks, and that all the preying women want is money and clothes. Our letter today comes from a man who has full faith in womankind. Dear Miss Stoddard: I have just read the letter of the Ex-Sucker, and present holder of the title of the town's foremost egotistical tightwad. Any woman that would be seen on the streets of Santa Ana, or any other town, with a piker like you, ought to be sent to a house for the feeble minded. If you had the brains of an angle worm, you would not include those things that hang around cocktail bars and moomch drinks from strangers with the clean, wholesome women that Santa Ana may well be proud of.

You probably are the kind that changes five dollars into fifty cent pieces to stand on the corners trying to look and sound like a millionaire.

Why else would a woman go with a two-for-a-nickel sport like you? Surely you don't expect your lady friends to sit around and listen to your vivid descriptions of what a prize package you are. Because anyone reading your letter can readily see that the only person you are the kind for the city sanitary department to haul away.

In closing, I want to say you are a disgrace to the male species and may the Lord help the woman that marries you, thinking she is marrying a man! You have so far to go that you'll never make the grade. Sincerely,

A MAN THAT ADMIRES WHOLESOME WOMANHOOD.

AMBER CIRCLE LUNCHEON, GIFT EXCHANGE

When members of the Amber circle met yesterday noon, they enjoyed a delightful luncheon served at Daniger's cafe, later adjourning to the Masonic temple for an afternoon of bridge, highlighted by an exchange of Christmas gifts.

A short business session opened the meeting at the temple and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing or playing auction or contract. Mrs. Leona Miller won the prize for her sewing and Mrs. Blackburn and Mrs. Bond won guest prizes in contract and auction, respectively.

Mrs. Katherine Reid won high, and Mrs. Bertha Barry second in contract, while Mrs. Frances Brooks and Mrs. Clara Seaver won the awards in auction.

Mrs. Vera Jacoby and Mrs. Eleanor Waldron were in charge of distributing gifts. Mrs. Marie Beisel headed the hostess committee for the day, assisted by Mrs. Leota Allen, Mrs. Frances Brooks, Mrs. Amber Burke, Mrs. Beulah Brightwell, Mrs. Zada Berry, Mrs. Helen Wallace, Mrs. Mary Jones, Mrs. Helen Hildreth, Mrs. C. F. Murphy and Mrs. Margaret Church.

Lectures On Juvenile Books

Stressing the importance of careful consideration of books for children, Mrs. Zenna Serrurier, teacher at Thomas Edison Junior High school in Los Angeles, was an extremely interesting speaker at last night's regular meeting of the Orange county branch of the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Serrurier analyzed closely the present trend in young people's books, and made the interesting comment that too much fact and not enough fiction is supplied (outside of the books for very young children). She herself plans to take a leave of absence from teaching during the coming year, and will seek to remedy the deficiency.

She pointed out that literature should provide the same four reactions in children that it should in adults—that it should give a vicarious experience, information, escape from reality and relaxation.

Development of taste and judgment in children were also stressed by the speaker, who declared that a sense of discrimination cannot be developed by keeping all poor books away from the child. On the contrary, books of all types would be supplied him so that he may develop a selective sense.

At a business meeting presided over by Miss Mabel Whiting, president, Miss Ethel Walker reported on a recent conference on adult education she had attended, and Miss Whiting reported on a number of meetings she had attended in official capacity.

There will be a board meeting Dec. 22, and the next regular meeting Jan. 13 will be the group's annual Fellowship meeting, with an A. A. U. W. Fallow, Dr. Gripenberg of Finland, scheduled as speaker. Her topic will be "Women of Finland," and at a dinner earlier, she will discuss the work at La Jolla Marine laboratory, with which she is now associated.

Including the interesting meeting were a number of interesting exhibits, including a showing of dolls of all nations by Mrs. Frank Burke, and a number of original drawings by Dorothy Lathrop. Refreshments were served by Lillian Dickson, Mabel McFadden, and Eleanor Metzgar.

RANKIN STORE TO HAVE PARTY

J. H. Rankin, with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rankin will entertain employees of the Rankin store at a Christmas dinner party in the Y. W. C. A. rooms Friday evening, beginning at 6 o'clock.

In the year's sales contest, the "Silvers" winners of the first half, chose to serve the dinner to 90 guests. They are captained by Mrs. Marie Fowler. The "Gold" side, headed by Welcome Sievers, will furnish the entertainment, including decorations, a tree, gift exchange, singing and other features.

Girl Scout Naturalist Questions

1. Do you know what the hairs on corn are?

2. Do you know what insect is valuable in combating the Gypsy moth?

3. Do you know what Cairngorm is?

4. Do you know how some bees carry pollen to the hive?

The Brownies of Pack One welcomed a new Tawny Owl into the pack last week. She is Miss Blanche Ivins. A Christmas craft was started, although it is all a secret as to just what is under way.

All Girl Scouts and leaders of Santa Ana are invited to meet with Petaga, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Price, for an hour of nature fun at the First Methodist church, 317 East Sixth street, in the social hall from 3:30 until 4:30 p. m. on Friday, Dec. 10.

Three cheers for troop four! They have registered on time and are happily welcoming their new lieutenant, Mrs. Arthur Nise-wanger.

Troop three and four are very busy making Christmas gifts and decorations with liquid cellophane, paint, wood, and yarn. Troop meetings this week were exciting with plans for hikes and parties.

Troop three is announcing a Christmas party for Dec. 13, from 7 until 9 at the Riverine Little House.

An enjoyable dinner at the home of Roseann Griggs was enjoyed by the junior high patrol of troop one on the evening of Dec. 6. A business meeting followed the dinner. New officers were elected. They are as follows: Marilyn Munsell, patrol leader; Dorothy Dennis, assistant patrol leader. A set program was planned, including work on first class tests. Those will include judging of height and weight, signalling, etc.

Those present were Peggy Ames, Dorothy Dennis, Roseann Griggs, Louise Haven, Jean McWilliams, Marilyn Munsell, and Ruane Neighbor.

Leaders were Bethel Haven, Irene Noble, Mrs. R. R. Russick, and Mrs. George Stinson.

A group meeting with Miss Margaret Lyman to learn Christmas songs on Dec. 2 learned "The First Noel," "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen," and "The Good King Wenceslas."

Members from troop one were La Rene Brichey, Louise Haven, and Sarah Jane Haven.

Those present from troop six were Patty Bradley, Ethelwynne Davis, Constance Elliot, Beverly Givens, Elaine Harlow, Maxine Hill, Patsy Hunter, Barbara McFadden, Connie Murane, Barbara Neff, Carolyn Spicer, Marion Stinson, Natalie Waldron, Marilyn Yost.

KVOE

Notes of interest for the local audience. These program notes are in addition to the Mutual Network feature on KVOE, broadcast above in Tom E. Danson's column.

Remember The Journal broadcast: News every day at 8:30 a. m.; 12:30 p. m.; 4:30 p. m.; 7:30 p. m.; 11:30 p. m. Chas. A. Webb, Betty—Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 11:30 a. m.

David Broekman, conductor of the KVOE-Don Lee musical program, "Presenting David Broekman," will feature highlights of the past 13 weeks' presentations on his concluding broadcast of the series, to be heard tonight at 7 o'clock.

Orchestral specialty will be a Mexican melody of "Jarabe," "Es-trellita," and "Cielito Lindo."

Baritone Jimmy Newell will offer "Danny Boy" and Verdi's "Credo" from "Otello." Jo Stafford, feminine songstress of the program, will sing out on "Let 'Er Go" and the old blues favorite, "The Man I Love."

For the finale of the program Broekman will conduct his orchestra in a special arrangement of "Two Guittars."

The talented young jaycee students, Kenneth Akin, Jack Lightheart and Edna Walker, will offer a selection of Victor Herbert favorites as arranged by Harold Sanford during the Santa Ana jaycee string trio program on KVOE this evening at 5:15. A few of the selections include "March of the Toys," "Because You're You," "I'm Falling in Love With Someone," "Gypsy Love Song" and "Kiss Me Again."

Arthur Godfrey, wies-cracking Washingtonian whose songs, patterns and gags have won him a nationwide following, will be the new star of the variety program which is heard Fridays on KVOE tonight at 8:15. Godfrey replaces Mary Jane Walsh, radio's singing Cinderella who works in the new Geo. M. Cohan musical, "I'd Rather Be Right," which compels her to forego radio commitments for the time being.

Godfrey was heard a few seasons back in the transcontinental daytime series, "Metropolitan Parade."

KVOE's Saturday program schedule returns to normalcy tomorrow, with the ending of the football season. Cecil and Sally, regularly scheduled at 12 noon through the week, but irregularly on Saturdays, will be heard at the same time Monday through Saturday. Tomorrow noon's broadcast will find the whole family on a train, headed for a "summer" vacation, despite the present season. Complications begin as soon as they board the train.

The KVOE-Journal news broadcast will also be heard at the regular afternoon times tomorrow: 12:30 and 4:30.

France Fails Again To Pay War Debts

WASHINGTON, (AP)—France defaulted again yesterday on its war debt to the United States.

In a formal note presented to the state department, the Paris government announced its inability to pay its $455,009,163 installment due Dec. 15.

At the same time, the French note renewed its assurances that it desires to seek a settlement of the debt question "as soon as a satisfactory development of the situation will permit."

Of 13 debtors whose semi-annual payments fall due this month, Finland alone has continued to meet its installments promptly.

3 Seek Divorce From Same Wife

LONG BEACH, (AP)—Three men asked legal freedom today from one wife.

In a divorce complaint, Richard Sorenson alleged Patricia L. Sorenson married him, Sam Paul Gaffney and Earl Vernon Holloway within 11 months.

Gaffney's annulment action said he was not of age when he went through a ceremony at Bremerton, Wash., last May 26.

Holloway's annulment suit said the defendant was the undivorced wife of Sorenson and Gaffney when she became his bride here last Sept. 6 under the name of Bertie L. Smith.

Cuba Tonight By Short Wave

By TOM DANSON

• If a radio address to the United States, President Laredo Bru, of the Republic of Cuba, will discuss the state of the nation over the Mutual network through the short-wave facilities of station WLVJ tonight.

The Don Lee studios will pick up the broadcast and re-transmit it over its own facilities to affiliated stations of the network on a Tom E. Danson program which will come to KVOE dialers at 9:15.

President Bru's address is one of a series of four programs which have been arranged in Cuba in conjunction with the Havana visit of the International Radio club. More than 100 members of this organization are in Cuba at the present time.

Sharing the spotlight on this program with President Bru will be Colonel Fulgencio Batista, commander-in-chief of the Cuban army.

• Under the direction of Dr. John Henry Lyons, the 80-voiced Pasadena Boys choir will present the third in a series of Christmas broadcasts over KFI, tonight at 5:00 p. m.

The boys are members of the Pasadena City schools chorus of 300 young voices, chosen by Dr. Lyons for their brilliant work during the past three years. On Friday they will offer the following program:

In Dulci Jubilo, German folk song, Jerry Wilson, soloist; Holly and the Ivy, old French carol, Bennett Clark, Joseph Hansen, soloists; Away in a Manger, 15th century hymn; Fairest Lord Jesus, German hymn; Angels We Have Heard on High, from Latin chorale.

• So recent is the G-men's erasure of the Al Brady gang in Maine, that it has never been dramatized. Tonight at 7:45 p. m. over KECA, Detective Nick Harris will disclose the exclusive story of the gang and its "molls," which came to violent end via Federal bullets.

Title of the drama, starring Ernie Adams, is "Gangsters' Wives." The story reveals the first time, the tragic events that befell two girls, waitresses, who joined up with a pair of "strangers." The strangers turned out to be gunmen of the most vicious nature, but the two girls were so far involved they could not escape the tools of crime. Detective Harris obtained the story first hand from an acquaintance in New York.

• "Music from Hollywood" featuring Alice Faye, leading songstress of the films, and Hal Kemp's lively orchestra will provide another half hour of music typical of Hollywood in their program "Music from Hollywood" over the KNX Columbia network tonight from 8:30 to 9:00 p. m. Miss Faye will sing songs which have been featured in leading film musicals of the past and present as well as probable hits from forthcoming ones. As usual, Miss Faye's vocals will be supplemented with the solos of Skinny Ennis, Bob Allen and Saxie Dowell of Kemp's band.

• "Adventures of 'Stray Hollister'" continue on KEHE. Interested listeners following the exciting adventures of "Stray Hollister," the lovable Western character, are being thrilled nightly by each new situation which arrives in the story of this colorful career. The story of "Stray Hollister" is presented on KEHE Monday through Friday nights at 6:15 p. m.

• All-star cast on "Hollywood Hotel" as Sally Ellers, Joseph Schildkraut, Neil Hamilton, and Marcia Mae Jones will be heard previewing scenes from the picture "The Lady Misbehaves," when they appear as guest stars of "Hollywood Hotel" during the nationwide broadcast over KNX, tonight from 6:00 to 7:00 p. m. The story revolves around Paula, played by Miss Ellers, who tries to save her sister from a bigamy charge and finds herself in love with the second husband. The musical revue in the "Orchid Room" will bring before the microphone Jerry Cooper, Anne Jamison, Ken Niles, and Raymond Paige's orchestra with Ken Murray and Oswald.

Francis Langford, who has been making a personal appearance in New York, may return to the program on this day.

YULE MOTIF CARRIED OUT

Martha Washington club members had a particularly pleasant meeting this week in the home of Mrs. Sarah House, who was assisted in serving luncheon by her sister, Miss Ruth Welfelt of Long Beach.

Sewing and conversation occupied the afternoon hours in rooms prettily decorated in the holiday manner. Present were the Mesdames Millie West, Maymie Zimmerman, Mae Curtis, Bess McDonald, Florence Summersville, Jennie Prevost, Inez Baker, Pauline Decker, Ruth Zabel, Hattie Peters, and Elizabeth Jernigan. Mrs. Jernigan will hostess the group on Dec. 22.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison, 510 East Fifth street, has just returned from an eastern trip. She visited with relatives in Milwaukee, and saw many points of interest throughout the United States during her six months' absence.

Mrs. Minnie Cole, 705 South Sycamore street, is visiting for a few days with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Roman and son Donald, in Alhambra.

TWO SECTIONS HAVE YULE CELEBRATIONS

By ROBBIN COONS

Two sections of the women's societies from the First Congregational church met Wednesday to celebrate their annual Christmas parties, and to discuss the annual dinner to the church to be held in the junior auditorium Jan. 5.

Mrs. N. A. Beals was hostess to the Northeast section in her home, 1016 French street, with 12 members and three guests present. Mrs. Beals served light refreshments to the group, with Mrs. Perry F. Schrock pouring tea. Members worked on their own Christmas pieces during the afternoon.

The Southwest section met in the home of Mrs. Florence Hicks at 528 South Parton street, later being taken in cars to the Balboa island home of Hugh Hicks where they were served a delicious New England dinner as a surprise event. Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. A. D. Hoenshelt were the hostesses.

Guests at the latter affair were Mrs. Earl T. Bishop, Mrs. Will Hutton, Mrs. Jenny Mead, Mrs. Gale Smith, Mrs. Will Hoffman, Mrs. W. L. Davis, Mrs. A. B. Berger, Mrs. Aubert Shams, Mrs. Clara Woodhouse, and Miss Minnie Haaty, leader of the group.

If You Want it Warmer, Raise The Mercury

KEWANEE, Wis. (AP)—Joe Houdek, inventor of the dual-steering system for back seat drivers (which wasn't supposed to work), is convinced there is close connection between imagination and temperature.

When Joe complained of the heat and opened the door Adolph looked at the thermometer and laughed. Without Adolph's knowledge Joe had "fixed" the thermometer so it registered 78, where Adolph liked it.

Now Adolph is happy, sans heavy underwear and socks.

Desks Treated Rough by Girl Students

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP)—Girls give school desks more severe treatment than boys, while older students do more carrying on their desks than those in the primary grades, say National Youth administration workers, who are repairing furniture in the Indianapolis public schools.

Desks and chairs in lecture rooms carry revealing case histories, the workers say. Many persons who have carved their names in the desks are prominent in civic and state affairs.

Hollywood Sights, Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

If you've ever wondered how you look when you're asleep, you should come to Hollywood where the candid cameras delight in telling you—if you're an actor.

The candid lenses would like to let the actresses know how they look, too, but it isn't glamorous—unless it's properly posed, and then it isn't candid. You couldn't get a shot of a feminine star like that of John Barrymore (above), who snoozes peacefully between scenes on the set. But it's all right to show Basil Rathbone (left) or Henry Fonda (below) enjoying a noon-day siesta.

Canada Moves Cattle From Drought Areas

CALGARY, Alta. (AP)—Between 12,000 and 15,000 head of cattle have been moved from Alberta drought areas this year under the federal feeder-freight program, it was estimated by livestock men here.

Under the plan the government refunds purchasers 50 per cent of all freight charges on cattle moved from the dry areas to other Alberta districts or outside the province.

Men, Women to Sit Together in Tokyo Theaters

TOKYO, (American Wire)—December 12 will be a thrilling day in the life of theater-goers here. Men and women can then sit anywhere they want, according to an announcement of the metropolitan police board. Since 1921 men have been required to find seats on the right side and women on the left side, when unaccompanied.

Electric Eel Has Voltage of 500

NEW YORK, (AP)—(American Wire)—An eel develops enough voltage to run the electric lights of a home if it could be connected, according to a report by Prof. Robert T. Cox of New York university and Robert S. Mathews of the New York aquarium. The scientists recently returned from a study of eels conducted in Para, Brazil. A yard-long eel can produce 500 volts, they discovered.

ODDS AND ENDS

University of Hawaii vs. Santa Ana Jaycee in football at the Municipal bowl next season?

The Islanders, who are coming over to play Denver in '38, might be interested in a practice game with our Dons.

Art Stranske, former Santa Ana High school star now full-backing at Hawaii, believes such a game could be arranged. It certainly would be a unique drawing card, and he urges Cook to get in touch with the university's athletic department.

How about it, Bill?

Leave it to Cook to arrange an attractive schedule. Already he is angling not only for a return game with the Stanford Frosh, but with the University of California yearlings as well.

Henry McLemore, nationally-known sports columnist; G. A. (Tex.) Oliver, University of Arizona coach; and Leo Calland, San Diego State mentor, have been invited to speak at the Dons' annual football banquet in the Masonic temple at 6:30 p. m. next Wednesday.

Three hundred fans (women and men alike) are expected to pay tribute to the junior collegians. Reservations should be made at the junior college or Vic Walker's by 1 p. m. next Tuesday.

University of Southern California, which dropped four games this fall and was a mere also-ran, nevertheless was FIRST in the nation in home football attendance. More than 337,000 fans saw the Trojans in action at the Coliseum. California's customers as compared to 256,000 last year. Stanford attracted 140,000 as compared with 94,944 last season.

FOOTBALL CLUB PLANS AWARD

NEW YORK. (AP)—There'll be another post-season football award to hand out when the 1938 season closes, the Touchdown club award to the individual who has rendered an unusual service or made an outstanding contribution of permanent value to the game.

The Touchdown club, an organization of former college football players, announced plans for the award at its fourth annual dinner meeting last night, at which Carl Snively and Hooks Mylin, Cornell and Lafayette coaches, spoke.

G. Herbert McCracken, former Lafayette coach who heads the award committee of the club, said "the terms of the award will be elastic, but the standards rigid and high. Acts of outstanding sportsmanship, unselfish efforts of individuals toward preserving the spirit of football, elevating the tone of the game, increasing the safety of players, improving technical play, and any one of these may bring about the award."

Although England insists on some official recognition or ceremony to validate a marriage, Scottish law has preserved the rule that mere interchange of consent is sufficient.

TROJAN FIVE WINS, 64-41

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (AP)—Southern California's barnstorming basketball team got off to a fast start last night by outscoring the New Mexico Aggies, 64 to 41.

The Trojans will play the Aggies again tonight before leaving on the next leg of their trip through the southwest.

A fast-breaking offense gave the west coast cagers a 28-20 lead at the half. Their tight defense forced the Aggies to try most of their shots from deep in the court.

High-point honors of 17 each were shared by Kiko Martinez of New Mexico and Vaughn of Troy. Other Trojans who scored were Rub, 6; Goodrich, 2; Watson, 4; Anderson, 16; Sears, 14; and McGavin, 2.

The greatest number of tropical storms in the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean sea and the Atlantic ocean recorded for any one year was 21 in 1933. The lightest hurricane year was 1890 with only one.

FOURTEEN-CLUB RULE GIVEN TEST IN MIAMI OPEN GOLF

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—More than 200 golfers, including some of the nation's best, teed off today in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore Open in their first duel with old man par under the 14-club rule.

Hitherto they have been able to use as many and as varied weapons as they liked, but tournament officials decided to give the United States Golf association's 14-club limit a tryout three weeks in advance of its effective date, Jan. 1.

Under the rule players must use the same 14 clubs they start with, said Fred Cocoran, P. G. A. tournament manager, who obtained an interpretation from the U. S. G. A. Harold W. Pierce of Boston, chairman of the U. S. G. A. championship committee, telegraphed, "replacements may be made only if a club is rendered unfit for play and then may only be replaced by an identical club."

The limitation appeared to have little effect on some of the sharpshooters who consistently dropped par in practice.

Dick Metz of Lake Forest, Ill., turned in three sub-par cards in as many rounds, adding a four-under-par 67 yesterday to previous rounds of 69 and 70.

Ed Oliver of Wilmington, Del., breezed around in 68 in his final practice round. Jimmy Hines of Garden City, L. I., and Jack Toomer of Wayneville, N. C., had 69's.

Clubhouse circles installed Harry Cooper and Ralph Guldahl, last year's winner, as co-favorites at 8 to 1. Metz, who was rated at 20 to 1 a few days ago, was ranked among the stronger contenders at 12 to 1 after his par-cracking practice rounds.

The tournament is 72 holes medal play. The field will be trimmed to 60 after the first 36 holes.

SEVEN NEW PLAYERS OBTAINED BY ANGELS FOR '38 SEASON

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—At least seven new faces will be in the Los Angeles baseball club for the 1938 Pacific Coast league pennant race.

Dave Fleming, president of the club, and William Jordan, business manager, brought this information with them after attending Eastern baseball meetings.

Fleming said the Los Angeles team is still in need of a catcher and a third baseman. The Angel president found few available players on the market, declaring that only a few of the major league clubs are making trades, and then only among themselves.

New players obtained by Los Angeles are: Ed Chiochick, shortstop, from Birmingham, in a straight trade for Kenny Richardson; Paul Carpenter, outfielder, purchased from the New York Giants; John F. Phillips, Milton Galtzer, outfielder, and Sigmund Jakucki, right-handed pitcher, from New Orleans in a trade for Russell Evans, Earl Overman and Cleo Carlyle, and Gene Lillard, third baseman and pitcher, released by the Chicago Cubs on option.

Connecticut is called the "nutmeg state" because of an alleged practice of some early citizens of manufacturing and selling wooden nutmegs as genuine.

NEGRO STOPS RODRIQUEZ ON 101 MAT

By FRANK FISKE

A very slippery, deceptive gentleman of color called the Black Panther last night spent the greater part of 27 minutes and 42 seconds in apparently painful positions on the arena mat at the Orange County Athletic club. During the greater part of that period he looked more like an under dog than a panther while the light-heavyweight champion of Mexico sort of pushed him around. Then all of a sudden the Mexican bone crusher found himself in a huddle of hands and feet, with his shoulders pinned to the canvas.

The Panther was deceptive. He was even more subtle and malicious in the second spasm of belly rolls, winning his point in 9 minutes and 7 seconds. This time while the Mexican, Carlos Rodriguez, had him all tied up in a maze of arm-locks and things.

The negro's straight-fall victory highlighted the evenings festivities. The first fall was accomplished with what the Panther told the newspaper men was a "European crab lock." The trick of this hold seems to be to decide whose arms and legs belong to whom, and the Panther guessed right first.

The tussle between "Wild Red" Berry and Monty La Due, scheduled as the main event, was rather cast into the shadow by the spectacular drama of the Panther and Rodriguez. It produced a better grade of teeth-grashing and made a little more work for Bull Montana, the referee, but was otherwise just ordinary wrestling, with the Berry taking two straight falls from the Galle menace.

In the prelims Popeye O'Brien took Duke Pettigrove in 13 minutes and 27 seconds, and Pete Belcastro finished Sailor Olson in 19 minutes and 37 seconds with a leg split.

NEW YORK. (AP)—The rampaging Washington Redskins, who play the Chicago Bears Sunday at Chicago for the national professional football title, offer a striking example of the new order in the money game, as distinguished from the rough and ready days ago.

Mostly they're just youngsters, in there to enjoy a little more football and make themselves a quick stake before embarking on a business career. They're still full of the old college fight and enthusiasm.

"There's been a great change in the last few years," says their coach, Ray Flaherty. "I would rather coach this bunch of fellows than any college team in the country. They are smart, there isn't a swelled head in the bunch, and they have spirit. Some of the old-timers used to be trouble makers. There's no room for them any more."

The Redskins have out-grown fist fighting on the field. In the heat of last Sunday's game here in which the Washingtons routed the Giants, 49 to 14, for the Eastern league title, Les Olson, big Redskins guard, caught a fist smack in his mouth. The blow loosened a half-dozen teeth, and he was raging. He didn't know who had cracked him, though, and he couldn't find out.

"Sure, I saw this guy clout him," admitted the huge "Turk" Edwards, captain of the Redskins later. "But I wouldn't tell him who it was. Les would have tried to kill him and got kicked out of the game. We couldn't afford to lose him right then, because he was opening up some important holes for Cliff Battles to run through."

The social tone of the money game has risen remarkably, too. The Redskins stayed at the Westchester club near Rye, N. Y., on their last visit here, and that isn't exactly a fight camp. There was a sign inside Sammy Baugh's comfortable little room pointing out that it could be taken on a monthly basis at the bargain rate of $350.

They're a quiet crew off the field, and mannerly. The methods of hazing newcomers to the league squads have been gentled down. Nothing rough; just sufficient to let the incoming all-Americans know they aren't campus heroes any longer.

A favorite method is to make the freshmen on the payroll get up before the entire team every few nights and sing or recite. "But if that doesn't do the trick, of course we have a few other little things we can do," said the informant. "An all-America fullback can look mighty silly if he doesn't get good blocking. He catches on quick."

MELBOURNE. (AP)—Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath of Australia today defeated Donald Budge and Gene Mako of the United States, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5, in the men's doubles final of the Victorian tennis tournament.

Budge had shoulder trouble which prevented him from serving at a fast pace. McGrath was the outstanding player.

Adrian Quist and Donald Durnbull, defending titleholders, were eliminated in an early round.

DORIS LIKED FOR POST AT MICHIGAN

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK. (AP)—The football wolves, who start howling about this time every year for nice juicy portions of coaches' scalps, don't figure to do much eating this winter.

They're enjoying a full meal, at the moment, in Harry Kipke, Michigan's "ex," but aside from him, and possibly a few others, such as Harry Mehr, who already has resigned at Georgia, the "choice" morsels probably will be few and far between.

The general impression around and about seems to be that if the Wolves want to howl—well, let 'em. Take Clark Shaughnessy at Chicago, for instance. It's been many a day since the Maroon made any kind of showing against big time gridiron rivals. But no one at Chicago is making any passes at Clark. He appears as safe as the Bank of England.

NO RUMORS AFLOAT

Three of the major conferences, the Southwest, Big Six and Rocky Mountain, so far are standing pat on what they have. And in the Big Ten, aside from Kipke, the pilots have no immediate cause for worry. There are few, if any rumors, afloat.

Michigan may follow up by swinging the ax at Kipke's staff of assistants, notably Line Coach Hunk Anderson, provided the next mentor, whoever he may be, says so. General conjecture as to Kipke's successor mentions Gus Dorais, Detroit's highly successful pilot; Irwin Uterzi, former Michigan quarterback, now assisting at California; and (as a dark horse) Benny Friedman, Michigan's former passing great, who has just wound up a satisfactory season at City college of New York.

On the Pacific coast, no immediate changes appear in prospect, but there's talk galore. The reports have to do with Oregon, where Prince Callison's contract has not yet been renewed; Southern California, where you hear rumors of a possible shakeup involving Howard Jones, and U. C. L. A., where Bill Spaulding outfit won only two games of a nine-game schedule. Student factions on the Oregon campus recently have been criticizing the poor showings of Callison's teams during the last two or three seasons, while at Southern California, the talk persists that changes are in prospect after Jones' contract expires in March.

REDONDO TRIPS MILLS' FIVE

With a clever shooting center peppering the basket for 29 points, Santa Ana's Woolen Mills basketball team dropped a free-scoring game to the Redondo Beach Eagles, 44 to 32, last night at the Y. M. C. A.

The beach club held an 18-10 advantage at the half and was never seriously threatened by the Mill gagers, although Doug Wheeler sank 15 and Tom Lacy netted 10 points. Quentin Matzen's club has two engagements next week, playing the San Juan Capistrano Town team Monday night there and the U. S. S. Tennessee quintet here Thursday.

When the Oklahoma City university football team held its annual banquet, the players presented Coach Toby Greene with a traveling bag. . . . of course, that had nothing to do with the fact that the team lost nine of its 10 games this year.

Nobody in beantown will admit it, but there's every reason to believe Jimmy Fox is definitely in on the market. . . . "Recession" or no, the New York hockey Rangers pulled in 70,732 for the first five home games this year, against 48-732 customers for their first five last season. . . . Dick Barker has coached wrestling at Cornell college in Iowa for 16 years, but in all that time not one of his pupils (in the 175-pound class) has been able to toss the old maestro, although he defends his title against them annually.

Too bad about Harry Kipke, but it wasn't unexpected. . . . Coast scries say California's 1937 wonder team could have compiled one of the highest scoring records in history if it hadn't been against Coach Stub Allison's policy not to humiliate beaten teams. . . . Four crack West Virginia high school backs may be wearing Notre Dame frosh uniforms next season.

They say George Abrams, Washington middleweight, who has won 11 consecutive fights, although less than a year out of the amateurs, is going places. . . . Pal Moran, the old lightweight, who used to bet as high as $500 on a single race at the fair grounds in New Orleans, now works as a runner at $5 per day at the same track. . . . Benny Lynch, the flyweight champ, is o. k. again after getting his head smashed in an auto accident in England recently. . . . Ray Trail, Syracuse freshman harrier star, is a full-blooded Mohawk Indian. . . . Vernon Kennedy, White Sox pitcher, lived in a trailer during the Sox home stays last summer.

'OUT OF LUCK'

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—California citizens who have requested Rose Bowl tickets from a block of ducaats assigned Alabama are out of luck, Jeff Coleman, University of Alabama business manager said. The tickets he will receive will be hardly enough to take care of the Alabama fans, he said.

BEATTY FIVE PERFORMS AT TUSTIN

Rallying their forces for a final stand before Chaffey's Southern California J. C. basketball tournament next Friday, Santa Ana Junior college's quintet takes the floor at 8 o'clock tonight bent on regaining some lost prestige against the Pacific Coast club of Long Beach in Tustin High school's gymnasium. There will be 25 cents for admission.

Don reserves and Patterson's Dairy of the Y. M. C. A. league hook up in the preliminary at 7 o'clock.

Fourteen of the southland's leading jaycee cage teams are booked to enter the Ontario tournament, with the Dons given a better than even chance to show up well in spite of three straight losses since they held the M. G. M. studio club.

Blanchard Beatty's lineup will be headed by the all-out-of-state club which has held down first-string jobs from the first. Charles Hall and Harold (Chuck) Barrett will be stationed at forward.

Big Cy Levernman will operate at center on offense and guard on defense. Del Holan, Kenneth Marshall and Verne Rutledge are battling for the guard posts.

The coast club will bring one of the fastest and sharpest breaking quintets in Southern California to the Tustin pavilion.

Hutchinson of Maher of the club team will be the biggest threats to the Dons. Both are deadly shots at the basket. Hutchinson performed for Whittier college last year, while Maher was a freshman at U. S. C. Longbeach will open at the other forward, with Horton and Bamu starting at guard. Rod Ballard, former Santa Ana Star nightball player, is a substitute.

BERGLUND AND BETTINA MIX

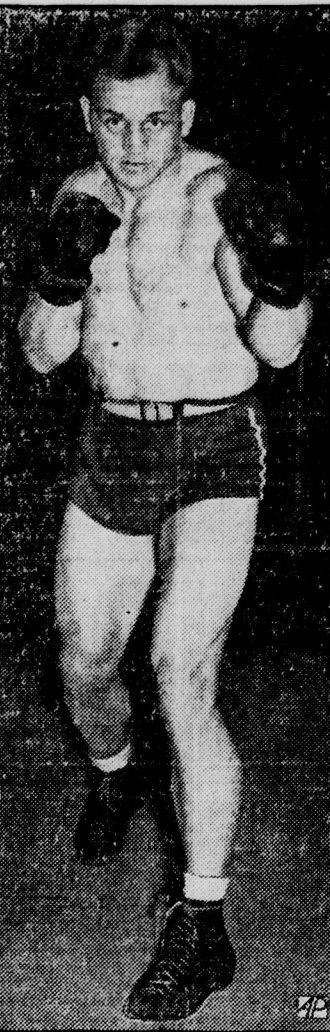

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Melo Bettina, New York middleweight, and Swede Berglund of San Diego clash in a 10-round rematch tonight at the Legion stadium.

The two put up a wild slugger bee several weeks ago that kept the crowd in an uproar. Bettina won a disputed decision.

BEAVER CAGERS WHIP BRUINS

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—U. C. L. A.'s basketball invasion of the Northwest met an initial setback last night when Oregon State college kept the Bruins scoreless for 14 minutes and won, 39 to 25. The home team led 20 to 7 at the half. Hunter and Kebbe of Oregon State accounted for 10 points each, while Munkers led the U. C. L. A. offense with 6 points.

DORAS SOUGHT AT MICHIGAN

Jimmy Phalen at Washington came in for lots of hot criticism early this season, but all have been beer and skittles since the Huskies tied California's Rose Bowl Bears.

BIERMAN IS SOUGHT
In the deep South, three resignations already have been handed in. At Georgia, the athletic board accepted Mehre's quitting notice, ending his 10-year head coaching term with the Bulldogs. His former backfield coach, Rex Enright, is prominently mentioned as his successor.

Most interest at the moment centers on Mississippi State, where alumni and faculty leaders were reported as reaching a decision to offer Bernie Bierman, head man of Minnesota's mighty Gophers, the coaching job. The berth was vacated when Lieut. Col. Ralph Sasse was forced to resign because of ill health. Also resigning in Dixie was Shorty Probst, from Southwestern of Tennessee.

In the East, Boston college holds the spotlight. Gloomy Gil Dobie hasn't been a howling success with the Eagles, and you hear talk his tenure may end. But Gloomy Gil has another year remaining on a three-year $10,000 contract, and it's doubtful it will be terminated. Fritz Crisler at Princeton and Harvey Harman at Pennsylvania have come in for plenty of criticism for their weak 1937 showings, but there'll be no moves to replace them.

Army has lost Gar Davidson through the system which limits coaches to a single tour of duty at the Point. He is replaced by Bill Wood. Among the minor colleges Tom Sullivan is out at St. Lawrence, but his successor has not yet been named.

Dr. A. J. Cronin, author of "The Citadel," paid tribute to the medical profession recently in London and said his novel has been aimed only at the practice of overcharging people unable to pay.

THOMAS TOO SLOW, SAYS DEMPSEY

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK. (AP)—It begins to appear like this Dempsey-Tunney feud will go on forever in one form or another. Ten years it's been since they last met under the ring lights at Chicago and both long since have become proud parents and solid citizens, but they're still at it worse than the Hatfields and the McCoy's.

Tunney started it again the other day when he suddenly went all democratic and paid a long, homely visit to Max Schmeling's training quarters at Summit, N. J. Everybody realized at the time it was a deliberate steal of Dempsey's stuff, and they predicted Jack wouldn't take it lying down.

After all, being the most democratic of all ex-heavyweight champions is Jack's chief stock in trade. Whereas there used to be rare characters who bragged they had shaken the hand of John L. Sullivan, it's difficult these days to find a man who hasn't been given a hot-foot by Dempsey, personally.

So Jack struck back yesterday, swiftly and hard. Appearing in a cloud of cigar smoke at the training camp of Harry Thomas, who fights Schmeling Monday night at the Garden, the old Mauler did 10 rounds of demagoguing that made Tunney's effort look puny by comparison.

He started with a fast three rounds in the Tavern, during which he shook hands with 18 sports writers, eight sparring partners and six other citizens who just chanced to wander in. Warmed up, he tore through the noon meal behind a barrage of bruised hands and burned ears, and finished with a red-hot Kelly-pool game with all the prizefighters around the camp, of all colors and creeds.

It was a grand exhibition, considering the length of time Jack has been out of active training, and he finished without taking a deep breath. Gene Tunney, the critics agreed, will think a second time before he stirs up Dempsey again.

Jack got one poor break, however. Tunney, after watching Schmeling work out, was in position to predict that the German would win his championship back by a knockout. It made exciting reading, Thomas's showing, on the other hand, left Jack and everybody else practically speechless.

The man from the mid-west, who has been talking such a good fight lately that some of the boys were getting worried about Schmeling, must have saved up the very worst he had just for Dempsey. A pair of negro spar mates plastered him with a few rounds of the most vicious boxing they had ever seen. Thomas displayed nothing except a swooping, curving left that almost never landed and which left him wide open for a right, say, like Schmeling's.

"It might be a good fight, for a few rounds," Dempsey said as he hastened away from the place. "I would judge that Thomas is very, very slow to get started."

That was about the most generous thing he could have said about Thomas.

ACE SWIMMERS VIE TONIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Pacific coast indoor swimming championships in the 150-yard backstroke and 50-yard freestyle events will be at stake tonight in a meet which will attract some of Northern California's best swimmers.

Tom Van Dyke of Stockton and two Olympic club stars, Bob Moatt and Bob Walker, were leading contenders for the backstroke title. Young Harry Paris, San Francisco, was favorite to annex the free-style championship to his many others.

The meet will be held in the Olympic club pool.

'Y' League Formed For H.S. Cagers

Seven basketball teams will be entered in competition between boys of high school ages at the Y. M. C. A. it was announced today by Herbert Thomas, boys' director at the "Y." Contests will be staged each Saturday night at 7 o'clock, beginning Jan. 8.

The teams entered are Stanton, junior Hi-Y, First Presbyterian church, senior Hi-Y, Pathfinders, Gauchos, First Methodist and United Presbyterian churches.

ALL-OPPONENT OF TROJANS FORMIDABLE

LOS ANGELES.—University of Southern California's football players don't have so much to say for themselves, but they have selected an imposing all-opponents' team that they would like to see put up against some of the All-American elevens that are being named these days.

Winding up the season by voting on the best players they met during the past three months, the Southern Californians named three men each from California and Notre Dame, two each from Washington and Ohio State and one from U.C.L.A. California also placed four men on the Trojan all-opponents' second team and four other Bears rated honorable mention.

The Trojans rated Perry Schwartz of California as the best offensive end and Chuck Sweeney of Notre Dame as the best defensive end they met this season. Vic Markov of Washington was their stand-out choice at tackle, with Ed Beiner of Notre Dame rating the other position. Vard Stockton of California and Steve Slivinski of Washington were almost unanimous choice at guard.

The Trojans are proud of the speed and all-around ability of their all-opponents' backfield with Andy Pupils of Notre Dame at quarterback, Kenny Washington of U.C.L.A. at left half, Sam Chapman of California at right half and John Raab of Ohio State at fullback. Even such outstanding stars as Joe Gray of Oregon State, Dave Anderson and Dave Meek of California had to take second team rating to those whose performances were so brilliant against S. C.

He'll Captain the Army Next Season

Jim Schwenk of Schuylkill Haven, Pa., who has been elected captain of Army's 1938 football squad. One of the few yearlings to make the team last year, he has served his second season and is known as Army's iron-man, having played the full 60 minutes in many games. His position is fullback and quarterback.

CHRISTIAN FIVE SCORES, 34-26

Encountering more difficulty than expected, the Advent Christians basketball club, after a slow first-half start, opened up in the final period to whip Barr Lumber company's improved quintet, 34-26, at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Arlyn Stone with 9 points and C. Stone with 10 points paced the Christians' victory. Score at half-time was 14 to 13.

Luisetti Will Not Consider Coaching

PALO ALTO. (AP)—Angelo (Hank) Luisetti, Stanford's high-scoring forward, has no aspirations to replace John Bunn as Indian basketball coach. He said he has a job lined up for after graduation—and coaching is out.

The lanky San Francisco Italian had been suggested as the most logical successor to Bunn, who will become dean of men next month.

This will be the last season of competition for Luisetti, who led Stanford to Pacific Coast conference championships the past two years.

Bunn indicated meanwhile he may continue coaching, combining the two positions.

INCOME OF FARMERS IN HUGE GAIN

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The bureau of agricultural economics estimated today the cash income of American farmers during the first 10 months of 1937 was approximately $751,000,000 above income for the same period last year.

It is estimated the total income, including government payments, at $7,087,000,000 this year compared with $6,336,000,000 last year.

October income was placed at $911,000,000 compared with $904,000,000 for the same month last year.

The bureau said November and December incomes might not equal those of the same months last year because of lower prices and smaller marketings of some major commodities.

Government payments for the first 10 months of this year to-

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Emeline L. Hansen sought $51,078 damages today for injuries she said she suffered when a folding bed folded with her inside it.

Her complaint charged that while she was asleep the bed and door to which it was attached "suddenly and without warning folded and collapsed, splintering the door and squeezing, striking and battering her."

taled $355,000,000 compared with $232,000 last year.

California led other states with a total estimated farm income of $521,531,000 for the first 10 months this year compared with $471,531,000 last year.

Estimates for other states in excess of $200,000,000 for the 10 month period this year and last, respectively, included:

Texas with $414,249,000 and $349,806,000.

MARGARET SCHMITZ

Students from Santa Ana junior college gave the major part of the high school assembly yesterday. The drama department, under Mr. Ernest C. Phillips, presented a one-act play, "The Rookie and the Rules." Characters were Captain Milbank, played by Wilbur Masters; Jimmy Renshaw, Wayne Tarvin, Mr. Jenkins, Bruce Buell; the girl, Irene Krisher; and stretcher bearers, Joe Crawford and Emory Steele.

The remainder of the assembly was devoted to introduction of varsity and sophomore football players and their respective coaches, Mr. William W. Foote and Mr. Reece Greene. Appropriate cheers led by the yell leaders for the teams and coaches closed the assembly.

CHRISTMAS FOOD DRIVE

The girls' Tri Y and senior and junior boys' Hi Y clubs have joined to sponsor a food drive for needy families. The campaign will extend over three days, Dec. 13, 14, and 15. Students are asked to bring non-perishable foods and place them under the Christmas tree in the foyer.

A large X in the foyer marks the place where food will be collected. It had been a mystery for several days until its meaning was explained yesterday.

Committee chairmen responsible for various functions of the drive are Jim Tapscott, advertising; John Geddes, collection; and Anita Potter, distribution. The three clubs hope to make the food drive an annual event.

PEACE BALLOTS

Students of three civics classes recently marked peace ballots sponsored by the World Youth Congress. Questions were asked regarding students' reactions in conditions caused by war.

The majority of students agreed with the following statements:

In case of armed conflict, the United States should prohibit the shipment of munitions and other war materials to all countries at war.

I will fight for the United States only if our country is invaded.

When war threatens in other parts of the world, the policy of the United States should be to consult with other nations for the prevention of war or act together with other nations for the prevention of war.

I favor reduction of our present military and naval budgets if reductions are also made by other great powers.

POMONA GLEE CLUB

The Pomona College Men's Glee Club will present a special student assembly at Santa Ana high school, Monday, Dec. 13. Their appearance here numbers in the forty-sixth consecutive seasonal tour for the group. The club is composed of 32 members, many of whom are outstanding soloists in their own rights.

The group is under the direction of Mr. Ralph H. Lyman, recognized as one of the foremost choral directors of today. Selections of their programs include a wide variety of songs. The rendition for which the glee club is famous is one originated at Pomona College. The song, "Torch-bearers," was adapted by a student and two professors from an old Indian war dance.

Most recently the glee club has appeared in the motion picture, "Varsity Show." Previously they were engaged in many radio broadcasts.

After Monday's assembly the members of the men's glee club and their director will be served a luncheon in the cafeteria.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The date of the annual football banquet has been set for Dec. 30 at 7:30 p. m. The affair will take place in the Legion hall and is under the sponsorship of the Philos service club. Both varsity and sophomore football teams will be honored, and the banquet officially closes the football season.

Guest speakers include Stubb Allison, coach of the University of California football team; Sam Chapman, All-American fullback; Bob Herwig, All-American center; and Vard Stockton, All-American guard. Local speakers will be Bill Cook, coach of Santa Ana jaycee Don's; Bill Foote, coach of Santa Ana Saints; and Don Warhurst, captain of the Saint team.

MORE NEW BOOKS

Latest fiction additions to the high school library are "Miss Delicia Allen," by Mary Johnson, a story of southern locale; "Railroad West" by Cornelia Meigs, a romance during the westward migration; "Rising Thunder" by Hilary Hawthorne, a fictionalized biography of Jacy Joutet; "Stover" by Owen Johnson, and undergraduate's struggle at Yale; and "The Great Tradition" by Marjorie Hill Alee, lives of four girls on the University of Chicago campus.

FRENCH CLUBS

Members of the French club visited the U. C. L. A. campus today. The main attraction was an all French movie shown in Royce Hall. The group left school at 11:00 a. m. and lunched at the Taix Restaurant in Los Angeles previous to the matinee.

Tale of Wierd Fight Against Sharks Told as Ship Lands

NEW YORK, (AP) — A pretty young woman, who faced death in black tropical seas for five hours last Sunday, lay in a Brooklyn hospital today, weak from exposure but apparently determined to keep to herself the details of her strange experience.

Miss Eleanor Offutt, 25, of Los Angeles, was in danger of pneumonia from her long ordeal in the ocean, but even that threat did not induce her to talk.

Only from Captain G. C. Bown, and a few members of the crew of the freighter Lillian Luckenbach did the story of her rescue come, and the tellers knew nothing of why or how Miss Offutt went overboard as the ship sailed north of San Salvador.

It was sheer luck she survived at all, the captain and the others thought.

"It was remarkable the sharks didn't find her before we did," the skipper said of the five hour search.

As it was, Miss Offutt was semi-conscious when she was hauled into a lifeboat at dawn.

She had boarded the ship at San Francisco, and to Captain Bown she seemed despondent and nervous. At 1:55 a. m. last Sunday the ship was roused by Mrs. G. D. Brundritt, Miss Offutt's cabin mate, with the alarm that the young woman had gone overboard.

A heavy northerly swell lifted the ship as Captain Bown swung about to begin the long search. Searchlight beams raked the blackness, but nowhere on the troubled waters was there a sign of Miss Offutt.

A lifeboat was lowered, but as hours passed all began giving up hope. The lifeboat was recalled.

Then at dawn a woman's cries were heard somewhere near the ship. A lookout spotted Miss Offutt and she was quickly rescued.

Doris Cromwell
Now Taking Dance Lessons

NEW YORK, (AP)—Doris Duke Cromwell, tobacco heiress, has been easing that hankering to shake her feet by taking tap lessons from "Bojangles" Bill Robinson, the old master from Harlem, the man who taught Shirley Temple.

Mrs. Cromwell, it appears, saw the great hooper at the Cotton Club and promptly asked him to teach her. He agreed and Mrs. Cromwell began going to the West 48th street hot spot to be put through simple routines.

They say there she's pretty good, too.

Inventor of Lighthouse Aid
Death Victim

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Dr. Gustaf Dalen, 67, Swedish inventor and industrialist who won the Nobel physics prize in 1912, died today.

Dr. Dalen invented the system of acetylene lighting used in light-houses throughout the world. The sun valve he perfected permits the light beam to be turned on and off automatically at unmanned lighthouses with the approach of night and day.

He was blinded by an explosion the year he received the Nobel award but continued his work.

Max Baer's Dad
Goes to Hospital

OAKLAND, (AP)—Jacob Baer, 65, father of Max Baer, former heavyweight boxing champion, had a severe heart attack yesterday and was taken to the same hospital where his grandson was born Saturday.

Baer has a chronic heart ailment. Stricken at his San Leandro home, he was brought to the hospital by his son.

Jan Garber's
Wife Divorced

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy C. Garber won a divorce yesterday from Orchestra Leader Jan Garber and, under the terms of a property settlement, will receive $125 a week for support of herself and the couple's eight-year-old daughter, May.

Mrs. Garber was asked whether the allegations contained in her complaint—that her husband stayed away nights, sought the company of others in preference to his wife's, and objected to her friends—were true. She answered "yes" and the decree was granted.

Garber was not present at the brief hearing.

TURKEY MEETING

Orange county turkey producers are invited to attend a meeting of turkey raisers to be held this evening in Riverside. The affair is to begin at 6:30 with a dinner.

Lathrop School News

The junior Red Cross drive proved most interesting and successful at Lathrop last week. Twenty-five home room classes met their quota and will receive the junior Red Cross News, according to Miss Pearl Nicholson in charge of the drive. Besides contributions of money, the students responded in a most gratifying way to the call for story books to be given to the children's ward of the Orange county hospital. Several new books were purchased to add to these pupils. They included "Book of Marvels" by Halliburton, "Little Women" by Alcott, "Hans Brinker" by Dodge, "Heidi" by Johanna Spyri, "The Little Spanish Dancer" by Madeline Brandels, and "Who's Who in Tony Sarg's Zoo" by Tony Sarg.

Not only was the drive carried on through the various home rooms, but Miss Leona Calkins displayed a most worthwhile exhibit in the library. Beautiful portfolios from the Red Cross chapters of foreign countries attracted a great deal of attention. Countries represented in the exhibit were Hungary, Turkey, Germany, Norway, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Chile, and Poland.

Lathrop students and faculty are proud to have had such a definite part in the 1937 drive.

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

Already the Christmas spirit is being felt at Lathrop. Nearly all departments are turning their attention to the cherished Christmas festivities in one way or another. In the art classes the seventh graders are staining glass windows; others are making Christmas boxes, and ninth graders are giving their attention to making Christmas cards.

Each home room class has discussed its particular projects for this Christmas season and already there are a number of large festive looking boxes in the rooms awaiting the gifts which will be donated to organizations and individuals where these special gifts of food, clothing, and toys will be most appreciated and needed.

CHRISTMAS STORIES

Christmas stories are being read and studied in various literature classes. Dickens' famous "Christmas Carol" being reviewed with the usual refreshing interest and enthusiasm. Some short Christmas stories are being dramatized and will be given before various groups before the holidays. Students and faculty alike are anxiously awaiting the usual special library features arranged each year by Miss Calkins. And the Christmas trees? Yes, Lathrop has them again this year as always.

SWING ORCHESTRA

Big things are happening in the music department at Lathrop. Mr. Stover, at the request of many students, has started a "swing orchestra" consisting of ten pieces; and also a very successful band of twenty-five pieces.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

We are always interested in the many and varied activities of this year's new classes in Public Speaking, directed by Mrs. Marguerite Hill. Even though we don't know what they are doing all the time, all that we do know is interesting and different. Recently the low 9's have been giving illustrated reports of famous pictures. Some of the most worthwhile reports have been on Gainsborough's "Blue Boy," "Pinkie" by Lawrence, and several of Raphael's paintings. Those giving reports have brought reproductions of these famous pictures.

SCIENCE NEWS

Reports from the Science classes are always full of interesting studies and experiments. In Mr. Scott's eighth grade classes the planets and solar system are being studied with a great deal of enthusiasm. The other grades are experimenting with thermometers and thermostats, subjects which offer a field of definite research. The 7th graders are finding a thrilling new interest in studying the sea life along the Orange County coast line.

MAN OF MANY VOICES...

If some night you spin the dial of your radio and suddenly hear a dozen or so persons trying to talk at the same time or possibly a man singing a duet, don't blame the weather conditions. It'll probably be Jimmy Scribner—the "Man with the Limber Larynx."

Strange as it seems, this one-man mob scene broadcasts a whole show by himself—sound effects and all. He writes all his own scripts and invents many interesting characters, taking the part of each one himself. Since the first of this year he has introduced 67 distinct personalities, necessitating as many vocal changes. He brings as many as 22 characters into a single night's show.

Jimmy Scribner "splices" in the various voices, as in the leads and responses of a negro spiritual, and can actually sing a "duet," blending two different voices together with such precision as to make them sound simultaneous. The vocal gymnast even "apes" a banjo on his air show.

Dirt on lenses may reduce the light intensity of automobile headlights from 10 to 15 per cent in addition to glare caused by scattering of the light beam.

NEWS OF ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITIES

GROVE LIGHTS PROGRAM IS SET SATURDAY

GARDEN GROVE.—Tomorrow evening at 5:30 o'clock Garden Grove will join other cities and towns of the county in presenting a holiday appearance as at that time the new colored lights being installed this week will be turned on for the first time. Thereafter the lights will burn every night from 5:30 to 10:30 o'clock until Jan. 2.

The lighting consists of red and green colored globes which have been placed at three-foot intervals on either side of Acacia street, from Garden Grove boulevard to Acacia street and on the south side of the boulevard from the P. E. tracks to Walnut street. The system has been installed according to county code and under the inspection of the county inspector.

The chamber of commerce, with the assistance of the merchants and other civic organizations, is responsible for the program. The equipment will be stored and used in other years. Members of the fire department and American Legion are assisting in the installation and also will assist in removing and storing the equipment.

'Mosquitos' At Beach Organize

LAGUNA BEACH.—For the past three weeks, a "mosquito" fleet has been organizing and is now in full swing. Meetings are held at 296 Ocean drive on Thursdays at 7:30 o'clock.

Members of the fleet are Joe Newcomb, Ted Covern, Al Deffley, Bernard Smith, Gail Switzer, Joe Cromwell, Cecil Linky, Loran Sopp, Gene Wilburn, Jack Pope, Lucien Means, Cecil Blacketer, Don Gray, Frank Danielson, Carl Farrar, Dale Melickwait, Andley Alanson, Everett Brown, Charles Jenkins, Everett Roggs and Orville Green.

Grove Christmas Party Planned

GARDEN GROVE.—Plans were completed Wednesday evening for a Christmas party for all children of ex-service men of the community which the American Legion and auxiliary will give at 7:30 o'clock, Dec. 22.

Legion members also voted to contribute to the San Fernando Veterans Hospital Christmas fund for non-compensated cases. Commander J. D. Watkins and several members of Newport Post No. 291 were guests for the evening which concluded with serving of a Dutch supper.

Yorba Linda Star Officers Seated

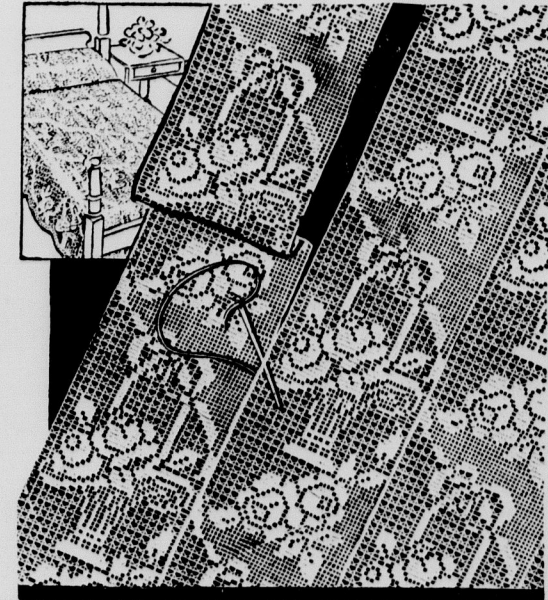

YORBA LINDA.—Mrs. Hermine Lowe, worthy matron, and Emil Rodieck, worthy patron and other officers of Yorba Linda chapter, O. E. S., were installed Tuesday evening at a ceremony attended by 200 people in the Masonic hall.

Installing officers included Helen Louise Edwards, associate grand conductress, Deputy Grand Matron Ruth Jane Davis of La Habra and Deputy Grand Matron Mrs. Alice Pierce of the 60th and 56th districts, and Ruth DeBuxton, past matron of Norwalk.

VISITS GRANDPARENTS

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Carmen Van Cliff, Los Angeles, spent Tuesday at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Andrews. The following day, Mrs. Van Cliff left for Norfolk, Va., where she will become the bride of Richard Lenz.

Crochet Lacy Spread Strip-by-Strip

How Arts by Alice Brooks

Do This Simple Filet Lace in String

Here's a splendid way to have accessories that are luxurious-looking, yet inexpensive... lovely lacy filet-crochet strips... crocheted in string they make spreads or cloths; in finer cotton, scarfs and other dainty accessories. Attractive for curtains, too. The graceful flower-basket pattern is easy to memorize and has enough variety to hold your interest from start to finish. In pattern 5990 you'll find instructions and charts for making the strip shown, an edging, and for joining them to make a spread; illustration of them and of the stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Last of Famous Family

Frank Aguilar, sole survivor of a famed San Juan Capistrano family, exhibits a huge wine bottle, once used by Governor Carrillo of California. Aguilar stands in front of the old adobe museum started by his brother, the late Juan Aguilar, in the mission village.

By C. K. PRIEST

Many a house has been built by the side of the road, in compliance with the familiar injunction to be a friend to man, but in San Juan Capistrano a road is being built by the door of an ancient adobe whose thick walls enclose as interesting an aggregation of relics of former days as can be found anywhere in Southern California.

The road is the new cut-off on the Ortega Highway, for which surveys have just been completed, and the house is the home of the late Juan Aguilar, who spent the greater part of his life at San Juan Capistrano's famous mission.

Today, Frank Aguilar, brother of Juan and the last of the line, holds the keys to the old adobe where the mission character accumulated his store of objects of local and historic interest. And as the Ortega cut-off takes shape, so do Frank's plans for some day opening his brother's collection, hitherto often spoken of but seldom seen, to the traveling public.

Even in the inevitable disorder that has followed the passing of its founder, the Aguilar collection is fascinating in its variety and its associations. Juan put his heart into his hobby. He preserved the heirlooms of his family. His grandfather was Don Blas Aguilar, the last Mexican alcalde of San Juan Capistrano. His father, Don Benjamin, died in 1934, and many of the items in Juan's collection have been handed down in the family for three generations and more.

There are the brass-studded Spanish trunks, a dozen of them, in mahogany and mahogany leather, decorated in gold. Their stout camphor wood lining has preserved the colorful costumes which they hold. Tradition says the leather with which they were covered came from California hides, sent to China where the trunks were fabricated, and so eventually returned to the rolling ranchos of the early Californians.

One of the largest single pieces is a canopied four-poster bed, of cherry wood, that came "round the Horn" in the last days of the eighteenth century.

There are hundreds of pieces of old glass, enough to delight the heart of any collector, most of

BROOME TALKS TO G. G. LIONS

GARDEN GROVE.—Lions club members heard V. C. Broome, manager of the social security board of Long Beach in a talk on the subject at the luncheon meeting Wednesday. He was presented by L. H. Burr as program chairman.

Although a social security program has been in effect in England and Germany for more than 50 years, no such aid was needed in this country until recent years, he said, because as an agricultural nation the needy and unemployed were taken care of in their own communities, and it was only as more and more people moved to the cities that an acute need of a social security program developed.

Announcement was made that next Wednesday's luncheon will be replaced with a Christmas party in the evening. It was also requested that persons having toys no longer used turn them into club members before next Tuesday in order that they may be repaired by Rodney Collins and members of Scout Troop No. 11 for distribution to needy children.

DANCE SLATED FOR ALUMNI

NEWPORT BALBOA.—Plans for an alumni barn dance were made by the board of directors of the Newport Harbor Union High School Alumni Association Wednesday night at the home of the association president, Hugh McMillan. The board decided to hold the dance at the Costa Mesa Women's clubhouse at 8:30 p. m. Dec. 29.

Tickets for the affair can be purchased in Costa Mesa from Albert Ogden, Genevieve Clark, Herb Grebe, Ralph Myrehrn, and Phil Cassel; in Newport Beach from Albert Irwin, Lorna Mills, Harry Lane, and McMillan; in Balboa from Dorothy Gabriel, Jack Phillipson, and John Lugo; in Corona Del Mar from Lionel (Babe) Charles.

In charge of decorations will be Mickey Torrence, Mary Suttora, Harry Lane, Johnnie Gillis, Albert Ogden, Phil Cassel, Lorna Mills, Albert Irwin, and Herb Grebe. All members of the alumni association have been requested to purchase tickets and to attend the get-together.

Attend County Veteran Meeting

COSTA MESA.—Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Tait, Mr. and Mrs. George Grupe and Mrs. Frank Cox attended the Orange County Veterans' Welfare association meeting Tuesday night in Anaheim.

Plans are being made for a Christmas party with a tree, gifts and Santa Claus, which is to be given by the American Legion auxiliary, Saturday afternoon, Dec. 18 in Greener's hall, for children of Costa Mesa veterans.

Fisher, Manet Allen and Marie Fisher, ways and means chairman for December, will hold an apron sale the same day in front of the TeWinkle hardware store.

Move Boat Work To Costa Mesa

COSTA MESA.—The hand laundry which has been operated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCue at 483 Newport boulevard for the past several years, is being moved to its new location at 468 Newport boulevard. The building, property of Mrs. Sadie M. Irwin, of Newport Beach, has been purchased by N. L. Lowman, manager of the Lowman Boat Works, also at Newport Beach.

Lowman will take possession as soon as the laundry is vacated and will continue boat building activities from the Costa Mesa location.

Church Debt Drive Success

COSTA MESA.—Definite announcement that the emergency debt campaign would reach a successful conclusion before the end of the month, brought rejoicing at a meeting of the Community church held this week.

Dr. F. A. Mueller, representing the board of home missions of the Methodist Episcopal church and Dr. Dunning, district superintendent commended the workers for the way in which the drive has been conducted.

Mesa Crafts Workers Meet

COSTA MESA.—Twisted crepe paper vases and hand-painted Christmas cards were made by Arts and Crafts members Tuesday. Individual lunches were served at noon.

Present were Mesdames Merwin F. Fickas, N. O. Mellott, J. O. Tallman, W. G. Walker, J. A. Gardner, W. B. Murbarger, L. B. Smalley, Glenn Cheeseman, L. C. Bixler, C. G. Huston, C. Plak, Charles Lipscomb and Alex Olson.

Return From Eastern Trip

LAGUNA BEACH.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Baird Nicholas have just returned from a three-week trip to Pennsylvania.

They were accompanied home by Mrs. Nicholas' sister, Mrs. Harry Halsey and son, Tom, of Bradford, Pa. Nicholas has leased a store in the Moore block, 1861 Coast Blvd., south, and will open an electric fixture and supply business soon.

MESA FORUM TO MEET MONDAY

COSTA MESA.—Judge George S. West, Lynwood, will speak before the Farm Forum meeting next Monday evening on the subject of handling, stretching and care of raw rabbit pelts.

The speaker also will illustrate making of felt hats from the raw skin to the finished product and will exhibit a large display of furs and fur garments.

Judge West, who is a registered rabbit judge, was procured for the forum by R. C. Fisher, Costa Mesa, president of the Orange County Rabbit Breeders' association.

Deputies K. D. Sloop and J. E. McLeod of the Orange county agricultural commissioners' office were in charge of this week's forum meeting, discussing the duties of their office including pest control, weights and measures, inspection and plant inspection.

CARROLL TO BE P-T. A. SPEAKER

COSTA MESA.—Vincent Carroll, Laguna Beach, will speak before the high school P-T. A. next Tuesday evening on "Mental Hygiene for Parents." Miss Mabel Wing, a representative of the WPA also will speak.

The girls' sextet will entertain with numbers prepared especially for the Orange County Tuberculosis association and already presented before several local service organizations under the direction of Miss Marie Hiesch. The boys' quartet will sing and the dramatic class, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Tully, instructor of drama, will present a mock radio skit.

Hostesses will be Mesdames John F. Webster, G. E. Edick, N. O. Mellott and Miss Jane Anderson, of the faculty.

Boys to Attend Scout Parley

COSTA MESA.—Boy Scout Patrol Leaders Harry Minato, Bruce Lighter, Wayne Brown and Preston Joiner and Senior Patrol Leader Bob Jackson, will attend a troop officers' training conference to be held the last three days of this week at Camp Irvine, Scoutmaster Alister Spencer reported today.

All patrol leaders in the county are invited to attend for the purpose of exchanging ideas and receiving instruction methods. There also will be instructions given in archery, leathercraft, pack-rack making and camping.

Flint Talks At Laguna Forum

LAGUNA BEACH.—At a meeting of the open forum held in the grammar school Tuesday evening, Calvin C. Flint, forum leader, lectured on the "Way of an Empire."

England, although the largest empire, has great cause for worry, Flint said, and realizes that she can expect very little help from her colonies. Hence the reason for trying to bring about an alliance with the United States.

Britain is forced, at this time, to build up her navy so that she can not only defend herself at home but also must protect herself against Japan, he added, stating in conclusion that England, in spite of the enormous problem that she faces, is probably muddling through as she always has.

Party Honors Carol Fording

GARDEN GROVE.—A happy surprise for Miss Carol Fording Wednesday evening was a birthday anniversary party arranged by her mother, Mrs. Genevieve Fording, who invited a group of her close friends.

Chinese bridge was played with Vivian Harper and Cleon Sauer taking high score awards and Nadine Harfield and Jimmy Gross consolation prizes. Other guests were Florence and Ruth Wasson, Roy Wentzel, Elbert Hall, Harvey Rice, Mrs. Olive L. Ford and Gene Ford.

Return From Eastern Trip

LAGUNA BEACH.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Baird Nicholas have just returned from a three-week trip to Pennsylvania.

They were accompanied home by Mrs. Nicholas' sister, Mrs. Harry Halsey and son, Tom, of Bradford, Pa. Nicholas has leased a store in the Moore block, 1861 Coast Blvd., south, and will open an electric fixture and supply business soon.

Doings of Yorba Lindans

LAGUNA TO BUY FESTIVAL LAND

LAGUNA BEACH.—The city council will buy the property adjoining the Woman's club for the festival of arts, it was decided at a meeting Wednesday night. The price was $200 with the understanding that any substantial payment would not be made until July 1, 1938.

"ALBU GIRL"

BEGIN HERE:

NANCY ROLAND, summoned to police headquarters supposedly to aid in solving the mysterious murder of her wealthy uncle, DODGE ROLAND, realized, after hours of questioning, that she is being accused of the crime. "But I was with my cousin, ALAN JORY, at the time uncle was murdered Thursday night, July 1," she insists. CAPTAIN WYMAN thereupon summons Jory. As though a blow had been struck against her body, Nancy hears her cousin testify it was Wednesday, June 30—not Thursday, July 1, the night of the murder. "They were together then, at an station attendant called by Wyman testifies to having seen Nancy with Jory the night of June 30. A night watchman further swears he saw the girl near her uncle's home the night of the murder. July 1, Nancy is lodged in jail, bewildered at the lies being told by her cousin and his witnesses. Almost immediately, however, she is released on $30,000 bond, which is paid by an unknown man in gray, who was present at the quizzing. Meeting the man, Nancy finds him to be JULIAN HOWARD, ARD, distinguished author of detective novels. He is drawn to him by his confident in his ability to assist her. But the police who tighten when Wyman reconstructs in his own words the manner in which she killed her uncle, returning home, the girl is greeted by WALTER DEGRELE and his sister, LOIS, who is engaged to Alan Jory. Two arguments follow, the sake of the family's reputation, to admit her guilt and suffer the consequences. Arrangements are made the next day for her to submit to a lie detector test. In Captain Wyman's office, however, the machine is broken and the test is made. When Nancy is brought in, she is nervous in spite of her innocence. The test shows her to be guilty.

Nancy's denial is vigorous, inwardly, she is humiliated at the test's results in Julian Howard's presence. At home, later, she waits despondently for him to call.

Now go on with the story.

CHAPTER 13

It had come to Captain Wyman but from Bob Blair, Really a message from Julian Howard, but relayed through his secretary. "Mr. Howard had a talk with Captain Wyman this afternoon. From what the captain said he thinks the formal arrest should come through soon. He thought you might like to know so that you could be ready."

IT WAS ENOUGH

That was all, but it was enough. Blair's voice, bravely casual at the first, at the end hesitant, and apologetic.

"He didn't call me himself, Nancy thought, as she put the phone back on the night table. He didn't want to call me himself."

She sat on the bed looking around the familiar crowded small room. The echoes of the morning continued to be ringing against her mind. The words of the more recent echo of Blair's voice.

Wyman's laughter, McKee's rather gentle voice, the little, almost inaudible scratching that the stylus made on the black slate. She felt her left arm, it still seemed to be tingling, although it had been hours since the tube had been around it.

"He thought you might like to know so that you could be ready."

There was one dim light on the table over the telephone, not the reading light, but another weaker globe. The light did not spread very far in the room.

It stopped at Nancy's knees, and the shadows around her crept close. There was only one light in the living room—and the room was almost dark as she looked through to it.

She didn't want more light. Tonight more than anything else she wanted quiet darkness.

She was alone. Olive was still at the library, but she would be back soon. Nancy was glad that she had been gone when Blair called. Olive's nerves were in worse shape than hers.

Olive would have been upset by the message. Olive had been the one this morning who had wept—Nancy had comforted her.

BE READY

"So that you could be ready—"

How did you prepare to go to jail? What did you do? Her shoulders drooped and her eyes closed tightly.

Nancy's own experience hadn't prepared her for an answer, for she had been shocked and hurt, miserable for that one night. Too shocked really to see clearly what had gone on around her, to even remember the faces of the women and the girls she had met.

They were a blur to her still, and the cell where she had finally slept was a blur, and the room where she had eaten her breakfast. When she thought of it now it seemed like a picture she must of their Rock club Monday evening. Other members present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. J. French, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Chance, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Cromwell, Mrs. Jewel Neely and Mrs. Ada F. Scott.

Mrs. Severina Sawyer of Grinnell, Iowa, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Selmer M. Rosedale.

Mrs. Thomas Page fell on the floor of her home Saturday, breaking her arm.

Eric DeMarsh of New York City is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Woodward on Richmond Road.

Mrs. Lois Bombia of Monroe, Mich. is spending a few weeks with Mrs. Ralph Shook.

ACTRESS HURT AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH.—Mary Forbes, moving picture actress and mother of Ralph Forbes, fell Tuesday night as she was descending the stairs of her home at 2230 Chestview Drive and fractured her wrist. Dr. A. Wichtman was attending the injured actress. Mrs. Forbes has just recently completed a picture for M. G. M.

HUGE LEGION MEETING SET FOR MESA

COSTA MESA.—Between 400 and 500 Southern California Legionnaires, representing Orange, San Diego, Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino American Legion posts, will convene in Costa Mesa next July for the annual pre-convention caucus, according to definite word received today by the local post.

It is planned to incorporate with the convention proceedings dedicatory ceremonies for the new $27,000 Legion hall now under construction. State Commander Joseph Long, Riverside, will be among those scheduled to address the gathering and hopes are being expressed that the national Legion commander will find it possible to attend.

The building project is going ahead rapidly, 30 men being employed at the present time. Excavation work for the basement has been completed and pouring of concrete for the foundation is expected to start next week.

have seen, flashing across her eyes for a few moments.

TO JAIL

Different this time. She was going to jail. She knew it. She would stay for some time, how long she couldn't tell.

She was giving up her life in this pleasant bungalow, in this pleasant bedroom where other people had lived before she and Olive had taken it.

"I must pack," she said aloud, and her eyes opened with a jerk. Again as she switched on the top lights and was startled by their sudden glare, she was glad Olive wasn't here.

Olive wouldn't be any help to her in what she had to do.

She reached under the bed, her bed, and pulled out an overnight case. It was not dusty, not very dusty anyway, because Olive had used the case on her trip up north last week.

That week Dodge Roland had been killed, the girl thought grimly. That week in which the days June 30 and July 1 were such integral parts.

The case was an old one, brown pin seal, a present from her uncle when she had started to college. One of the clasps was broken and wouldn't hold—but that had been done fairly recently, the last time she had used it herself on a house party at Catalina at the home of Tom's aunt.

Tom had tried to fix it, it—the marks of his pen knife were on the dull brass.

Tom, the old case, June 30, July 1—

LAUGHTER, TEARS

Echoes of the past mingled with the echoes of this morning, with the laughter and the tears of this morning. Olive's tears.

What did you take with you to jail?

Certainly you didn't take the things that you would take to a house party, but you must be allowed to have necessities with you. Nancy went to the chest in which she kept her clothes—the dresser was Olive's. She opened the top drawer, took out a pile of handkerchiefs and the little peach moire case where she usually packed the handkerchiefs for traveling.

It was the only case she had, and she smiled as she stuffed the white cambric squares in it.

Peach moire for the jail.

And stockings. You had to have stockings. Her stockings were rolled up in the drawer next to the handkerchiefs. She ran her fingers through half a dozen pairs and wondered why she was being so careful to take only good, sound hose to a jail cell.

In the end she found only four good pairs, and she left the two with runs in them in the drawer.

SMOOTH SLIPS

"Underwear?" She put in some, smoothing out the slips, two of them, and the shorts, three of them, and the brassieres. Nightgowns? It wouldn't hurt to take them.

The least the matrons at the jail could do to them was to take them away.

A kimono? Almost the first thing you thought of when you were going some place. She went into the closet and looked at the two robes hanging there; a serviceable tan flannel tailored robe, and a pale blue crepe negligee with coru lace at the neck, and binding the flowing sleeves.

Hastily she took down the tailored robe, folded it carefully and put it in the bag. The matrons could also do what they wished about the robe. She had it in case she was permitted to use it.

No dresses, of course. She couldn't wear them. The girls and the women wore uniforms.

"Why am I doing this?" she asked herself as she went back to the chest to get her little traveling suitcase kit which she had used all during her school life, and had taken on all her week-end trips since college.

"Why am I packing like I used to at school—all the schools I ever went to? Methodically as I always have done."

She couldn't answer it, but she put the sewing kit in the place where it always went, in the little pocket on the left side of the case. After that the leather box which held her cosmetics went in, and in she sat down on the couch—in her old familiar way, but the couch was hard and uninviting, so she walked back to the bedroom, which a few moments before had contained her. It didn't any more.

The suitcase so ready, so prepared on the bed. Her hat and gloves and hand bag so ready, too. Much of the calmness she had felt while she was packing was gone.

Once she thought of going out of the bungalow and walking up to the library to meet Olive. On second thought, she rejected the idea. For to go out she would have to face people, meet people, and it was getting hard for her to do that.

It never had been hard before until this morning when she had come out of Wyman's office with his laugh ringing in her ears. Reporters and people.

TWO REPORTERS

There was a reporter now, no, two of them sitting in a car fifteen feet from the living room window that faced Courtland street. She had only to go to the window slide back the drape, peek out of the blind to see them.

They had been there all day, and all day yesterday, and probably the day before. Sometimes they came into the long narrow path and sat on the rim of the fish pond.

That was where they had been when she came back from the police station this morning. One of them was a photographer, she knew. He had snapped pictures of Olive and her when Olive was putting the key in the front door.

The pictures were in the Herald on the pile of other papers Olive had bought today and that she hadn't read.

TINY KITCHEN

She went through the tiny kitchen and unlocked the door carefully and softly to get a breath of air. It was safe on the little stoop at the back porch.

The reporters had deserted the back entirely. Olive these mornings and evenings was slipping in through the back way—a rather tortuous way really in the dark, for there was only a two foot walk, bordered by a hedge on the west as high as the court roof and on the east by the walls of the court and the little stoops, and the garbage cans and the trash cans.

Olive wasn't going out on Courtland street, at all, through the narrow gate that was against their bedroom closet.

She traversed the paved path to the garages in the back, and from there took the alley to Groton avenue. She came home the same way.

The cool rather damp evening air refreshed Nancy. She stood taking long breaths of it, and some of her nervousness fell away. Before she closed the door, she listened for Olive, but she heard no footsteps coming down the narrow path.

In the kitchen, she looked at the clock sitting on the top of the stove. Nearly eight-thirty. But Olive would be here soon—in a few minutes.

The phone rang as she got back to the living room, and she went to answer it.

Gray, Oregon State Threat, Accepts Charity Game Bid

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Two players each from Stanford and Oregon State college were first to accept invitations to compete with the West team in the Shrine East-West charity football game here New Year's day.

Percy Lacey and Orin ("Babe") Hollingsberry, co-coaches of the West, telegraphed bids to 22 western players yesterday after going over qualifications of 100 senior gridmen.

The Stanford pair were Grant Stone of San Diego, a husky right end who was picked for several all-coast first teams, and Louis Tsoutsouvas, center, of Santa Barbara.

Halfback Joe Gray, one of Oregon State's greatest offensive weapons this past season, accepted along with Fullback Elmer Kolberg, both of Portland, Ore.

Three players remained to be selected for the eastern squad. Each side will have a roster of 22.

Clipper Gets Back At Friendly Foe

SANTA CLARA, Calif., (AP) — For several years Buck Shaw, as assistant coach, played second fiddle to Clipper Smith at Santa Clara university. Then Smith went to Villanova and in two seasons Shaw has put the Broncos near the top of the national football picture.

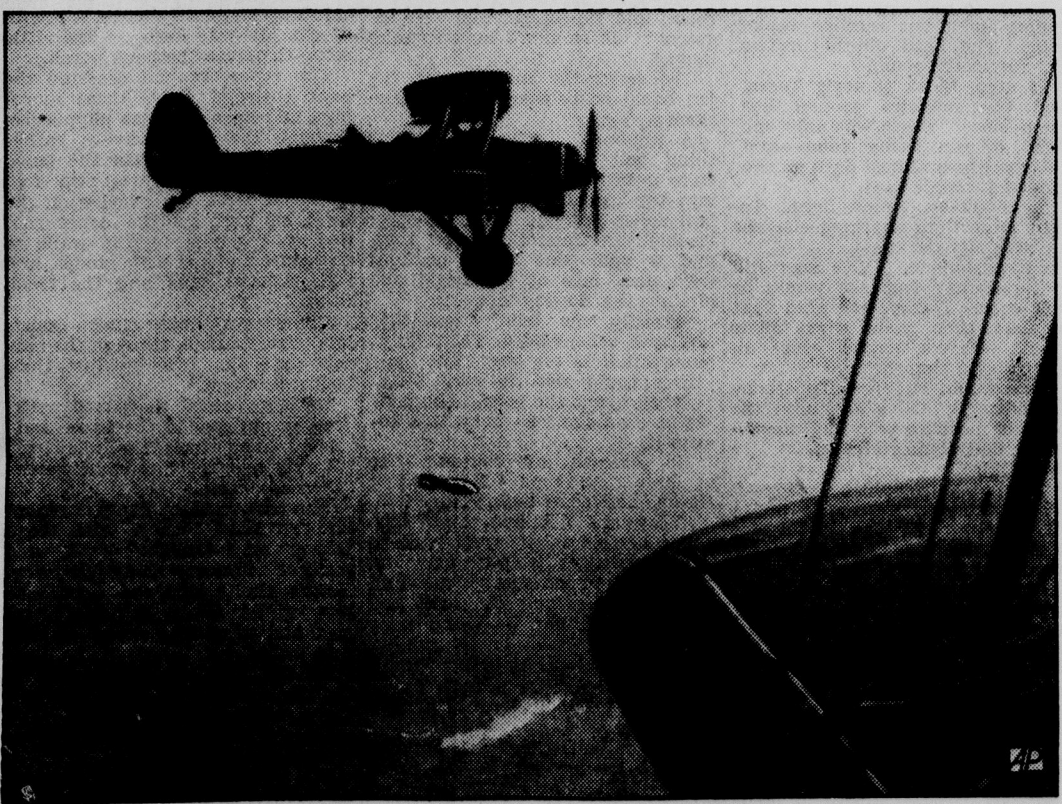

This year, however, Smith got back at his friendly rival. His Villanova team stood sixth in the Associated Press national writers' poll, while Santa Clara got only a tie with Notre Dame for ninth place.

Court Upholds Race Stewards

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Jockeys who go to court to protest fines or suspensions imposed by racing stewards found little encouragement in the latest ruling handed down.

The case of Jockey Donald Lyons was thrown out of court by Judge Maxwell McNutt. Miffed at a recent suspension at Bay Meadows, Lyons wanted to fight the matter out in court. McNutt ruled, in effect, that in run of the mill cases of discipline the race stewards were supreme.

Our Good Fortune

Business is good in Orange county's two largest productive industries, oil and citrus, according to the monthly business summary of the Security-First National bank.

"Reflecting the large returns from 1937 crops, bank debits in agricultural cities rose to a new recovery high in November, and retail trade in farm areas remained good. California oil production attained a new high for recent years at the expense of a weakened statistical position for the industry," the bank reports.

"California farm income in 1937 will be well above last year, and greater than in any year since 1929. According to the estimates of the Department of Agriculture, cash income to California farmers in September was $62,356,000 as compared with $58,718,000 in the same month of 1936, an increase of more than 6 per cent. For the first nine months of 1937 cash returns to farmers in this state were 11.3 per cent above the same period last year.

"The citrus industry made a remarkable record during the crop year ending Oct. 31. Hampered by a January freeze which destroyed 40 per cent of the fruit on the trees and by severe competition from the record orange crop in Florida, the industry managed to complete the year with a gross return, f.o.b. California, estimated at $102,828,000, only 3 per cent less than in the previous year. This showing was materially facilitated by the development and wide use of the X-ray sorting machine in the handling of frozen fruit. Despite the severity of the freeze, damage to the trees was surprisingly light."

Nine Billion Oranges

When the orange growers of Southern California began advertising, just 30 years ago, oranges were selling at the rate of 31 per capita in the United States, which meant total sales of just over three billions.

Today the American people are consuming oranges at the rate of 79 per capita, or more than nine billion oranges a year!

Two-thirds of all oranges produced in California go into orange juice, and that is what largely accounts for the increased total consumption.

Behind that record of jumping sales, that have saved large areas of California from overproduction, is intelligent advertising.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange is California's most successful cooperative marketing agency chiefly because it has been smart in its selling program. It has poured out millions in advertising, and it has got dollars back where it spent cents. It made the most of the vitamin craze, just as it made the most of prohibition. And here again one of the prime rules of good advertising proved itself—no amount of the cleverest advertising will pay for itself in the long run unless you have a sound product. Southern California orange growers did.

Veterans in War On War

With war and rumors of war filling the papers these days, it is a pleasure to read of the "Keep America Out of War" petitions being circulated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars here and elsewhere throughout the United States.

The Veterans know what they are talking about. All V. F. W. members have experienced at least one foreign war for the sake of Old Glory. And they know that Sherman was right.

The petition reads:
"We, the undersigned citizens of the United States of America, hereby call upon the congress and the President to adopt and apply policies designed to keep America out of war and supported by a national defense program adequate to preserve and protect our country and its people."

The Journal subscribes 100 per cent to those sentiments.

This nation wants to stay out of war, and most people, we believe, favor the means which the V. F. W. proposes.

Music in the Air

The nicest present which everyone can share in advance of Christmas is the happy music that floats down from city hall during the day.

As those tunes strike the downtown crowds you can see a new sparkle in everyone's eye and a new snap in the step.

The city dads and others responsible for the idea deserve a big hand.

There's something about the music which seems to make everyone happier and friendlier. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to extend the aerial concerts beyond the Christmas season? It would make a downtown visit cheerier and more pleasant for everyone.

The Japanese cabinet approved $360,000,000 for a military budget. They've a terrific yen for war.

Mosquito-Doggie?

The WPA in New York has a document entitled "Vegetatie en Oecologie der Schorrenplanten van Saafingen, Eene Bijdrage tot de Studie der Halophyten."

The WPA set a Dutch mosquito expert at work studying the famed Jersey (or salt marsh) mosquito, and when he had finished his exhaustive research the good Dr. van Langendonck wrote out his report in Dutch.

But it just happened that WPA project No. 42,674 was a special translation project, so the mosquito document was changed into proper WPA and American language.

Football
Wants to Be Tax Exempt

By Westbrook
Pegler

I see by the New York Daily News that four state universities—Iowa, Minnesota, West Virginia and Georgia—deny the right of the federal government to collect the amusement tax on their football tickets and are suing on the refund of $119,000, claiming that because they are state institutions their football teams are agencies of their respective state government. This is a new one.

The football business is a branch of the amusement business, as prototypical the baseball business, which does pay taxes, or the movie business or the prize-fight business. It has more plant than any other department of sport except golf, which pays its taxes, and everything about it, from the recruiting of replacements to the sale of tickets and a department story in a professional manner and mainly by professionals.

The football revenue is already exempt from the income tax. As educational institutions the colleges all are excused from kicking in with a legitimate share of their profits on the strength of a supreme court ruling of a few years ago which holds that no matter how much income is made it is tax-exempt if it belongs to a religious, charitable or educational institution.

CHANCE FOR RACKET

In the case in point a religious institution was given immunity from the income tax on a commercial business in chocolate, and the precedent is such that anyone may organize a phony religion, take out articles of incorporation, open a church house in an office or ex-grocery store and then start an automobile factory or a department store as a sideline, the profits of which would be free of income tax. Many of the institutions which enjoy this exemption actually do operate commercial business in competition with private business, and to pay only that income tax but other taxes not applicable to their constitutional rivals. The private operators emit a faint, plaintive squawk now and then, which relieves their feelings but does not alter the situation.

Universities with profitable football teams are doubly exempt from the income tax on their gate receipts—first under their classification as educational institutions and again as agencies of their respective state governments. A coach getting $15,000 a year (incidentally, few of them do get that much, but it is a nice figure for purposes of illustration) may also claim that he is an agency of the state government and beg to be excused.

LABOR UNIONS, TOO

You ought to read that section of the revenue act some time. It exempts labor organizations, and that goes for organizations which themselves collect an income tax on the earnings of members who were exempted from the federal tax, because the government didn't have the heart to take anything from people in brackets that low.

It goes for labor organizations which conspire among themselves to keep men out of certain lines of work by imposing prohibitive initiation fees or merely by rejecting their applications.

Cemetery companies which claim that they are not operated for profit and whose earnings do not inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual also are exempt. But go around some time and pretend that you are shopping for an eight-by-four patch of God's green earth in which to wage a feeble war, and then wonder how come such prices if there is no profit motive. Foot frontage on the best street in town will come no higher than some of the socially exclusive sites in a place where all men are supposed to be equal.

I am inclined to believe that Joel Sayre had a better idea than he thought in his travesty on football and the underworld rackets which he called "racket rax." In this daffy little aberration a lot of hoodlums bought an old brewery, started a college and went into the football business in a large way, but Sayre probably didn't know that they could have started a theater, too, a chain store system, a hotel, a factory and a fight club all under the income tax immunity of an educational institution. They couldn't have taken any dividends, of course, but salaries, yes, up to and including the limit of the income. They could have started a labor union, too, but fact had the jump on fiction by many years in that respect.

Some of these old sayings are pretty one-sided. For instance—now you take the one that says "Competition is the life of trade." This might be true as long as the competition is fair—but . . .

Well, just look what happened to my Uncle Sanky. He went up to a little town to open a newspaper and he was back home in less than a month—a failure. I asked him what the trouble was and he says "Well, I thought I'd picked a place where I'd have no competition."

And I says, "Well, Uncle Sanky, there ain't no other newspaper in that town," and he says "Yes, I knew there wasn't any other newspaper there, but I didn't know the dog-gone town had seven sewin' circles!"

public opinion, or what somebody in authority is to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politician and people who are in power are not. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. RAPS ROBB ARTICLE

To the Editor: I regret that it is necessary for me to impose on the courtesy of your columns again in order to get the record straight on some more of your Mr. Robb's hallucinations. If your columnist would take the ordinary precaution of making even the slightest effort to qualify his witness, he would not be able to reach such infernal decisions on the strength of the evidence.

The latest effusion refers to alleged statements by one Avery C. Moore, with the high-sounding title of "president of the General Welfare Association of California, Inc." Let us look at the record.

The General Welfare Association of California was incorporated on July 9, 1937, by Avery C. Moore, Annabelle Moore, his wife, and Thomas J. Kingsley. They drafted a set of by-laws perpetuating their own control of the organization for several years to come, and including several other features to which I took violent exception in a letter to Mr. Moore. The General Welfare Association in the 19th district refused to have anything to do with Mr. Moore's set-up.

I have several letters from officers of General Welfare clubs in Northern California even, in which we are informed that the clubs there will not have any part in his organization. So that, when Mr. Moore addressed a letter to the members of the G. W. Assoc. of California, Inc., he is talking to a practically extinct species. Only Mr. Robb would bite on that one.

Why did Mr. Moore write the letter? The motive is very clear, for early in September there was a meeting started in the south to divide the state for organizational purposes, and to organize and incorporate "The General Welfare Association of Southern California." Hearing of this, big-hearted Mr. Moore reserved the name just mentioned, and the officers of the state in Sacramento, for a period of 30 days, just to take the name out of circulation. Then on Oct. 25 Mr. Moore filed written protest to anyone using the name "G. W. Assoc. (or Federation) of Southern California."

Those fellows have got another thing coming," he rumbled. "The country is still being run from Washington and not Wall street. If they don't know it, they'll damn soon find out."

"The people won't stand for any Wall Street monkey-shines. And they won't stand for any surrender to big business and tricky dealing on the taxes. Of course, some changes have got to be made, but they aren't going to be made in a hurry and there isn't going to be any funny business either."

DIXIE SENATOR

Dixie Bibb Graves is taking her senatorial duties so seriously that no one would suspect that in January she will go back to Montgomery, Alabama, to keep house for her husband, the governor, who appointed her to the senate. She will have served less than six weeks of active session, and drawn pay of approximately $3500.

Dixie spends more time on the senate floor than any other member except the two floor leaders. Absorbed in senate debate, she forgets the lunch hour only after sister Hattie Caraway, only other lady senator, has lunched. Then Dixie goes down to the senate restaurant and sits with the men.

She was too busy to go home for Thanksgiving, so Governor Graves came to Washington to see Senator Graves.

Mrs. Graves is the fourth woman to sit in the senate, but the first non-widow.

PREPARE FOR ACTION

Significant sign of the times: For the first time since the World war, the annual form sent to reserve officers by the war department for corrections of address also contains this query: "In the event of an emergency how much time would you desire for the purpose of placing your affairs in order before joining your regiment?"

OCCUPATIONAL GUIDES

If you are a youth looking for a career with a future, write Aubrey Williams, head of the National Youth Administration.

Through his support of a project conceived by Illinois State Director William J. Campbell, the Youth Administration rapidly is building up one of the most comprehensive and thorough libraries of occupational guides ever compiled in the United States. In mimeographed form these reports are available to anyone who wants them.

Devoid of platitudes and empty rhetoric, the reports are hard-boiled, factual analyses of the history, present and future prospects of a wide variety of occupations. They answer every question an inquirer is apt to ask regarding a particular vocation.

Williams has won the President's enthusiastic support of the work and with his approval is organizing similar projects in every state.

NEW YORK.—Thoughts while strolling: Conversation we'd like to hear—Margery Wilson, the charming lady, and Dale Carnegie, the successful fellow, talking things over. Al Shean—remember him and his funny hat with Mr. Gallagher? Now he is playing sombre priestly roles.

Nobody can make funnier faces than Mayor La Guardia and few can look more dignified. And now many can sit at a typewriter and write about nothing at all more entertainingly than Bruno Lessing. Phyllis Haver's wide-eyed look of innocent surprise. Out of an Oppenheim novel, Jules Bache.

Informal without being ponderous, our announcer: Deems Taylor. Newest stage honey the blades want to squire: Joy Hedges. Those dull blue pebble cloth suits Adolphe Menjou effects. But nobody seems to go for his dinky, besomelike shirts with the horizontal stripes.

Staunch pals of the Rialto: William Gaxton and Victor Moore. Few so democratic can look so uppity as Bernard Baruch. And no reporter in any era has wangled more publicity than Lucius Beebe. Unless, perhaps, Richard Harding Davis. The bleating Dr. George Rockwell is as shy as a school girl off stage.

Grandma name for gossipers: Pritkins. Broadway's only chop house lady, Helen Gallagher—and quick to come back. And a few blocks further the lawyer, Lucille Pugh, and mannish costume. A woman's world. Oh, Mr. Valentine, those Valentino looking boys with long sideburns are all over town again!

The New York woman no longer rouges her cheek, save on stage and cabaret chorus. A master beautician is speaking. Bright lips and nails prevail—Lynn Fontanne is doing her nails in solid black, by the way. But nowhere on the boulevard is the painted cheek. But was Richard Harding Davis the beautician again talking—the rouge pot flourishes. In some sections of the middle west they not only smear it on their cheeks but in instances circle red around their eyes and across the forehead. The late Mrs. Leslie Carter was the first woman I ever saw apply rouge. It was during a dressing room interview, and somehow my cheeks got as red as hers.

Incidentally, one of the lesser Emily Posts who coaches Gold Coast youngsters in their shallots, lets the bars down on chewing gum. For many years gum chewing among the girls was confined to the "dese" and "dem" damels of the Bowery beer joints. But today gum chewing in moderation is all right. That is to say, on the golf course, in bathing or motorizing. Will Rogers did much to uplift chewing gum socially. If a grand fellow such as Bill was could chew gum anywhere, it was difficult to make it seem gauche.

Elsie De Wolfe, in private Lady Mendl, is regarded by many as the best dressed elderly socialite. Not only in New York, but in London and Paris. Silver-haired but with a youngish figure, she is a head-turner wherever she appears. Miss De Wolfe does not come into a restaurant. She makes even cashiers halt in admiration. The only person to make her for the grand entrance was Ethel Barrymore. There was something psychic about it. Several times at the Algonquin I have seen the entire dining room stop eating and for no reason at all begin watching the entrance. In a few seconds Miss Barrymore, cool, haughty and thoroughly detached, would sweep in. Perhaps enroute to her table she would indulge a mocking little laugh. It might not have been studied, but I suspect it was. Anyway, it was a grand bit of acting.

Friends of Natacha Rambova, the former Winifred Hudnut, hear she is still in Spain, living near the French border and devoting herself to caring for the destitute and wounded. She married a Spaniard and was living at care-free Majorca when hell broke loose. Her husband is still in the fighting. Miss Rambova is said to have grown quite plump and her hair has turned gray. She is still vastly interested in spiritualism.

Pull of the pooch: There were three sad-eyed Scotties in a dog shop window in the 40's at 11 o'clock the other morning. At 4 that afternoon all were gone. The lady in charge said one was chased around and nabbed by a richly furred customer who came in a limousine. Two hours later she came back for the other two. "I simply could not bear to be the cause of their separation," she said. Each pup was priced at $100.
